Party candidates in a political campaign do enjoy an occasional social evening, as we found out Sunday when we were among the Democratic and Republican guests of Stephen Jurco and John Jarecki at the home of the latter.

The guests included U.S. Sen. Paul Douglas; Attorney General William Clark; County Treasurer Bernard J. Korzen; U.S. Rep. Sidney Yates, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senator, and a number of others prominent in Democratic councils.

Meeting these people socially was a delightful experience. There was no rule that political talk was taboo, but we warrant at least the wives present enjoyed the two hours away from the political arena.

We can understand why Arlington Heights residents along Euclid Avenue are opposed to the widening of that thoroughfare, whether or not race track traffic would be the beneficiary. There is another side to the picture. For the same reason that Oakton Street passing the Lutheran church and school property on the north side is to be widened, Euclid Avenue with its extension through race track property and possible extension into Palatine, is destined to become a main east and west arterial highway.

There is no doubt that the present proposed extension will entail use of government funds. It stands to reason that now is the time for the village of Arlington Heights and the Euclid property owners to ask that the cost of widening the street should be included in the over-all picture.

The village of Palatine should not hesitate to also get into the act—further extension of Euclid into Palatine would provide the long talked about entry into the southern part of that village. At present, Chicago Avenue has become a bottleneck.

Weller Creek has been a thorn in the side of both Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights for many years. Arlington Heights approved a bond issue to solve its flooding problem. The first contract has been let and the second one is about to be offered for bidding.

There is a feeling in Mount Prospect that Arlington Heights intends to pass on some of its troubles to that municipality. Illinois Water Survey and the Metropolitan Sanitary District have told Arlington Heights to "go ahead."

Before a lengthy court battle is started, let's get together with each other.

We have been asked, "Why are you displaying those two flags in front of the newspaper office every business day?"

Our answer: "We welcome the opportunity to show our love for the United States of America."

We are glad to see that the Mount Prospect PTA is ready to establish a pattern on dress and behavior of pupils attending its schools. We warrant there is not a parent who will not welcome such a suggestion.

"Keeping up with the Joneses" in dress can cost parents a lot of money. If the "pattern" is extended to include "social life," there will be many parents who will rest easier than they do now.

Here is a tip to fathers who think their sons have the makings of a football athlete. Coach Bus Ormsby told Rotarians last week that the training of a good player must start in the spring —not as a player, but building up physical stamina whether it be on a construction gang or otherwise.

Unconstitutional?

Sen. Douglas Defies Local 'Noise Law'

An Arlington Heights ordinance requiring a $25 license for loudspeakers was in the same shape as Floyd Patterson this week.

Sen. Paul Douglas, Democrat, defied the ordinance as unconstitutional when he spoke at Campbell and Dunton Monday morning. He defied a village policeman to arrest him. The policeman made no arrest, on advice of higher authority.

As a result, Village Manager L. A. Hanson agreed that the law would probably not be enforced against political campaigners.

Police Chief L. W. Calderwood said he intended to keep on enforcing the ordinance, except against elected officials who are privileged, in his opinion.

VILLAGE ATTY. Jack Siegel said that the license fee, as applied to political, religious and educational speeches, seemed to be unconstitutional and would probably be withdrawn from the revised village code which he is working on.

Sen. Douglas's refusal to stop talking in Arlington Heights, and his enthusiastic endorsement of freedom of speech when Patrolman Ralph Martinson invited him to come to the police station, drew considerable attention by metropolitan newspapers.

Tom Houser, Wheeling Township Republican committeeman, also issued a statement blasting Douglas for "setting himself apart from the law, while other citizens are compelled to comply."

SEN. DOUGLAS spoke from the tailgate of a station wagon parked at the northwest corner of Dunton and Campbell. His main purpose was to aid the campaign of U.S. Rep. Sidney R. Yates, who hopes to unseat U.S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen.

Sen. Douglas was arguing for the medical care bill when Patrolman Martinson interrupted and invited him to come to the police station.

Douglas lost no time in informing the somewhat scattered audience in the vicinity of his low opinion of Martinson's request. Douglas said that the Supreme Court had ruled such village laws unconstitutional and that he had no intention of obeying.

HE SAID THE law was hostile to American tradition.

"How can we tell people abroad we believe in liberty and freedom if we do not practice it ourselves in the villages and towns of America?" he asked.

He also accused Arlington Heights police of being "Republican police."

Seymour Simon, president of the Cook County Board, who was campaigning with Sen. Douglas, endorsed everything the Senator said, and added that, if Douglas was arrested, he would have to be arrested, too.

HOUSER'S statement said:

"I would like to compliment the Arlington Heights police department for responding with discretion and good judgment to the problem created by Sen. Paul Douglas's refusal to comply with a village ordinance requiring a permit for the use of loudspeaker equipment.

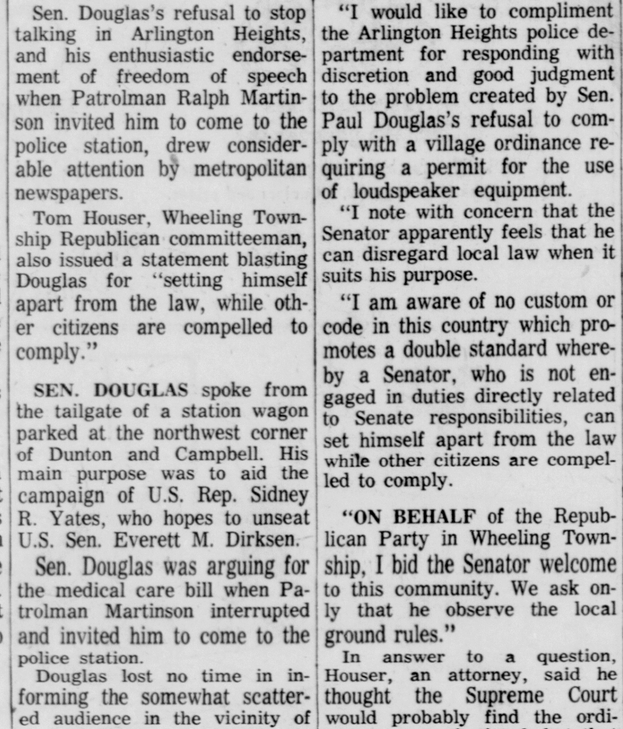
"I note with concern that the Senator apparently feels that he can disregard local law when it suits his purpose.

"I am aware of no custom or code in this country which promotes a double standard whereby a Senator, who is not engaged in duties directly related to Senate responsibilities, can set himself apart from the law while other citizens are compelled to comply.

"ON BEHALF of the Republican Party in Wheeling Township, I bid the Senator welcome to this community. We ask only that he observe the local ground rules."

In answer to a question, Houser, an attorney, said he thought the Supreme Court would probably find the ordinance unconstitutional, but that Douglas should obey it until that happens.

Houser noted that he had paid the $25 license fee when he campaigned for Republican committeeman last spring.



SEN. PAUL DOUGLAS is shown campaigning from the tailgate of a station wagon parked at Campbell and Dunton last Monday morning. Douglas defied a police request that he get a license. Shown waiting his turn at the microphone is Seymour Simon, Democratic candidate for County Board President.

PUMPKINS NOW, but perhaps the site of a junior high school some day. That is the idea as Victor Meyer, a member of the Arlington Heights elementary school board, and his daughter Terry look over the 20 acres proposed for school use west of State Road between Palatine and Hintz Roads. Purchase of the 20 acres at a cost of $130,000 will be one of the questions before voters in the referendum Oct. 20.

School District 25

Predicts Bond Issue Won't Hike Tax Rate

Passage of the $1,330,000 school bond referendum Oct. 20 will not result in a heavy burden to taxpayers, Joseph Faner, school board president, predicted this week.

The basic reason for this, Faner said, is that District 25 has been at its maximum legal bonded indebtedness for several years. Consequently, new bonds can be issued only as old ones are retired and as the amount of taxable property increases.

FANER SAID the proposed bond issue would cost $102,000 a year for 19 years, equal to about nine cents per $100 of assessed valuation on the tax rate.

But he predicted that, because of the factors of bond retirement and increasing assessed valuation, the tax rate would remain about the same. When enrollments level off, the rate will decline, he added.

The board passed the formal resolution on the referendum at its meeting Monday.

The four questions to be voted on are:

—Construction of Thomas Junior High School, $875,000,

—Construction of Dunton School, $275,000.

—Purchase of a new junior high school site, $130,000.

—Remodeling and site improvements at Wilson School, $50,000.

IT APPEARS likely that the junior high school site in the north end of the district will be the last site which District 25 will have to purchase.

Although two elementary school sites are also needed in the north end, the developers of large subdivisions have agreed to donate them.

The study prepared by Prof. Jack Childress, formerly of Northwestern University, on which the referendum is based, points out, however, that "as many homes could be constructed in the district as are now occupied."

Consequently, building on sites now owned and expansion of existing buildings can be expected in future years.

THE VOTING will take place from noon to 7 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 20, at the following eight schools: Dryden, Kensington, North, Park, Ridge, Westgate, Wilson and Windsor.

Adults are qualified to vote if they have lived in the state one year, the county 90 days, and the school district 30 days. Registration is not required.

Stolen Safe Recovered

Elmhurst police recovered Friday the 400-pound safe taken earlier last week from the home of George A. Moser Sr., 713 N. Pine Ave., Arlington Heights.

Savings bonds totaling $600 and other valuable papers were still in the safe, which had been pried open, then dumped into a ditch along Rte. 83 near St. Charles Road.

The preliminary hearing for Laslo Szabo, 29, of 726 N. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights, who faces charges of battery and rape brought by two different women, has been continued until Oct. 3, at the request of Szabo's attorney.

'Poor' Turnout

Mental Health Is Snubbed by Citizens Here

Only four persons showed up Monday at Pioneer Park fieldhouse to help organize an Arlington Heights mental health group.

The poor turnout caused Jack Julien, president of the Northwest Cooperative Mental Health Association, to say, "Arlington Heights shows a shameful lack of interest in a mental health clinic."

The meeting was intended to organize a village chapter for the association, which sponsors the newly opened clinic at 1711 W. Campbell St. in the Westgate shopping center.

A LETTER of invitation had been mailed to more than 250 residents of Arlington Heights.

Another effort to organize an Arlington Heights chapter will be made Wednesday, Oct. 17, with the meeting called for 8 p.m. at Pioneer Park fieldhouse.

"We have been trying to organize such a group for the past year and a half," said Mrs. Leonard Kijak, vice president of the association.

SHE SAID that of the seven communities served by the clinic, only Arlington Heights has failed to become actively involved.

Mrs. C. H. Lindner, a member of the board of directors, reported that 28 per cent of the clinic's patients were from Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Kijak said that the crucial issue now is not the need for financial help, but the need for active participation.

"IF WE CAN'T interest Arlington Heights residents in actively supporting the clinc, the State of Illinois may assume that Arlington Heights just doesn't want such a clinic," she declared.

The clinic gets support from the state, which is subsidizing approved out-patient and mental health clinics. The state contributes $2 for every $1 the community spends in the hope that treatment of cases of emotional or mental illness will prevent hospitalization.

Both professional and interested lay people are invited to attend the Oct. 17 meeting.

Doubled Size Anticipated

More than double in size and facilities.

That is the prospect for Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, under a $3.5 million expansion program announced this week by A. C. Buehler, president of the hospital board of trustees.

Th board gave full approval to the expansion program as presented by Nicholas M. Lattof, coordinator of the program for the board.

The expansion will double the bed capacity of the hospital "at least," Lattof indicated, and double almost all service facilities."

Not only will most service facilities be doubled, Hospital Administrator Alan Campbell stressed, but some areas such as X-ray and laboratory will be tripled or even further enlarged.

"Some completely new departments or services will be installed, as well," Campbell said.

Financing for the new addition to the 110-bed hospital will be in three-part program. The most important and major portion of the $3.5 million will be a $2 million mortgage loan from B. C. Ziegler and Co. of West Bend, Wis., Lattof stated. This is the same firm which made the original mortgage loan for the hospital.

A SECOND source of funds for the expansion program would be federal assistance under the Hill-Burton act. Two nearby hospitals — Sherman in Elgin and Alexian Brothers in Elk Grove Village—last week received grants of $900,000 under this proogram. It is expected a similar amunt would be available to Northwest Community.

The balance would be raised from local industrial and residential donations and pledges. Lattof reported that residential pledges brought 55 per cent of the original hospital donations of $1,810,782, with 45 per cent coming from industry.

Because of the large expansion of commercial and industrial development in the area since the original fund drive opened in 1956, it is expected a much higher percentage of this fund drive will be sought from commercial and industrial sources, Lattof noted.

President of the hospital medical staff, Dr. Martin P. Meisenheimer of Prospect Heights, emphasized "Not only our staff doctors, but the entire community, will be pleased when the hospital can offer even more services than at present without the constant worry about availability of hospital beds."

DR. MEISENHEIMER noted that the medical staff is "very happy" that the expansion is going forward and that doctors are "beginning to prepare for the greatest utilization of expanded facilities for increased care of sick and injured in the community."

Actual fund drive for the hospital expansion will be launched in a "few months," Lattof said.

The announcement of the expansion program culminated a series of rapid-fire maneuvers. Approval of the mortgage was sought and received from Ziegler. Present "opening day" operating debts were budgeted for final payment to "clear the decks" for the new financial program.

One of the major "plus" factors achieved to date was the wholehearted endorsement of the expansion program by the Hospital Planning Council of Metropolitan Chicago. The personal approval of the director, Dr. Karl S. Klicka, was quickly followed by the formal approval of the executive committee of the group.

APPROVAL OF the Planning Council, a non-profit investigative group which studies hospital needs and sound financing possibilities, is a "must" in the Chicago area for similar approval by the state Bureau of Hospitals.

Approval of the Bureau of Hospitals in Springfield is the "yes" or "no" on federal assistance funds.

With the Planning Council approval "in his pocket," Lattof, Campbell, Buehler and Hal Rose, board secretary, plus representatives of the architectural firm engaged for the expansion will meet with the Hospital Bureau next Wednesday, Oct. 3.

George Lindsley, Chief of the Bureau, has expressed interest in the hospital expansion need in the northwest suburban area and studies by both the Planning Council and the state Bureau of Hospitals have proved the need for additional hospital beds.

NO COMMITMENT from the Bureau of Hospitals has been received, but the two studies and the past record fund approvals would indicate Northwest Community could anticipate a favorable action at the state level.

The original hospital plant was opened December 2, 1959. Construction started in May, 1958. The building is located on a site just under 30 acres, allowing for ample exapnsion room.

Just what the expansion program will mean in terms of hospital facilities was explained by Campbell this week. Among the expanded facilities noted by Campbell were:

1) 100 or more hospital beds;

2) Enlargement of laboratory facilities with some space for research laboratory units;

3) Enlargement of X-ray departments to include deep-therapy equipment and isotope laboratories;

4) EXPANSION of obstetrical facilities;

5) Complete revamping and enlargement of the pediatrics unit; and

6) Conference and examinations rooms at each nursing station for patient consultation, teaching and medical conferences.

More important, Campbell indicated, would be the new facilities provided. Among these would be an intensive care unit for patients requiring constant nursing service. "This will cut the financial strain for many patients in hiring private-duty nurses," he said.

Other new areas would be isolation and psychiatric units to care for these special cases. Another major addition, and planned primarily as a service to the community, would be an out-patient department and enlargement of emergency room facilities, Campbell said.

SELECTED AS architects for the expansion program were Schmidt, Garden and Erickson of Chicago, leading hospital architectural firm. The company has designed, planned additions or done remodeling for almost 40 hospitals in the Chicago area.

Among the buildings they have designed and improved are Evanston Hospital; Resurrection Hospital; all additions to Sherman Hospital, Elgin; V. A. Research Hospital on the near north side of Chicago; Highland Park Hospital; University of Chicago medical and hospital buildings; and the new American Hospital Association headquarters unit at 840 N. Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.

Rose was unanimously selected by the hospital board to act in liaison capacity with the architects.

Different Approach

First 'Split-Level' School Design OKd

The proposed Thomas Junior High School in Arlington Heights will be a two-story, "split-level" building closely conforming to the contour of the site.

Approval of the preliminary drawings by the board of education came after almost two hours of discussion Monday with the architect, William A. Ganster.

"Economical use of this site dictates a different approach than that used at other Arlington Heights schools," Ganster stated. "The intersections of Thomas and Arlington Heights Road and the one at Thomas and Belmont are at the same elevation. However, the land between these intersections dips as much as six feet. By adopting the 'split-level' design for this school, we avoid expensive footings and filling operations that would be required to level this site," Ganster explained.

THE BASIC 48,600 square foot building will have a capacity of 540 students. Fourteen classrooms plus a wood shop, an arts and crafts room, and two music rooms will be included in the building.

Provisions for the addition of 36,000 square feet of classroom and service areas at some future date have been provided.

At the main entrance to the school on Thomas Avenue, the visitor will have the choice of walking down six steps to the first floor or up four steps to the second floor.

All of the facilities subject to public use will be clustered about this main entrance. The cafeteria and library are just off the main entrance on the first floor, administrative offices and the gymnasium are to be located directly above them on the second floor.

A 50-car capacity parking lot, an off-street pick-up area, and a bus loading station are included in the initial building program. (AF

Trustees vs. BOLI

'Wait and See' on Street Width Issue

AN OLD LANDMARK of Arlington Heights came tumbling down this week when workers wrecked the old Klehm "peony house" near the present municipal garage, 222 N. Ridge Ave. The "peony house" had been given a year of grace when a potential builder said he wanted to use it for construction headquarters. However, nothing happened, so down it came.

Members of the village board sat down with the board of local improvements Monday night in Arlington Heights village hall to discuss their relationship to each other.

John G. Woods, village president, began by saying that a conversation over a cup of coffee with Russell H. Colvin, president of the board of local improvements, convinced him "that the area of disagreement is not as great as might be imagined."

Colvin said, "I think you and I cleared more air over one cup of coffee than many formal meetings could have done."

DESPITE THESE vows of harmony, Trustee William E. Sauer, an hour later, was still battling the board of local improvements' doctrine on street widths. Sauer believes some streets are too wide.

"I have gone to North. ld and Northbrook," Sauer said, "and I look at the property values there. We are way down, and you (the board of local improvements) aren't helping us!"

Monday's meeting came about after different opinions on street widths for the proposed Arlington Heights Park Manor redevelopment project by special assessment.

THE VILLAGE board spent most of an evening recently discussing street widths, and came up with figures somewhat less than standard because it felt it must trim costs to Park Manor home owners if the project is to succeed.

The board of local improvements declined to accept the village board's figures. Then the village board tabled the board of local improvement's request to guarantee 25 per cent of the fees for engineer and attorney on the project. Monday's meeting was called after that impasse.

Village Atty. Jack Siegel cited law on the relationships of the two boards.

HE SAID it was up to the board of local improvements to propose street widths, and similar matters, and up to the village board to dispose by either accepting or rejecting.

However, Arlington Heights has quite an unusual set-up, in that the two boards have entirely different personnel.

In most Illinois villages, the personnel is exactly the same. The board of trustees, so to speak, "puts on a different hat" when it acts as the board of local improvements. As a result, there is no possibility of disagreement.

In other villages, there is much overlapping of membership.

MOST OFFICIALS felt there was no crisis in Arlington Heights, however. The expectation is that the village board will go along with the board of local improvements on Park Manor street widths, and see what happens.

If projects are chronically stalled because of disagreement, some changes might be expected, but that has not happened yet.

The latter part of Monday's session was spent with Siegel and other officials answering questions asked by Park Manor home owners on details of the proposed redevelopment project and special assessment. (AF

In Peace Corps

Miss Anderson Off to Africa

Miss Margaret J. "Peggy" Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Anderson, 616 Bristol Lane, Arlington Heights, is following her former college roommate into the Peace Corps.

She was scheduled to arrive recently in Togo, West Africa, where she is to begin a two-year assignment as teacher of English in a secondary school.

In Africa, however, she is far removed from her former Augustana roommate, Carolyn Ekdahl Wylie, who is stationed in the Philippines.

MISS ANDERSON began her training for the corps on June 22 this year. She had worked the previous eight months as an admissions counselor for Augustana. Before that she had done publishing and personnel work in New York City.

Her Peace Corps training was a concentrated 10-week course at Howard University in Washington, D.C. She described the training period as "rugged."

"We started with physical education at 6:15 in the morning, and kept going to classes until 9:30 at night," she said.

THE CURRICULUM included French, health, first aid, American studies, African studies, world affairs, methods and linguistics.

Miss Anderson spent a weekend with friends on the Augustana campus before leaving for her overseas assignment. She said Togo is the smallest republic in Africa, with a population of 1¼ million. It gained its independence from France in 1960.

The Augustana graduate is one of 20 Americans assigned to teach in Togo. They comprise the first Peace Corps delegation sent to the tiny republic.

WHILE IN COLLEGE Miss Anderson was editor of The Augustana Observer, student newspaper, and Saga, campus literary magazine.

She was a member of Aglaia, senior women's honorary society, and was named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Condition Tagged On Lot Size Okay

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission voted last week to recommend rezoning six large lots on S. Mitchell Avenue between Central and Kirchoff Roads into nine smaller lots, but with a condition.

The condition was that the developer pave the entire block of Mitchell. Fred Weber, the attorney for petitioner Mildred Tolar, had said his client would pave the block if the building sites were increased from six to ten. He asked for two weeks for his client to consider the Plan Commission's alternative, and his request was granted.

SEVERAL PROPERTY owners in the area, called Cepek's subdivision, were present and objected to the rezoning request.

However, their property is in the part of the subdivision south of Central Road.

Attorney Weber argued that Central Road is a natural boundary. He said it would be difficult to develop his client's lots "with the type of home usually associated with 120-foot lots" because of the existence of smaller lots and homes on Chestnut Avenue to the east, and the presence of apartments to the west.

AMONG THE objectors were Robert Bishop, who is building a home on S. Chestnut; Robert Anderson, 1051 S. Chestnut, and Jack Perz, who owns two lots on Chestnut.

After the commission voted to recommend a change from R-1 to R-2 on condition that the street is paved, the objectors asked assurance that the change would not be a precedent for the part of Cepek's Subdivision south of Central Road, which was given them. (AF

Reject Four-Flat Rezoning Request

Rezoning to allow a colonial-style four-flat at the northeast corner of Euclid Street and Dunton Avenue, Arlington Heights, failed to get the approval of the plan commission Monday.

The commission cited Euclid as a natural boundary, and declined to approv a 4-flat building on the north side of the street.

The "natural boundary" argument had been made at the public hearing by Victor Bedingfield, 612 N. Dunton Ave., one of the objectors. He said if the request was granted, apartment building would "snowball" north of Euclid.

ANOTHER objector was C. D. Hill, 623 N. Dunton Ave.

The petitioner was Robert L. Nelson, of the local real estate firm bearing his name. He presented a sketch of the proposed building which had the appearance of a two-family home.

Commission members said it was an attractive building, but Harold E. Carlson, chairman, added that the board must rezone on the basis of land use, and not on the basis of drawings and blueprints.

Nelson said it would not be profitable to construct a two-family building on the site.

GEORGE HAUFF, a plan commission member, owns the land with his wife. He left his seat on the commission before the hearing began, and sat in the audience.

When Nelson sought the answer to a question from Hauff, Chairman Carlson ruled that Hauff would have to be sworn to give an answer, and added that he would rather that he not testify. (AF

Palatine Resident Charged

Robert R. Weaver, 47 S. Elm, Palatine, was charged with speeding and resisting arrest by Arlington Heights Patrolman George Ekblad last week.

Patrolman Ekblad said he stopped Weaver who was going east on Euclid Street. Ekblad reported that Weaver said, "This is Mount Prospect and you're from Arlington Heights," then leaped into his car and fled.

Weaver was arrested at Randhurst shopping center, with the assistance of Mount Prospect police.

Who's Champion Ice Cube Tosser?

The ice cube tossing championship of Arlington Heights will be decided at the Dryden PTA Carnival to be held from 2:30 to 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 29, at the school.

Mrs. Phelps Guild, chairman of the carnival, says the PTA hopes that "this new form of youthful enthusiasm" will result in a record attendance of Dryden pupils, parents, and alumni.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lilleberg, chairmen of the ice cube tossing championship, say that cash prizes will be given to the winners and a photographer will record the event.

OTHER CARNIVAL features will be a turtle race booth directed by Mr. and Mrs. Deane Hopkins, with turtles donated by the Ark Pet Shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Everhart will put up a Spook House, Mrs. Victor Miller will handle the make-up booth, and parents will be able to get silhouettes of their children done by Mrs. Fred Danker.

GOP Treasurer Hopeful Asks Jobs Cut

by LEE SECHLER

Elmer W. Conti, a man with a ready smile and candidate for Cook County treasurer, is a firm believer in the two-party system.

The three-term Elmwood Park Village President said he felt a successful bid for county treasurer will "breakup the political plum" of Mayor Richard Daley and the Cook County Democratic machine.

If elected in November, Conti would advocate putting tellers and professional people in the office under some form of civil service.

THIS, HE explained to Paddock Editors last Friday, would leave about 200 of the approximately 399 jobs to be filled by patronage.

Conti, who has been a state representative since 1956, said he didn't think that any specific qualifications for the job of treasurer were necessary, but stressed the application of common sense as the major factor in the operation of an efficient office.

"It's the same way with going into the county treasurer's office; a man feels his way along for a while," he said.

HE POINTED out that he had never been a village president before being elected in Elmwood Park. The village has won three "All-American City" recognitions.

His experience in the business world is in banking and real estate. Conti is president of Leyden Savings and Loan Association which has assets, he explained, in excess of $5.2 an insurance broker.

Conti is also president of Leyden Land Development Corporation, director of Midwest Bank, a building contractor and an insurance broker.

THE 41-YEAR-OLD candidate estimated it would take him about eight months to familiarize himself with the operation of the treasurer's office.

When asked about past office holders he said; "I can't comment on the past few years, but I'm told career men generally carry the bulk of the load."

The father of four said he planned to establish a system of quarterly payment of tax bills to spread the payments and provide a more steady flow of tax money to the local governments.

EACH TAX bill would have four coupons which the taxpayer would clip and send in with his money.

"It will increase administration costs, how much I don't know, but it will be less than the savings and service to the public," he said.

He cited the fact big firms withhold large percentages of tax dollars on the basis of tax protest appeals, but didn't elaborate on what he would do about it.

WHEN ASKED about his major campaign points, Conti said he would like to hold off saying anything now because he felt many of his earlier campaign criticisms of the treasurer's office have been adopted.

He cited the teller windows and elimination of the loitering of party hacks and ward workers which now give the treasurer's office a more professional and business-like atmosphere.

Conti said he felt the office can serve as a device for check and balance if a Republican, namely him, was elected treasurer.

"ONE DEOMOCRAT can't very well blame another one if the bills are late in being sent out," he said, but pointed out that a Republican could ask.

He claimed the only reason the bills were out early this year is because Mayor Daley wanted to test the tempo of the electorate.

Conti outlined Daley's plan as (1) issuing the tax bills before the primary election, at which time there was a Chicago bond referendum; (2) to see if the public was in a spending or cutting mood.

THE PUBLIC rejected the bonds, giving Daley the message he needed to build a campaign for his coming re-election bid.

This, said Conti, is why the Democrats, who never want tax bills out before election, saw to it their men got the bills out earlier than usual this year.

Conti said he is a Republican in principle, but has not been led by party rule, citing his legislative background in which he did not vote with former Gov. William Stratton.

"THAT IS absolute falsehood," said the candidate when asked to comment on the statement that the corporation franchise tax in the state is not sufficient and should be raised.

Conti went on to say that states with a high corporate tax have no real estate or property tax like that in Illinois, pointing out that if all the taxes against business in both examples were evaluated Illinois would be about the same.

"I don't think any candidate wins elections. I think their opponents are voted out of office," he declared. (B8

SPECIAL SESSION AFTER NOV. 6 ELECTION—"This is the biggest fraud . . . can you imagine what might be done by between 36 and 40 lame duck legislators." Feels issues at stake should be discussed before election.

THE ACTION OF GOV. OTTO KERNER AND THE DEMOCRATS—"They can afford to be that brazen because 52 per cent of the people stay home and the party puts them in office."

STATE INCOME TAX—opposed to it in any form.

PUBLIC AID IN COOK COUNTY—"There's so much fraud . . . you could cut a lot of fat out of that."

TRANSFERRING OF FUNDS, GAS TAX TO GENERAL FUND—"I don't believe in the transferring of funds. I've never known a government agency to borrow money and pay it back."

Suburban Students To Premiere Show

Students from Arlington, Wheaton Community, and Flossmor High Schools will be the contestants on the premiere colorcast of WNBQ's "It's Academic" Saturday, Sept. 29, at 6 p.m.

Arlington will be represented by a team consisting of Charles King, Martin Purvis, and Daniel Bedford. Alternates will be Nancy Bohac and Charles Vleck. Principal Bruno W. Waara will serve as scorekeeper.

ED. GRENNAN, Chicago broadcaster and teacher, will serve as host and m.c. of the new local prime-time program.

Teams of three students each from three different Chicagoland High Schools will vie each Saturday in a contest of knowledge covering a wide variety of subjects.

Each program consists of four rounds, with each school's three-student team getting one round apiece to answer questions on their own followed by a final "grab bag" round where the three teams attempt to beat each other with answers to various questions.

POINT TOTALS are given for each round with the school having the highest total being acclaimed the winner and qualifying for later play-off competition.

A feature of the program's "halftime" intermission will be an interview by Grennan with a local educator or teacher each week.

The weekly Channel 5 colorcasts will originate in the WNBQ studios. Dave Barnhizer will direct. (B8

ON TV PICTURE COST

by ED LANDWEHR

When you pay your money, you should get what you pay for. But, the average person wouldn't know when he buys a new picture tube for his television set. You just see the program and hope that it keeps running for your money's worth.

To make it even more confusing, there are new tubes of various quality, and rebuilt tubes of even greater quality variation. You generally pick out the cheapest priced one if you're the average buyer. And thereby, you probably are paying the most when you consider the length of service and quality you receive back.

LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights, would like to give you an estimate on your next picture tube replacement, and an explanation of what you receive per dollar cost. Foreign Policy Forum Set by Suburb Group

A local public forum on alternative foreign policy approaches to "international tensions and the achievement of world peace" will definitely be held in the latter part of October despite difficulties in getting regular party candidates for national office to participate.

This was the announcement of the Northwest Suburban Citizens Organization working in cooperation with Turn Toward Peace, a joint national movement dedicated to "seek and build support" for alternative foreign policies "that are not threats of war and are not a surrender of freedom or democratic values."

DESPITE AN initial rebuff from the 13th District regular party candidates for U. S. Representatives, the local Turn Toward Peace (TTP) group states that it will ask the candidates to reconsider and take part in a panel discussion on approaches to international tensions.

Rev. Martin E. Marty, pastor of the Elk Grove Lutheran Church of the Holy Spirit, has agreed to serve as moderator. Marty is an author, associate editor of the Christian Century, and was recently selected by Life magazine as one of the 100 most outstanding young men in the United States.

A date around Oct. 21 is being sought for the forum.

If unable to obtain the participation of the three 13th District Congressional candidates, other political figures or representatives of the two major political parties and Voters for Peace will be sought for the panel, the TTP citizens organization stated. "We know that the voters in this area are vitally concerned with the pressing problems of the topic to be discussed. . . ," it was stated in the letter of invitation to the three congressional candidates.

REPUBLICAN candidate, Donald Rumsfeld, in a letter of reply received Monday by the citizens group, declined to participate. "After consulting my calendar, I find that the remaining days of the campaign have been fully allocated. . ."

"Further, last January I issued comprehensive position statements," Rumsfeld continued. He pointed out that he has made "over 600 speeches and appearances throughout the 13th District" since December, 1961, and he welcomed the attendance of members of the TTP citizens group to attend "any of my meetings which are already scheduled."

Democratic candidate, John Kennedy, agreed to take part in the panel provided Rumsfeld would definitely commit himself to attend, the TTP group reported. However, it said it had been further indicated by the Kennedy camp that Kennedy would not appear alone with Robert Cosbey, candidate of Voters for Peace.

Cosbey had agreed to take part in the panel.

TOPIC FOR THE proposed discussion is: "How you as our congressman would approach international tensions and the achievement of world peace." The letter of invitation was delivered personally Sept. 17 to the candidates, and it stated, "We (the TTP citizens group) are more than willing to adjust the particulars (time, place, format) to fit your needs and desires."

Proposed was a 10-minute speech by each candidate, a moderated discussion between the three, and questions from the audience. Suggested location was an Arlington Heights area high school.

The TTP citizens group discussed the proposed panel with the Wheeling Township Republican and Democratic Party committeemen, Thomas Houser and James Stavros respectively. Their cooperation was sought and received. (B8

Honor Mrs. Church At Oct. 2 Dinner

U. S. Rep. Margueritte Stitt Church (R-13th) of Evanston will be honored by the United Republican Fund of Illinois at its annual dinner in the International Amphitheater Tuesday, Oct. 2.

Mrs. Church, who is retiring from Congress this year, will receive the Fund's 1962 award for distinguished service to the Republican party from Fred M. Gillies, Fund president.

In announcing the selection of Mrs. Church for the award, Gillies said, "Mrs. Church has set a high standard of performance in the Congress of the United States.

"AT A TIME when women still had to prove their capacity for high office in the United States, Marguerite Stitt Church took her place as a congressman from Illinois' populous 13th District in a way that would have done credit to the most experienced man."

The $100-a-plate dinner will feature as speaker Admiral Lewis L. Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and author of the current book "Men and Decisions."

Tickets to the dinner may be purchased by telephoning United Republican Fund headquarters, WAbash 2-9053. (B8

Winner of Mink Stole Cries 'I'm Ecstatic'

Mrs. James Devlin, 3919 Gull Court, Rolling Meadows, is the winner of the $600 mink stole which headed a long list of prizes given in recognition of the grand opening of the enlarged Crawford Department Store in Rolling Meadows shopping center.

Announcement of the names of the winners was made by Mayor John J. Woods at 9 p.m. Monday night, winding up a four-day celebration in the store which had included entertainment, demonstrations and music as customers inspected the new shops and the enlarged quarters of the familiar departments.

"I'm ecstatic!" exclaimed Mrs. Devlin, when notified of her prize. "I'm so shook up I can't do anything."

A REGULAR Crawford charge account customer, Mrs. Devlin hadn't turned in her registration card until 8:15 p.m. Monday night, when her husband laughingly remarked: "Hope you're not too disappointed if you don't win."

Three other Rolling Meadows families won major prizes. Mrs. D. C. McCauley, 3604 Bobwhite, is to receive a women's sportswear wardrobe valued at $100. Mrs. Donald Winn, 3709 Meadow Drive, has two daughters, but neither is old enough yet to be outfitted in the Poise 'N Ivy Shop, the new department for high school girls, so she will get to use her $100 award elsewhere in the store. "I've already spent it ten times in my mind," Mrs. Winn admitted. The Singer portable sewing machine goes to Mrs. Loretta Weir, 2600 Grouse Lane.

Mrs. Ronald Sanders, 200 Willow Lane, Elk Grove Villagel winner of the $100 Campus Shop wardrobe, finds herself in a situation similar to Mrs. Winn. Mrs. Sanders has a son, but he is only 2, too young for the campus clothes.

THRILL OF A lifetime came Monday night for Mrs. James Devlin, Rolling Meadows housewife who received the mink stole that headed the list of awards given by Crawford Department Store to celebrate grand opening of the enlarged store in Rolling Meadows shopping center. Sharing her happiness are Mayor John J. Woods who drew the slips, and Robert Wiley, store manager. (B8

So she, too, will spend her check at some other department of the store.

THREE WINNERS have Arlington Heights addresses. Lillian Gjoen, 300 S. Arthur, was picked for the men's wardrobe; Mrs. Richard Jones, 910 E. Lincoln, for the boys' shop award; and Mrs. W. A. Park, 1336 N. Mitchell, for the girls' shop prize. Each is valued at $100.

Mrs. Werner Preuter, 6N329 Lloyd Ave., Itasca, can choose $100 worth of clothing for herself in the women's section.

The $50 Carter's layette award went to Mrs. Mildred Winter, 159 David Drive, Palatine. (B8

Something NEW is being added!

This is how our Williamsburg Colonial home for savings will look after second-story wings are added (compare with sketch below). Other expansion steps not shown are now in progress on the rear side of the building.

THE REASON? More savers — 16,000 of them. More savings — $22,000,000. And, therefore, more loans for homes and home improvements . . . more personnel . . . more space requirements. Our expansion program, to be completed early next spring, will offer these features:

4,000 SQUARE FEET of new floor space — The second-story wings and rear first-floor addition will fulfill our requirements for comfortable service to Federal Savings customers.

DRIVE-UP WINDOW — A relocated Drive-Up Window will afford maximum convenience to patrons making transactions from their automobiles.

WALK-UP WINDOW — For the first time, we will offer a Walk-Up Window in a separate foyer that allows for pedestrian transactions during and after regular office hours. We hope to make these extensive changes with a minimum of discomfort to our customers. During the months ahead, we ask your indulgence as we strive to maintain our friendly, personalized service. We also invite sidewalk superintendents to drop by as work progresses.

American Landscape: Place Without Space?

Lack of Community Damaging to Youth

by BOB SETLIK

Critics cite the "lack of community" as the basis of much of the social unrest in America today.

Author Paul Goodman, in his study of the problems of youth, "Growing Up Absurd," writes:

"For the first time in recorded history, the mention of country, community, place has lost its power to animate . . . A man has only one life and if during it he has no great environment, no community, he has been irreparably robbed of a human right.

"This loss is damaging especially in growing up, for it deprives outgoing growth . . . of the chance of entering upon a great and honorable scene to develop in."

He continues:

"THE AMERICAN landscape has been badly corrupted . . . The present tendency is to impose on the countryside . . . shopping centers on the highway. This works out disastrously for the communities, for these 'centers' are not centers of villages, and there cease to be villages at all, simply scattered family houses."

Goodman then goes on to say:

"Our society pre-empts literally too much of the space . . . As our organized system perfects itself, there is less open environment. It is hard for a social animal to grow when there is not an open margin to grow in: . . .

. . . A society cannot have decided all possibilities beforehand and have structured them.

"If society becomes too tightly integrated and pre-empts all the available space, materials, and methods, then it is failing to provide for just the margin of formlessness, real risk, novelty, spontaneity, that makes growth possible."

"OVERNIGHT" SUBDIVISIONS, devouring open space, have little individuality and rarely make their inhabitants feel they are a part of the community, critics charge. The Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission has issued a series of studies in which it advocates the use of open space to give communities character.

SHOULD AREAS LIKE THIS be left untouched? "Yes," in some cases, according to NIMAPC planners. The commission has issued reports calling for open space to be conserved in the face of bludgeoning population growth in the Northern Illinois area.

GOODMAN WRITES about what must be apparent to any suburbanite — the lack of imagination and disregard for open space in the planning of most communities today.

However, one government body, the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, has consistently dwelt upon the madness of cluttering the countryside with interlocking communities without a regard for open space.

The NIMAP's recommendations to relieve tomorrow's citizens from living in a completely closed environment are the work of engineers and professional planners, but sociological interest and social criticism is implicit in their work

The NIMAPC has recently released a 136-page study of potential recreation areas in Northeastern Illinois, in which the acquisition of 31 areas for recreation purposes was recommended.

ACCOMPANYING the report was a statement, "Open Space Policies for Northeastern Illinois," adopted by NIMAPC this summer.

At the annual NIMAPC planning conference last week, speakers noted that the land provided by the State of Illinois has not met the open space needs of the citizens of Northeastern Illinois.

Planning Consultant Frederick T. Aschman stated that the six-county Northeastern Illinois area needs a minimum of 89,000 acres of all day recreational facilities.

In the next two decades, the commission has recommended that Illinois increase its recreational facilities by 65,000 acres.

"EVEN UNDER ideal circumstances, acquiring this amount of land is a mammoth undertaking," Aschman said. "But the circumstances will be far less than ideal, first because of the competing demands for public funds and secondly because of the intense competition for land over the next 20 years.

According to Aschman, sufficient open space resources exist in the metropolitan area today.

"What is needed," he explained, "is a coordinated and concerted effort on the part of the state and the Northeastern Illinois counties and communities to get the job done."

Another speaker, Planning Consultant George Wickstead, praised the work of the Cook County Forest Preserve District, but explained that it can do little to influence urban form because of its land acquisition policies.

HE CALLED open space a means of "shaping a better environment," "giving structure, shape and room to the city," and "dividing and giving identity to urban communities."

He said that planning for open space must be "higher on our scale of values."

The concern of Goodman and the NIMAPC over the need for open space sets them apart as solitary voices, however.

Who cares about open space? The term, itself, is unlikely to excite people. How do you set a value on open space? Open space is not available until it's gone.

The northwest suburban area has its share of tract development, in which one house after another, designed and built similarly, monotonously fall into place, like a troop of well-regimented soldiers. Look-alike towns reach toward one another, tearing at the open country between.

AS GOODMAN notes, if the youth in such developments complain they are bored, feel they must go elsewhere for excitement, one can sympathize with them.

What positive effect can such a physical environment have on the youth? The physical ugliness and lack of character of the development certainly will not encourage any "sense of community" on the part of the youth.

Added to this, the frantic pace of suburban parents' life gives the parents little opportunity to look into ways of overcoming the effect of such a physical environment on the youth.

A community sponsors a dance for its young people. Most kids do not attend — because adults are directing it. They do not regard the dance as a normal outgrowth of community life; it is an uncomfortable attempt on the part of the adults to right the wrongs of the physical environment.

A RECENT STORY in the Palatine Enterprise is a revelation in this respect. A reporter, looking into claims that Palatine was becoming a teen "hangout," questioned teenagers at a privately run ballroom.

"Where do you go for things to do?"

"Palatine."

"Why?"

"That's where all the kids go."

One youth delivered this critique of the numerous teen dances sponsored in the area:

"A GUY GOES down there, he feels like he's being watched from all over. There's supervision here, too, but it's different."

A girl told the reporter that "the Legion is no fun at all; it's too strict. School dances? If you want to take someone from another school, you can't."

The owner told the reporter: "These kids don't mind supervision . . . That they come from all over is just proof of the fact that their communities are not doing the job."

To go from Paul Goodman, to teenage unrest in the suburbs, to the NIMAPC, open space report may seem to involve some giant steps. But is it?

(A report on the NIMAPC's open space and recreational findings will appear next week.)

Congress, Legislature

Candidates Explain Views To Voters at League Rally

Sharp differences of poinion on several foreign and domestic issues were expressed by candidates for Congress and the state legislature from both parties who appeared before a capacity audience at Randhurst Auditorium on Sept. 20.

The meeting was jointly sponsored by the Arlington Heights and Palatine Leagues of Women Voters.

Donald Rumsfeld, Republican candidate from the 13th Congressional District, in discussing world trade advocated lowering tariffs and working closely with the Common Market, the "outer seven" nations and the Latin American countries to stimulate trade.

ON THE question of continued support to the United Nations, Rumsfeld said that the U.N. "is not, has not been, and could not be" the final answer to our foreign policy. He believes that we have let our regular diplomatic channels wither, and that the country must provide leadership outside of the U.N. by coordinating free world activities against communism.

Rumsfeld said that with regard to the various problems facing the fedeal government today, his particular interest is the budget, and the cutting back of expenses without harming the defense effort. He would like to serve on the House Appropriations Committee if elected.

JOHN A KENNEDY, Democratic candidate opposing Rumsfeld, expressed the opinion that the United States must continue to bear the burden of leadership of the free world and that "we must remain strong and bargain with imagination." He strongly defended the foreign aid program and believes that our aid laid the groundwork for the present economic strength of western Europe and made the Common Market possible.

While Russia is promising quick solutions to the problems of the South American nations, we must answer with not only foreign aid but assistance with social development and economic development, Kennedy said.

With a special interest in foreign affairs, Kennedy advocated a Foreign Affairs Department at cabinet level which would coordinate our foreign aid program with the actions and activities of the State Department.

DAVID BRADSHAW and State Sen. John Graham, Democratic candidate and Republican incumbent from the 3rd State Senatorial District, while agreeing that problem of revenue is paramount in state affairs, took opposite positions on the corporate franchise tax.

Bradshaw stated that real estate taxes are already too high and is in favor of increasing the corporate franchise tax, which he stated would not impose any serious additional burden to business.

He opposes any sales tax increase, but declared that additional sources of revenue must be found to meet increasing requirements for educational facilities.

GRAHAM stressed the need for economy in state government and cutting of state payrolls. He opposed corporate franchise tax increases which would, in his opinion, hamper economic development in Illinois. He suggested a residency requirement for public aid recipients and improved procedures for collecting taxes.

Bernard Peskin, Democrat, seeking re-election to the lower house, said that revenue reform is essential and that he will reintroduce his revenue bill which failed to pass the last legislative session. The need to cut expenses, the importance of eliminating earmarking of funds, and increasing the corporate franchise tax were some of the measures he proposed.

Arthur Simmons, Republican, also seeking re-election to the lower house, emphasized balancing the state budget. "Economy is a must!" he said. Mr. Simmons feels that the climate for business in Illinois is good and we must keep it that way. He has served as a member of the house education committee and expressed a deep interest in the education problems of the state.

BELIEVING that we must stay within the bounds of the money we have to spend, John W. Carroll, Republican representative seeking re-election, advocated a 2-year residency requirement for receipients of public aid and supported the recent ruling by the Public Aid Committee that birth control information be given to those families on public aid who request it.

David V. Tarr, Democratic candidate for the legislature, was not able to attend the meeting.

Following the statements by the candidates, questions were submitted from the audience to a screening committee headed by Alfred Cort of Palatine High School.

IN ANSWER to the first question, "Is the Monroe Doctrine being abused in Cuba?" Kennedy stressed the point that the Organization of American States supplements the Monroe Doctrine, and that we should make full use of its procedures and possibilities for concerted hemispheric action.

Rumsfeld commented that it is time to reaffirm the Monroe Doctrine and bring moral, economic and political sanctions to bear in halting the flow of arms to Cuba. He proposed that we consider recognition of the Cuban government in exile.

A question about a suggested bill to do away with the offices of school treasurers and trustees brought sharply opposing answers from the Democratic and Republican candidates. The Democrats were unanimously in favor of eliminating these offices, while the Republicans all stated that they would have to see the specific measure before deciding how to vote.

In a question regarding the recent cut by the House Appropriation Committee in the foreign aid bill, Rumsfeld supported the cut. Kennedy opposed it.

THE QUESTION, "Do you support the judicial amendment on the Blue Ballot?," brought the following responses:

Bradshaw: "I support it wholeheartedly as a substantial step toward a modern court system in Illinois."

Graham: "I voted for it in the legislature and I believe citizens of Illinois have the intelligence to decide for themselves how to vote. I myself, will devote my efforts to defeating my opponent."

Peskin: "I not only favor and am supporting it, but co-sponsored the measure in the legislature."

Simmons: "I am working for it, although I do not regard it as a completely perfect solution to the problem."

Carroll: "I am in favor of it."

Mrs. Gerald Chapman, past president of the Arlington Heights League, served as moderator of the meeting and expressed the gratification of the two Leagues for the excellent attendance and the high level of interest as demonstrated in the question period.

Jets Lower the Boom on Local Party Scene

Jets going faster than the speed of sound last Friday hurled back to earth the sound of speed to whump against local houses like a giant fist. They apparently also lowered the boom, sonic or otherwise, on the local party scene. Current social news largely concerns travelers, contrasting sharply with the recent party-dominated schedule.

September visitors in the Barnard Bird home, 122 N. Forrest, were relatives from Texas and longtime friends, formerly from the West Coast, now of Maracaibo, Venezuela. Mr. Bird's brother, Floyd, and his wife recently ended a week's visit here when they returned to Corpus Christi where Dr. Bird heads the science department of the university in that city.

Here from Maracaibo about two weeks ago were Mr. and Mrs. Duane Johnson, Evangelical Church missionaries-on-leave, who do all of the printing of religious material for distribution throughout Venezuela. Besides providing an exciting reunion of old friends, the Johnsons' visit brought the added bonus of their keen observations of North American-South American relations as seen in Venezuela.

MR. AND MRS. John Latta returned home to 805 N. Chestnut last Friday after a 2-week vacation in the New England states. They first took their son, John, to Providence, R. I. where he begins his freshman year at Brown University, then started an easy-going tour of scenic and historic sites.

They were treated to the sight of the early fall coloring that's sparking the heights of the White Mountains, Green Mountains and the Appalachian range; they loafed along the Eastern Sea-Coast, sometimes stopping to beach comb for driftwood and the fun of it. In one little New England village where Mr. Latta had last visited relatives about 35 years ago, they shopped at a gift shop to inquire about a cousin and found that she owned the shop. They were her guests for the rest of the day and visited in her home, built in 1740 and still containing some of the original furnishings.

On the final lap of their drive, the Lattas visited briefly in Montreal and, following along the route of the St. Lawrence Seaway, enjoyed watching the locks in operation at Iroquois.

During the absence of their parents, the Lattas' at-home boys were having fun with their sister, Gwen, Mrs. Edwin Friesendorf of Dundee, who stayed here with her children "for the duration."

Mrs. Richard Shrove and her son, Richard Jr., are in the middle of a month-long visit here with their mother and grandma, Mrs. R. H. Heberling, 819 W. Fairview. Mrs. Shrove's husband, a captain in the Air Force currently "between bases," will join his family early next month for their final week here.

Then they'll visit the senior Shroves in Florida, with a stop enroute in Biloxi at the home of young Richard's godparents, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. James Guthrie. Their subsequent stay in Lakeland, Fla. will conclude the Shroves' farewells to family and friends before they leave for Ramstein Air Force Base in Germany, where the captain will be stationed for the next four years.

THE KEITH Posselts, 302 W. Maple, weekended in Dayton and enjoyed renewing old friendships at a small-scale reunion in the Dayton home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Dickey. Joining them were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kindler of Terre Haute, another pair of "long time no see" friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Starbuck returned home to 506 S. Evergreen late last week after two weeks in Ocean City, N. J. where they rented a home and dubbed it "Reunion Cottage." There they entertained 25 east coast friends and relatives in honor of their son and his family, the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Starbuck and Eric, home in the United States after five years in Germany.

For the past two years Starbuck has lived in West Berlin, traveling daily into East Berlin to carry on his work for the United Church of Christ.

He will be in Boston until the first of next year when a decision will be made regarding his possible return to the divided city.

THE SENIOR Starbucks last saw Robert in 1959 when Eric was 18 months old, and the family reunion was also a time of getting re-acquainted with their grandson. Joining the welcome-back gathering for the pastor was his sister and her family, the George Nofers of Huntingdon Valley, Pa.

During their stay in Reunion Cottage a 3-way party brought multiple birthday greetings to the Nofers' son, Bobby, who was 6 years old Monday; to his Grandma Starbuck who celebrates an Aug. 26 birth date and to his Uncle Bob whose namesake he is and who has a birthday just a week before his.

There were three birthday cakes for the three birthday kids, a corsage for Grandma and congratulations all over the place.

Today Mrs. Starbuck will welcome her sister and brother-in-law, the Ralph Coneaus of San Mateo, Calif., who will visit at 506 S. Evergreen for a few days before resuming a vacation trip early next week.

MRS. IDA MEYER and her daughter, Mrs. Betty Waddell, of Sharon, Wis. spent Sunday here visiting relatives. They were guests of the William Annens, 922 N. Highland, and of Mrs. Dora Meyer, 718 N. Evergreen. They had also planned to spend some time with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meyer, but found no one home at 103 E. Hawthorne. Sunday was such a fine day for a drive that Frank and his wife had decided to motor to Sharon to visit Ida.

Mr. and Mrs. William Knight, 735 N. Dunton, and their son Tim, now of South Bend, motored to the college town a week ago to launch Tim in his freshman year at Notre Dame University.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, 1111 W. Euclid, drove to East Lansing, Mich. with their son, Bill, to deposit him at Dad's alma mater, Michigan State University.

LAST WEEK also marked Larry Weidner's entrance in Northern Illinois University in DeKalb for his first year of college. Larry, son of the Richard Weidners, 1131 N. Dunton, was therefore not among relatives who Sunday extended birthday congratulations to his Dad.

U pthe street at 1209 N. Dunton, Weidner's "twin," Elmer Schmidt, also celebrated the umpteenth anniversary of his 29th birthday, first with relatives in Mount Prospect and then at an impromptu get-together with neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Blum, 1337 N. Highland, and Mrs. Blum's parents, the Henry W. Moehlings of 631 Kirchoff Road, were among Arlington Heights guests Sunday at an open house of their brother and son, Herbert of Barrington. The Barrington Moehlings hosted at a reception for their daughter and her husband, the Cliff Pavises, who have just returned from Manhattan, Kan. where Pavis was stationed with the army.

The party for over 50 Palatine, Barrington and Arlington Heights friends and relatives also celebrated Pavis' discharge from the service.

THE ED GRABOWS, 1201 N. Mitchell, and former neighbors, the Douglas Sturgeons, now of Mount Prospect, were among Lake View High School alumni who reunited for a dinner dance in the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago Saturday night.

The Ted Mendls, 745 S. Vail, entertained with an informal supper for 12 and bridge Saturday night. Their guests were the Ted Kleisners, W. M. Brines, James Loudons, Jerry Jedds and John Kuipers.

Laurie Obermayer was 6 years old Friday and celebrated at an after-school party with five young friends in her home, 1212 N. Mitchell.

MR. AND MRS. Ralph E. Clabaugh, 510 S. Beverly, returned Sunday from a week's vacation at the Knudson House in Ephraim, Wis. Driving to Door County, they stopped in Madison to have dinner with their son, Jim, a sophomore at the University of Wisconsin, and while in Ephraim, had the good fortune to meet several other vacationing Scarsdale neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Carlson, 631 S. Burton, will welcome both their parents, the Harold Glasses of Manchester, Iowa, and Mrs. Roy Carlson of Rockford, for a weekend visit.

During their stay, they will attend a dinner party Sunday to celebrate the birthdays of their grandchildren, Karen and Brett, who will be four and one years old Sunday.

Richard Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Davis, 555 Banbury, has entered St. John Military Academy in Delafield, Wis.

THE GEORGE McConleys of Mt. Dora, Fla. are spending a month in Arlington Heights, visiting their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Faner, 615 Mayfair.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Means Jr. of Stonegate have said goodbye to their friends and left for Los Altos, Calif. where Mr. Means has been transferred. Before leaving, they were feted at several farewell parties given by their Brighton Place neighbors, and they plan to spend the weekend in Council Bluffs, Iowa, visiting her mother, Mrs. G. Burdick, before going on to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lauer of Valley Stream, Long Island, arrived in Arlington Heights Sept. 15, to spend 10 days visiting their daughter and family, the Walter McClures, 1605 E. Kensington, and to see their new granddaughter. The baby, who is called Carole Jean, was born Sept. 14 in Northwest Community hospital and is the McClures' second daughter.

The baby was dedicated Sunday at the Mt. Prospect Bible Church.

BILL BREDEHOFT, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bredehoft, 201 S. Wilshire, was host to a farewell party Friday for Barrett Allison, who is moving to Cleveland this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kroll, 326 S. Derbyshire, attended the 25th Lakeview High School Alumni Association dinner dance Saturday in the Crystal Ballroom of the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Out-of-town guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Sullivan, 211 S. Stratford, were her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. David Ashmore of Redwood City, Calif., who spent 4 days here while vacationing in the midwest.

Mrs. Reuben R. Cordova, 213 S. Stratford, gave a coffee Sept. 13 to welcome her new neighbor, Mrs. L. E. Schueler, who with Mr. Schueler recently moved to Stonegate from Mount Prospect. Co-hostess with Mrs. Cordova was Mrs. John Sullivan.

Former Stonegate residents, the John Langouts of Cos Cob, Conn., were here recently visiting the Ian MacLachlans, 1230 Woodford, and seeing many of their old friends. Accompanying the Langouts was one of their sons, Billy.

MR. AND MRS. Robert Lockwood, 312 S. Derbyshire, were recently in Pittsburgh for the wedding of Mrs. Lockwood's niece, Miss Walda Jean Golonski, to Jeffrey Abbott. The ceremony was performed in the Heinz chapel of Pitt University. After the wedding, the Lockwoods left for Washington, D. C., to spend five days vacationing at the Sherwood Forest summer home of Mr. Lockwood's brother, Harris Lockwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Garr, 316 S. Derbyshire, attended a buffet supper and dance Saturday in the Elk's new headquarters in Arlington Heights. Preceding supper were the inductions of new members into the Elks club, of which Mr. Garr's nephew, Gerald Zeken, was a member.

The Garrs' eldest son, Roy, returned to Coe College for his senior year, after spending six weeks this summer in Seattle with the Air Corps. Another son, Lee, is also attending Coe college as a freshman.

The Larry Kussow household, 815 Burton, is back to normal following weeks of entertaining for out-of-town visitors and parties preceding the wedding of their son, David, to Miss Sandra Hedstrom Sept. 8 in St. Mark Lutheran Church of Mount Prospect.

David and his bride have returned to their classes at the University of Southern Illinois in Carbondale, where both are

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM RIDGE PARK

Best wishes for speedy recoveries go to two Ridge Park residents, home from Northwest Community Hospital. At 834 N. Patton is Mrs. Ray Thill, recovering from surgery. Hospitalized last weekend after an appendicitis attack was Marla Rubenking, daughter of the Glen Rubenkings, 948 N. Fernandez. Marla was taken to the hospital for observation Sunday, but the doctors decided not to operate at this time, and she is convalescing at home.

"Happy Birthday" is the theme song this month for the James Christensen family, and once again cake and candles are the centerpiece at 725 N. Harvard. Dale, now 3, and his father both recently celebrated their birthdays with a family picnic in the forest preserve. A triple birthday celebration last weekend honored the older son, Bert, now 16, his mother and grandfather, James Christensen Sr. of Chicago. Joining the Christensens for barbecue and cake were Mr. and Mrs. Lester McCloud, Mrs. Lena Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Clausen and the senior James Christensens, all of Chicago.

BOBBY JENSEN, son of the Vernon Jensens, 935 N. Kaspar, marked his 11th birthday with a quiet family celebration. Little league football is Bob's current interest, and he's so busy with practice that he took no time out for a party. Marian Bieber's sixth birthday featured two parties and cakes - one with Daddy home and one with just her four brothers and six sisters. Marian, who opened her presents Monday morning, was one Ridge Parker delighted at the stormy weather! Her favorite gift was a blue raincoat with matching hat. She's the daughter of the George Biebers, 801 N. Princeton. Birthday good wishes also go to Pat Harvell, son of the J. P. Harvells, 1206 W. Elm, a senior in high school this year.

Former Ridge Park residents still remember their friends and neighbors. Marilyn Eaton, Tommy and David, now living in Fox River Grove, visited here Wednesday. From Mount Prospect comes word of the birth of a third girl to the James Flemings, formerly of Brown Street. Mrs. Fleming promises to bring Kathleen Anne back to visit in a few weeks.

MRS. CLARENCE Krehl, 825 N. Princeton, has been busy the last few weeks. She and her husband have just returned from a trip to New Orleans, Biloxi, the Smokies and the Blue Ridge Mountains. With them were Arlington residents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dieball. On their return, the Krehls helped their daughter and her family get settled in their new home at 914 N. Patton. The Gustave Roesslers, who moved here from North Hickory Street, have two boys - Michael, nearly 4, and Steven, 2. Mr. Roessler is with the Public Service Company.

New also in the Ridge Park area are the Donald Holtzes. now at 817 N. Princeton, in the former Halek home. He is an asphalt contractor with Knight, and the family moved from Des Plaines. Their children are Stevie, 6, Terri, 4½, Tommy, 3, and Donnie, 14 months. Mrs. Holtz was welcomed recently and introduced to her new neighbors at a coffee given by Mrs. George Cannell, 810 N. Princeton.

Out of town visitors at the Clyde Harden home, 909 N. Salem, were Mrs. Harden's sister and brother-in-law, the Leonard Atkinsons of Des Moines, who stayed from Thursday through Monday. The men enjoyed both baseball games Saturday and Sunday, but were disappointed when Early Wynn failed to get his 300th victory.

BIRTHDAY greetings were sung to two Kaspar Street children both in their respective families and in first grade recently, as they both have the same teacher. Michael Corda, son of Mrs. Walter Corda, 923 N. Kaspar, is now 6. Debbie Ostrowskis, 928 N. Kaspar, also 6, celebrated at a family party which included her great grandmother, Mrs. Caroline Schuemann of Hoffman Estates. Honored at the party was Debbie's uncle, Larry Rice, also of Hoffman Estates, whose birthday falls two days after Debbie's. Mrs. Rice and their four children also joined in the celebration, along with Diane and Stevie Ostrowski.

The Joseph Heinzes attended the dinner dance at Post and Paddock Club Saturday in celebration of ground-breaking ceremonies for St. Thomas of Villanova School. Joining them were Joe's brother, Bob, and his wife.

Jonathan Bone, 704 N. Salem, was 7 on Wednesday. Friends from two neighborhoods joined him and his three brothers in a back-yard party after school. On hand were Susan, Paul, David and Lisa Christine of Winston Park, who'll be next-door-neighbors to the Bones by Christmas. Salem Street friends also joined him in games and blowing out his candles. Highlight of the party was the appearance of the Good Humor truck with appropriate refreshments. Mrs. Christine used her visit to bring the Bones up to date on the progress of the house, now at foundation stage.

A BUSY WEEK for Mrs. Bill Cokash included two nights "out." In celebration of their eighth wedding anniversary, the Cokashes attended a variety show Monday produced in celebration of the Kemper Company's 50 anniversary, starring Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy. Tuesday Mrs. Cokash, 906 N. Illinois, enjoyed the Maurice Chevalier show at Orchestra Hall with neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Speckman.

Mrs. Herman Koeneman, 908 N. Fernandez, recently attended the women's group luncheon for 13th District Congressional candidates.

Sharon and Karen Koeneman have left for the University of Louisville. This year, Sharon will finish her dental hygiene course and Karen will be a sophomore majoring in English.

"Fun is over; work has begun," is the refrain in the Gene Schlickman home, 712 N. Fernandez. The Schlickmans and their children spent the weekend at the family cottage in Delavan, Wis., painting, repairing and getting it ready for the winter.

Twenty couples recently said "farewell" to the Fred Webers, formerly of 1001 N. Princeton, who have moved to temporary quarters while their new home is being built.

BIRTHDAYS AND birthdays and more birthdays for Ridge Parkers! At the Albert Klein family, 1003 N. Kennicott, Karen celebrated her sixth birthday Saturday. Her guests included Irma Jones, Janet Anderson, Mary and Nadine Thrasher. That evening Grandma and Grandpa Albert Klein came out from Blue Island to help celebrate. Sunday her brother, Steven, had his seventh birthday party, with Joey Lauer, Ray Jones, Steven Anerson, Wayne Keller, Jimmy Hedger, John O'Brien, John Heinz, Randy Swenson and Stevie Kay joining him in games. It was Steven's last festive occasion before his tonsillectomy, scheduled Wednesday in St. Joseph's. All his friends are wishing him a speedy recovery.

Turning 13 is Carl Tollefson, son of the Howard Tollefsons on Brown Street. Hamburgers and hot dogs will be Saturday's menu when Carl celebrates with Doug Robson, Steve and Vince Lane, Billy Groh, John Ahmdale, Billy Kieck and Tom Surge.

Family gathered to help Doris Lynn, daughter of the Donald Holmes, 823 N. Salem, blow out her first birthday candle! Sunday's party included her brother, Donnie, of course, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Gembutis, Mount Prospect; Mr. and Mrs. Al Ehrhart, Rolling Meadows; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Polizzi and Richard Holmes of Chicago, and Gary Chichester of Niles, Doris' great grandmother, Mrs. Lucille Glenn of Chicago also was there, along with grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Holmes of Chicago and Mrs. Agnes Chichester, of Niles.

Neighbors conspired to give Mrs. Marilyn Hedger, 924 N. Fernandez, a night out for dinner and cards. In on the planning were Joyce Mohr, Marge Barnak, Jean Vetter, Ruth Murowski and Joanne Nelson. The occasion was a farewell party and pre-baby festivity. The Hedgers will move to Oak Park soon.

Kerry Mohr recently celebrated his fifth birthday.

FROM SHERWOOD

New arrivals in Sherwood are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bronwell, who moved there from 403 N. Douglas in the Eastwood section. They are living in the former Conner home. The Conners are in Portland, Ore., and their older son, Terry, has returned to college in Ann Arbor. The Bronwells' children are Cindy, 9, and Ricky, 8. This week Mrs. Bronwell was guest of honor at a coffee given by her neighbor, Mrs. Herbert Cornelius.

Wendy Fellingham, daughter of Mr. and Mr. Paul Fellingham, 1145 N. Patton, has returned for her sophomore year at Western Illinois in Macomb. Wendy is majoring in business administration. The Fellinghams have enjoyed the recent visit of Mr. Fellingham's sister, Miss Ruth Fellingham of Spokane, Wash. She came for the recent wedding of her nephew, Warren Fellingham Jr., and Miss Judith Cutler, and expects to remain in Arlington Heights until Thanksgiving. (A

LES CORNELIUS, 1255 N. Chicago Ave., Arlington Heights, recently had a chance to hear the latest news from home, across the Atlantic in Kent, England, when a group of British boy scouts visited the home office of the Allstate Insurance Companies in Skokie. Cornelius, an Allstate pricing analyst, is a native of England. With him in the photo above are Adrian Garwood of Kent and Richard Mead of Wiltshire. Adrian resides about 12 miles from Cornelius' family home.

The Goods will be attending St. Thomas of Villanova Catholic Church.

The next "Hi" is directed to Dick and Shelba LeFort who, with their year-old daughter, Michelle, have moved to 1246 N. Yale from Galesburg. Wilke, who was surprised with a candle-bedecked cake, and several choruses of "Happy Birthday" right in the middle of Ridge PTA potluck dinner on Sept. 18, as she was busy with her presidential duties for that organization.

Another group of Terrace neighbors who banded together last Saturday night for the festivities at the Post and Paddock were Art and Jeanne Sadowski, Ronnie and Laraine Francis and Kathy and Don Munk.

ADELE AND Michael Yore, 1260 N. Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall — CLearbrook 5-2936

Arlington Acres is happy to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Robert Novy and their children Robert and Roberta, formerly of Cicero, who have moved into their new home at 408 S. Phelps. Mr. Novy is with United Air Lines.

June is traditionally the wedding month but September surpasses it when it comes to celebrating anniversaries in Arlington Acres.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Mertes, 529 S. Phelps, received the congratulations of their family and friends Sept. 24, on the occasion of their seventh anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Oravetz, 533 S. Prindle, were married 22 years Sept. 22 and celebrated at White Fence Farm near Lemont, where they had "dinner for two" Saturday.

ON THE same day the Edward McMullens, 413 S. Prindle, were celebrating their fourth anniversary at Morton House in Morton Grove with close friends. A surprise anniversary cake was the highlight of the dinner.

The occasion was the finale to a busy summer for the McMullens, who have been entertaining houseguests since July. Last, but far from least, of these visitors was Mrs. McMullen's brother, Robert Moffitt of Clinton, Mass., who spent two weeks here, accompanied by his friend, Melvin Fletcher of Leominster, Mass. It was the first time either young man had been in the midwest and they enjoyed "seeing" Chicago. Included were a trip to the Top of the Rock and a baseball game at Sox Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sievert, 409 S. Prindle, whose own anniversary is months off, helped set the stage for a future celebration date when they were members of the wedding party of his sister, Carol, of Glen Ellyn, when she married Gordon Moore of Ridgewood, N. J., earlier this month in Glen Ellyn.

MRS. RICHARD Christiansen, 428 S. Waterman, was hostess at a bridal shower last Saturday in honor of her sister, Miss Sandra Arney of Chicago, who is to be married Oct. 6. Guests were family members and friends of the bride-to-be.

Best wishes on her Sept. 23 birthday were in order for Linda Christiansen whose party was postponed for a week because of the shower preparations.

Congratulations on his 16th birthday last Monday go to Dick Truelove, 532 S. Phelps. More to Come

Eastwood Events

With his brother Richard and sister Eileen acting as godparents, Thomas Meindl was baptized on Sept. 2 in St. James Catholic Church with Father George Roth officiating. Thomas, who was born Aug. 2, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Meindl of 616 Euclid Ave.

Congratulations are extended to new grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Anderson of 614 N. Beverly Lane, on the birth of a grandson, Michael David. The baby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Levine, proclaimed their good news to their neighbors by flying a blue cloth flag outside their home.

Last week the Andersons entertained long-time friends, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rasmussen of Roseburg, Ore. Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Rasmussen have known each other since they were in the fifth grade at Chicago's LeMoyne Public School.

A VERY happy occasion was marked Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ellertson and their children, Dennis, Karen and Kevin, when they attended the golden wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. Ellertson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wollert Ellertson of Mount Prospect. Seventy-nine guests attended the dinner and dancing party given at the Norwegian Club in Chicago.

On Sunday the Ellertsons were hosts for dinner in their Euclid Avenue home for the anniversary couple and for Wally's aunt, Mrs. Elsie Ellertson of Dallas, and his cousin, Miss Adrene Nelson of Mount Horeb, Wis., both of whom were in town for the party. Other guest for dinner was Earl Spencer from San Mateo, Cal., who just happened to be in Chicago for a Lake View High School reunion. Mr. Spencer is the son of the Ellertsons' maid of honor, Mrs. Mable Spencer of Burlingame, Cal., who was unable to attend the festivities.

On Tuesday, Sept. 25, the actual date of their wedding, the senior Ellertsons were hosts to their friends and neighbors at an open house.

OUT-OF-TOWN guest at the Thomas Bart home, 213 N. Dryden, is Mr. Bart's mother, Mrs. Hazel Bart from Delray Beach, Fla. Mrs. Bart arrived last week and came expressly for the christening of the newest Bart baby, which will take place next Sunday. She plans to visit till the first part of October.

Starting school for Nancy, Joanne, Wendy and Danny Mosby of 720 N. Hickory didn't mean the end of vacation-time for them this year, for after just one week of lessons, they were given permission to vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mosby, at the Lake of the Ozarks. The Mosbys camped out and spent many fun-filled days swimming, fishing, horseback riding and hiking.

A yearly tradition was carried out Saturday when a group of Lincoln Lane neighbors attended the season's opening football game at Northwestern University. Bud and Ann Lerch, Mae and Paul Petersen and Jean and Jim Rogers, and their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sweitzer, gathered first at the John Haslam home, and then traveled en masse to Evanston to see Northwestern in their victory game over South Carolina.

THE PREVIOUS evening the Lerches had been overnight hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Neely, former Lincoln Lane neighbors, who now reside in Cleveland.

Hurry up and get well wishes are sent to Nita Barnes of Lincoln Lane who is in Evanston Hospital where she has undergone major surgery. (A

HASBROOK HAPPENINGS

Although the autumnal equinox has been checked off the calendar, and one very young Lynwood lady was seen sporting mittens last week, Larry and Simone Peifer, 1735 N. Walnut, find it easy to produce a jump in the temperature with memories of their Hawaiian luau. "Escapists" present for the eye and palate-pleasing evening were the Zeiglers, Botefuhrs, Arnouxs, Bullards, Steins, Christiansens and the Larsons. There was music and dancing, there were games, a palm tree, even cocoanuts, and each guest, costumed a la the islands, contributed a special dish to the meal.

Further evidence of a warming trend lies in the wishes being directed toward new householders on North Walnut and North Chestnut. Ruby and Bill McMillan have just moved into 1811 N. Walnut. At 1720 N. Walnut, Sonya and Rex White and their children, Rex, Kelley and Brook, are settling down. Robert and Nancy Enos, who have two sons Bobby Jr., 4½, and Billy, 10 months, were transferred from Hamilton, Ohio, and now reside at 1611 N. Chestnut.

THE OUT-OF-TOWN company Beth and Art Nielander, 1509 N. Kennicott, entertained recently consisted of Beth's parents, the Earl G. Bennetts, and her sister, Cynthia, of Summit, N. J. They stayed a week, then went on to the University of Kansas where Cynthia's enrolled as a freshman.

Mr. and Mrs. Losi of New York City spent the month of August with their daughter, Clem Haughey and her family at 1544 N. Kennicott. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hardisty, who now live in Normal, returned to Chestnut Street, their former home, for a visit with Helen and John Anderson, 1614 N. Chestnut. By the way, Donna Anderson is now a freshman at the University of Illinois.

The William Rogans, 1540 N. Kennicott, had Barbara's mother and dad, the Dullecks, as guests over the Labor Day weekend. They brought Billie Rogan, who had been with them in Minneapolis for three weeks, back for the first day of school.

The A. J. Barboro household has really been bustling - After three weeks at Virginia Beach, Va., Bertha's mother, Mrs. Yde, visited with th Barboros at 1543 N. Kennicott Mrs. Yde, visited with the home to Montreal, Canada. A reunion of former neighbors from the Chatham area of South Chicago was held mid-month at Bertha's home. Attending the morning kaffee klatsch were Pat Ryan and Celeste Kelley of Lynwood Avenue and guests from Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Des Plaines and West Dundee.

RICKY BARBORO came in for his share of attention at a sixth birthday party September 15. His dad, Al, showed cartoons, and games were played and prizes distributed. Since Bertha knew Mark Seger, Billie Rogan, Eddy Suzak, Mariann Dolack, Sandy Steed, Cindy Kramer, Margie Dan, Ricky Swanson from Mt. prospect, Ann Warner, Robin Rausch, Donna Murphy and her other sons, David and Paul, were coming, she baked a cake which was served with ice cream.

Chuck Murphy, 1824 N. Walnut, recently had a sixth birthday party, too, with all the traditional fixin's. His guests were Larry and Danny Peifer, Tommy and Steve Ley, Mary Linneway, Larry Baker, Dale McDougall and the rest of the Murphy children.

If you want to know how they're biting in Wisconsin, check with Ed Stein, 1609 N. Walnut, or Bob Zimmerman, 1808 N. Chestnut. Ed and Bob and his father spent five days fishing at Rhinelander.

Home is supposedly a safe place to be, but Tim Sheahan, 1610 N. Chestnut, might give you an argument on that point. He broke his collarbone in a home accident. However, it's good to report he's recovering nicely. (A

Fashion Show to Aid Diabetic Children

The Mothers of Diabetic Children fashion show will take place Friday, Sept. 28, at the Arlington Heights VFW Post, Northwest Highway and Yale.

The show will begin at 8 p.m.

Proceeds from the show will be used to send one diabetic child or more to a special camp at Lake Geneva, Wis. Cost of sending one child to camp for three weeks in $175.

THE MOTHERS OF Diabetic Children is the Northwest Suburban Unit of the Chicago Diabetes Association.

Because the Chicago Diabetes Association is primarily a medical society, whose members are concerned largely with clinical investigation and research pertaining to diabetes mellitus, its service units perform non-clinical aspects of the program.

SOME OF THE goals of the Chicago Diabetes Association are:

—Finding an estimated 30,000 Chicago area residents who are unaware that they have diabetes.

—Public education about diabetes.

—Education of industry, aimed at creating a "fair chance" for the diabetic seeking employment.

—Scientific meetings with medical societies in other fields.

No admission will be charged at the fashion show. The line being shown is Beeline Fashions of Bensenville. (B-8

Supersonic Byproduct

Air Force Man Tells Background of 'Boom'

Sergeant A. B. Dyment of the U. S. Air Force Recruiting Office, 8 W. Miner St., Arlington Heights, this week issued an explanation of the sonic booms that assaulted the eardrums of the citizens of the local area last Friday.

A "sonic boom," blatant byproduct of supersonic flight, is a shock wave that drags the ground in the path of an aircraft exceeding the speed of sound, Dyment said.

THE BOOM MIGHT awaken you from your sleep, set dishes jumping in the cupboard at any hour of the night no matter where you live, but except in rare cases will it do anything but assault your eardrums, he said. The boom will not cause bodily injury.

"These are blunt facts in a supersonic age, and the Air Force is confident the American people will not complain if they know the facts," the sergeant stated. "An aircraft capable of supersonic speed in straight - and - level flight creates a continuous sonic boom, a roar that crosses the country like the opening of a zipper. It follows the flight path of the aircraft and if it were visible it would look like a cone; in fact, like two cones. One of them has its apex at the nose, the other at the tail.

"The cones are shock waves that travel to the ground at the speed of sound (about 762 mph). As each wave moves, it is robbed of energy by friction of the air, a friction that is affected by temperature and humidity and such stumbling blocks as mountains or clouds.

"When the shock hits the earth, the wave is further obstructed by trees, buildings, cars, people, rose bushes, outdoor movie screens and the like. The two shock cones are so close they almost always sound like a single clap of thunder. If they were real claps of thunder, they would impose a pressure of about one-half pound on each square foot of the earth or the obstacle in the way. The pressure from the sonic boom is not more than five times the noise created in a boiler factory. But the altitude of the plane, upward of 35,000 feet, and the loss of energy that muffles the shock on the way down will keep the pressure below the five pound level. This means the boom is not strong enough to inflict structural damage on the flimsiest chicken coop," Dyment said.

TESTS HAVE SHOWN that it takes a pressure of 70 or more pounds to damage buildings. In fact, tests with nuclear explosions have shown that it takes 150 to 300 pounds per square foot to damage brick or frame building construction. The strongest sonic boom pressure ever recorded was 33 pounds per square foot, measured on a mountain top, with the aircraft only 280 feet away.

Supersonic bombers are operational with the Strategic Air Command. They are flying regular subsonic practice missions all over the United States. Occasionally however, supersonic flights will be required, the sergeant said.

About 30 cities, many of them major metropolitan areas, will be used as targets in simulated bombing runs carried out at supersonic speeds.

The cities will be chosen for reasons that have to do with their terrain and climate and the physical characteristics of major structures, rivers, harbors and the like. It is not always the same thirty cities. In each practice target area there will be installed a Radar Bombing Scoring Site. The sites will be moved from city to city as SAC exercises necessitate. In most cases there will be ample notice to the public, via newspapers, radio and television, of impending exercises, he said. Sonic booms are characteristic of supersonic missions flown for realistic training, Dyment concluded. They are unavoidable. (B8

Aid Director Urges Educating Reliefers

(UPI) — Cook County Public Aid Director Raymond M. Hilliard said in Chicago Friday the cost of illiteracy will be disastrous unless able-bodied reliefers are taught to read and write and to earn a living.

"The functional illiterate cannot hope to hold a job in an economy which is automating simple factory skills beyond the reach of the person who does not possess simple literacy skills," Hilliard said. "Automation must not mean automatic unemployment."

HILLIARD RELEASED the results of a survey of 680 able-bodied adults aged 16 to 64 on relief. He said the survey, directed by Dr. Deton J. Brooks, showed that illiteracy and the lack of job training were major causes of the country's $16.5 million a month relief bill. More than 50 per cent were illiterate, he said.

The study also showed that the welfare problem in Illinois was not caused by an influx of out-of-staters, he said.

"This study, like the Greenleigh study and innumerable other studies of the relief rolls, again demonstrates that the problems of public welfare are not due to newcomers in the community but stem from unemployment and economic and technological displacement, and most important, from the lack of basic educational skills of relief recipients which are essential to compete in our modern society," Hilliard said.

HILLIARD SAID a "massive program of adult education" was essential. "Continued isolation of this growing group of persons (illiterates) and failure to solve the problems they present could mean the dissolution of our present society," he said. (B8

Builder Asks Reduction

Zoning Board Studies Request on Lot Sizes

The Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals Wednesday took under advisement a request from a Mount Prospect builder for a zoning variation to reduce lot sizes on 116 acres located in Wheeling Township.

In a public hearing held in the assembly room of the county board of commissioners, the zoning board took under consideration a petition from Mount Prospect Builder J. M Brickman for permitting the lot size variation on property located between Willow Road and Camp McDonald Road some 1870 feet west of Des Plaines River Road.

BRICKMAN asked a variation of the required 10,000 square foot lot down to 9,100 square feet. He also requested a 10 per cent reduction of the requirements for a 10-foot side yard and 15-foot corner side yard. The property in question is zoned R-4 single family residence. Attorney Robert Haskins represents the petitioner.

In other zoning matters taken under advisement by the zoning board:

—Ladye M. Gilbert, 1509 W. Dundee Road, Palatine, asked a lot size variation on 1.4 acres of land located on the southwest corner of Dundee Road and Portage Ave. in Palatine Township to construct a new building on grounds of an existing nursing home. He asked a variation from the required 40-foot front yard to 30 feet, the required 50-foot rear yard to 15 feet, and the required 18-foot side yard to 15 feet. The property is zoned R-4 single family residence. Attorney David Truninger represented the petitioner.

—John P. Chandler, 1006 N. Elmhurst Road, Prospect Heights, requested a variation of the required 15-foot side yard to 10 feet for construction of an attached garage. The property involved one half acre located on the west side of Elmhurst Road some 307 feet north of Glenbrook Drive in Wheeling Township. It is in an R3 single family residence district. Listed as agent was the Garden Construction Co.

—Clarence C. Fuhrman, Nerge Road, Roselle, requested a variation of the required 30 feet interior side yard to 12 feet in an R3 single family residence district for construction of an agricultural structure. The property in question consists of three acres located on the west side of Larson Lane about 1784 feet south of Nerge Road and 2200 feet east of Roselle Road in Schaumburg Township.

—Joseph J. Clements also petitioned for a zoning variation for construction of a garage attached to an existing single-family residence. He asked a variation of the required 15-foot side yard to 10 feet in an R3 single family residence district on .7 acres of land located on the east side of California Street 875 feet south of Kirchoff Road in Palatine Township. Tender Loving Care—That's Secret of Furniture Beauty

Tender Loving Care—that's the secret of perennial beauty in your personal appearance, your clothes and your furniture. The Home Furnishings Industry Committee suggests the following "TLC" hints to help keep your furniture in top condition.

Never place your fine woods where they'll be constantly subjected to heat, direct sunlight or open windows. Even when woods have been treated to resist almost anything, you are wise to always use hot dish pads. And storing extension leaves for the table in a cool dry place will avoid warping.

THERE ARE several ways to repair surface scratches and dents. Touch-up sticks, similar in appearance to crayon, can be bought in a variety of colors to blend with finishes. Some are referred to as putty sticks, or are in a tube with a paste consistency. Either of these can be purchased through a good paint store or a refinisher.

Iodine applied lightly with a fine brush can also serve the purpose. Keep in mind that the stain or dye will darken with age, so apply lighter than the finish of the furniture.

The Committee says deep dents and gashes should always be repaired professionally.

TO REMOVE white spots caused by hot or cold dishes, rub lightly with a flannel cloth dampened with spirits of camphor or essence of peppermint. Wait until dry before applying good wax or polish. Highly polished surfaces may grow foggy. Dip a clean cloth in a solution of vinegar and water (one tablespoon vinegar to one quart water) and rub with the grain until surface is dry.

Before cleaning upholstered pieces, always vacuum to remove as much dirt and dust as possible. With slipcovers, it is well to remove and vacuum twice a month.

If you are uncertain of the color fastness of the fabric, always apply your cleaning solution in an inconspicuous place first.

In general, most stains and soil spots on upholstery can be removed by noninflammable carbon tetrachloride.

DISSOLVE A neutral, nonalkaline soap in boiling water; add cold water to the paste and sti. until you have thick, dry suds. Scrub a small section of the fabric with the suds, working in a circular motion toward the center with a stiff bristle brush. Scrape off suds and rinse with a weak salt water solution applied with a soft rag.

When removing spots, never pour the cleaning solvent directly on the fabric; pour on a clean cloth. Remove excess cleaner with a blotter and sponge lightly with alcohol. And always avoid bleaching solvents.

Do not clean leather upholstery with furniture polishes. Use a mild soap and damp cloth. Rinse with second damp cloth and rub with a dry clean cloth.

Care should always be exercised in the use of cleaning solvents, for they can irritate skin and lungs. Always work in good ventilation.

Home Furnishings Industry Committee adds one last reminder—always read tags. Most manufacturers provide excellent instructions for the best care of their products. That coupled with common sense and lots of tender loving care will keep your furniture forever lovely (SS

Community Council Enriched by $400

A check for $400, representing the treasury of a defunct former community council, was presented to the new Arlington Heights Community Council at its meeting last Wednesday.

Don Hartman, president of the former council, made the presentation to Anthony Tomaso, head of the new group.

THE COUNCIL heard Tom Stewart, head of the Arlington Heights Area Combined Appeal, report on the progress of that effort. After hearing Stewart, the council voted to endorse the Combined Appeal.

Another report dealt with the possibility of a Teen Center for Arlington Heights. Several delegates to the council voiced enthusiasm about the idea.

A COMMITTEE will study the question and give an opinion to the next meeting.

Thirty-six local organizations were represented by delegates to last week's meeting. The purpose of the council, according to Tomaso, is to study proposed civic projects and either endorse or reject them. The council itself does not undertake the projects. (A

GOP Women's Tea

Candidate's Wife Is Vital Campaign Link

The candidate's lady and Judy O'Grady are sisters under the skin, runs the political paraphrase. They got together at the tea held on Thursday, Sept. 20, by the Wheeling Township Republican Women's Club.

The wife of a candidate has always borne an extra burden of responsibility for her household and her children during a political campaign, when frequent absences and a disrupted schedule are the rule for her husband.

These days, though, she is expected in addition to hit the campaign trail herself, with, or for, her husband.

ANY WIFE in this position could take as her model Mrs. Everett M. Dirksen, who was one of the guests of the tea. Her husband is seeking his third term in the U.S. Senate, where he is Republican minority leader.

Before his election to the Senate in 1950 he served eight consecutive terms in the House of Representatives from the 16th District of Illinois.

Mrs. Dirksen is charming, attractive, and well-dressed. She is informed and energetic. She is a wife, a mother, a devoted grandmother and a political "pro."

FOR MANY years she has taken an active part in her husband's campaigns. She can pack a station wagon with a minimum wardrobe, and a portable typewriter, and thus equipped can spend weeks on the road serving as her husband's driver and secretary.

In a brief talk to the Republican women who attended the tea, she described the problems she faced as the wife of an incumbent Senator.

On the one hand, she said, she wanted to be in Washington to look after her husband, and on the other she felt that she should be in Illinois to represent him when he cannot get away from his duties.

SHE TOUCHED on the heavy responsibilities carried by a Senator, who must be informed on a broad range of subjects in the national and international fields. He must be prepared to register his opinion with the knowledge that his vote may be a crucial factor in the welfare of the country.

Other candidates' wives who attended the tea included Mrs. Donald Rumsfeld, Glenview, whose husband is the Republican candidate for Congress from the 13th District; Mrs. William J. Scott, wife of the nominee for State Treasurer; and Mrs. Elroy Sandquist and Mrs. Richard Ogilvie, wives of the candidates for County offices as County Judge and Sheriff respectively.

The tea was held in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Hood, 604 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights. The chairmen were Mrs. Robert Elder, 1529 N. Ridge, Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Henry Korff, 309 S. Burton, Arlington Heights. (ACM

Democratic Candidates To Speak

Six leading candidates on the Democratic ticket for the November 6 general election will meet with Wheeling Township precinct captains Tuesday night.

Slated for the 8:30 p.m. meeting of the Regular Democratic Organization are County Assessor P. J. Cullerton, Judge Alphonse F. Wells, Judge George Quillici, County Treasurer Bernard J. Korzen, State Rep. Bernard Peskin, and Nicholas J. Melas, candidate for Metropolitan Sanitary District Trustee.

The meeting will be held at Democratic headquarters, 111 E. Davis St., Arlington Heights, and is open to the public, according to James Stavros, Wheeling Township Committeeman. (ACM

Arlington Vista Area

Dorothy Suder — CLearbrook 9-0571

Gold was the predominant color decoration at the Vito Galatis', 1818 E. Lilac, last Sunday. A gathering of 40 guests surrounded Vito's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Galiti Sr., of Chicago, to toast their 50th wedding anniversary. Relatives from Antioch, Hartford, Mich., and Chicago were present, including four great-grandchildren of the honored guests.

Birthday greetings go to Melinda Heath, 1838 Jonquil, and Cindy Reeves, 2030 E. Lilac, who were both 6 years old last Saturday.

Vista sympathy is extended to the Dr. George Reuters, 1806 E. Lilac, whose mother, Laura Ethel Reuter, 74, died last Thursday of a recently developed heart condition. Well known as "Mother Reuter," Vista residents will miss her neighborhood spirit of helping others. She was returned to her home town, Holden, Mo., for burial.

Cmdr. Creed Thomas, 1924 E. Jonquil, head of the Prospect Heights Annual Appeal, had his "kick-off" campaign meeting last Thursday. Twenty area captains attended and plans for the coming drive were discussed by the board members.

LOIS AND RAYMOND Kielack, 1709 E. Rosehill, were unusually active people late Saturday. Their day started with a dual birthday party for their youngsters, Donald, 6 and Diane, 4. After conducting games, serving refreshments and distributing favors, the Kielacks greeted their "sitter" and drove to Chicago. At the Shangri-La they celebrated their seventh wedding anniversary with the John Campbells who were celebrating their 15th wedding anniversary.

Plans sometimes do go "awry," which was the sorrowful case of Gene and Georgia McElyea, 1627 Jonquil. They had the Earl Speidels, Jefferson City, Mo., as houseguests, toured Chicago with them, and then left for Cape Girardeau, Mo., for a visit with Gene's folks. From there they drove to Bloomfield, Mo., to spend the balance of their vacation with Georgia's family. Georgia's mother, Mrs. Allen Parker, died while they were there. Vista sympathy is extended to all of the McElyea family.

Get well wishes go to Mae Dorband, 1903 E. Elmwood, and Carol Stafford, 2017 E. Lilac. Latest reports are that both ladies are recovering rapidly.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Bucket seats in automobiles, a fad which caught fire two seasons ago, have certain limitations according to a survey conducted by a major car producer.

According to the survey, 67 per cent of male first-daters and 58 per cent of the women nixed the idea of bucket seats in preference to the conventional bench-type seat. Of the couples going steady, only 15 per cent of the girls okayed 'em. Of the honeymooners, 21 per cent of the males and a slim 11 per cent of the females looked favorably on bucket seats.

All of which indicates, we suppose, that bucket seats are great for sporting but poor for courting!

If you're courting the idea of replacing the chipped and cracked auto glass you have picked up along the way, we propose that you see PALATINE PAINT & GLASS CO. We make insurance repairs and all work is guaranteed at PALATINE PAINT & GLASS CO., 9-11 N. Bothwell. Phone FL 9-0954.

News Of Prospect Meadows

Priscilla and George Carleu, 404 Larkdale, took Linda, Steven and Gregory to Brookfield Zoo on Sunday to see nature in all its autumn glory.

The Bill Vosburghs and the Lee McCamants of Larkdale and the Ken Larsons of Foundry have discovered a magic cure for "Fall Doldrums." They highly recommend the oncoming Harvest Hop at Old Orchard Country Club as a quick pick-me-up. As co-chairmen of the fall supper dance, they urge all Meadowites to attend.

Peg and Frank Czech spent a pleasant evening with the Ken Lerners of Chicago on Saturday, as did Carol and Roy Schaetzlein with the Richard Millers of Ottawa.

Rita and Chuck Durec recently visited the John Mikals in Elmhurst. The Durecs' guests on Friday were the Buzzie Busas of Elmhurst.

GUESTS OF Jim and Kay Wilson and Myrtle Stickrod, 628 Bunting, were the J. M. Stickrods of Skokie Saturday evening.

Also on Saturday, Rosemary and Bill Vosburgh, 419 Larkdale, dined and danced at the Martinique Restaurant in Evergreen Park.

Wednesday evening Priscilla Carleu entertained Lynn Head, Sue Wilson, Kay Rateike, Diane O'Connor, Charlene Hampe, Joan McCamant, Marge Reynolds, Ruth Larson, and Rosemary Vosburgh of the Meadows and Fern Waldron and Lois Hearl, former Meadowites, now living in Arlington Heights.

Program chairman of the women's auxiliary has announced that a fascinating evening is ahead for the women for the Sept. 27 meeting. She plans to show colored motion pictures taken at the recent Community Fair.

A wonderful old Southern Illinois dinner was revived on Saturday night by the Bill Maisles of Oriole Lane. They threw a "Burgoo" party for the Jim Greists, Tom Heinzes, Ray Seebers and the Maisels' daughter and her husband, Carol and Marshall Crane of Indiana, and Marshall's parents, the Cranes of Arlington Heights. All the author knows is that the concoction has to be stirred with a wooden spoon.

Gail Webber and Bill Appleby of Bob-o-link played in the annual golf tournament at the Golden Acres Country Club in Roselle on Sunday. (AM

"What can I take apart?" asks Baby Matthew. With him are the refrigerator, toaster, food mixer, roaster, coffeemaker, can opener, knife sharpener, meat slicer, fry pan, hot dog cooker, hand mixer, disposer, 2 shavers, blender (behind Matthew).

Young Brad enjoys results from the ice cream maker. Under him a 21 cu. ft. freezer, 2 TV sets, hair dryer, stereo hi-fi, wall heater, drill, pump motor, electric scissors, fire starter, light bulbs: 75-watt (10), 25-watt (13), 100-watt (16), 3-way (50-100-200-watt)—4, and 3 fluorescents—30, 20, 15-watt.

Mr. Robert Bettenhausen poses atop the color TV set, along with an air conditioner, sewing machine, electric blanket, bottle warmer, phonograph, hair clippers, projector, radio, 2 heat pads, vacuum, and tree lights.

Little Bill reports:

46¢ worth of electricity a day

runs all these appliances for the Bettenhausens

Most folks are mighty surprised at the number of electric helpers they own. The Bettenhausens were. They now have many more electrical appliances than they started with and are actually using about three times as much electricity. But the Bettenhausens, like all of us, are paying less for it per kilowatt hour than they did years ago. One reason for this is the Power Grid System which connects our power lines with companies in thirty-two other states.

With this system we can often buy (or sell) power at advantageous rates which helps keep the price you pay down.

That's another reason why it costs so little to live better electrically today!

The R. Bettenhausens live in Tinley Park, Ill. Average cost of their electricity was computed by adding their electric bills for last year, Sept. 7, 1960, to Sept. 7, 1961, and dividing by 365 days. Naturally, costs vary according to a family's living habits.

Tax Revision Is Subject Of Randhurst PTA Meeting

The Randhurst Council of PTA's will hold its first meeting of the year in Lincoln School 700 W. Lincoln, Mount Prospect, tonight Sept. 27 at 8 p.m.

Designed to give PTA leaders and members more information concerning the tax revision in the state of Illinois, the program will be devoted to a panel discussion of the state income tax.

Council President Mrs. Charles Nelson says, "Although the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers has supported the idea of a state income tax in its legislative platform for several years, it sometimes comes as a shock to members of local units. This meeting was planned to present the reasons for the Illinois Congress' support, and by doing so, to help everyone understand the issue better."

THE STATE PTA consistently works for increased financial aid to schools. As a part of this program the state unit has supported a state income tax.

Supplying the answers to the question will be Dr. Edward H. Stullken, Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers' state legislation chairman; Wayne Stoneking of the Illinois Education Association and Mrs. Howard Harshbarger from the Illinois Agriculture Association.

These two organizations also support a state income tax in their legislative platforms as a new source of revenue.

This meeting is open, as are all Randhurst Council meetings, to the entire PTA membership and the general public. Ample time will be allowed for questions from the floor.

Report Relationship Of Cigarette, Cancer

by TEDD C. DETERMAN
United Press International

(UPI) — "If people would stop smoking cigarettes, we would wipe out three-fourths of cancer of the lung within 20 years," a national authority on cancer said in Chicago this week.

Warren H. Cole, M.D., professor of surgery at the University of Illinois and a former president of the American Cancer society, made the statement in a speech before a lay group at the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry.

Over 38,000 people died of the disease last year, he said.

Since 1950, Dr. Coles stated, 24 different studies were made on the relationship of lung cancer to cigarette smoking. Every study reached the same conclusion, he said, that "there is a very sharp relationship between cigarette smoking and cancer of the lungs."

IN THE OVER-ALL field, he said, "great strides in the discovery and cure of cancer have been made in the past 15 years."

But he stressed that cancer cures depend on the patients quick reaction to the danger signals.

"It depends on you," he said, "If you remember the danger signs of cancer and get to the doctor early, there is a very high rate of cure."

He said the disease, in its different forms, is treated now by surgery, radiation, drugs, hormones, viruses, and immunological factors.

For example, he said, 95 per cent of lip and skin cancer is cured by radiation or X-ray, while 50 to 60 per cent of cancer of the colon, rectum and stomach which are operable are cured by surgery alone and respond poorly to radiation.

In women, he said, cancers of the breast and cervix are the most frequent, while lung cancer is the most prevalent type in men.

Speaking of cancer of the colon, he said: "Over 35 per cent of our patients are inoperable at the time a cancer is reported. A recent survey showed there is a delay of 11 months between the onset of symptoms and reporting to a doctor."

The doctor indicated that the above statistics "probably apply to other forms of internal cancer, also."

HE ATTRIBUTED "patient procrastination" to the mild symptoms of cancer, which mislead cancer victims. "They think it will go away in a week or two, so they do nothing about it," he said.

The doctors remarked that scientists now have good evidence that virus or virus-like agents were the cause of some animal cancers but that there is no definite information indicating that viruses are the cause of human cancer.

What can be done to stop cancer?

"We need a lot more scientists and a lot more money," Dr. Coles said. "Each experiment costs a lot, but then, nothing is more valuable than life."

Communications Lag between Applied, Basic Science Told

(UPI) — There is a communications lag between basic researchers and those who apply it and this is one of the most serious problems facing U.S. scientists, Asst. Commerce Secretary J. Herbert Hollomon said in Chicago Monday.

Hollomon, who heads the commerce department's science and technology division, spoke at a testimonial dinner for Dr. Frederick Seitz, president of the National Academy of Sciences.

"Communication of a scientific discovery . . . is more rapid throughout the international scientific community than it is between the scientist and those . . who have the job of applying it," he said.

He said that Japan and the Soviet Union, in the past took little part in basic research, but developed complex technologies by quickly applying the discoveries made elsewhere.

"THE CRUCIAL problem for the United States is to develop the capability to apply . . . research more effectively, more thoroughly and more quickly," he said.

Hollomon said it took 27 years to get the common zipper from the inventive to the marketable stage; 22 years for television; 13 years for radar; nine years for the safety razor and six years for the ball point pen.

He urged the streamlining of the entire process of dissemination of scientific and technical information. "We must find out what information industry needs and can profitably use and how to get that information to industry quickly and conveniently."

ANOTHER SPEAKER, Gov. Otto Kerner, of Illinois, called for establishment of "a bridge uniting" the Midwest's universities with "the mightiest concentration of productive power in the nation."

He said the Midwest cannot any longer "prudently afford to suffer the great and continued drain on our resources of scientific manpower" produced by concentration of federal research and development spending on the East and West coasts "and now the South."

"Though the Midwest accounts for some two-thirds of the Ph. D's in science, we keep precious few of them," Kerner said. "It is flattering to produce the nation's brains, but it would be more sensible to keep them."

Offers Bear Drink, Gets 100 Stitches

RACINE, WIS., (UPI) — It cost Gilbert Galvan, 29, Winthrop Harbor, Ill., $25 and 100 stitches in his hand because he offered a bear a drink.

Galvan was fined in Racine County Court after pleading guilty to a charge of intoxication.

Authorities said Galvan told them he had been drinking in South Milwaukee last Sunday and then went to the Racine Zoo.

"I OFFERED the bear in the cage a drink and he took my hand," said Galvan. "I broke loose by putting my feet against the bars and walked to the hospital."

The arrest was made after the hospital reported the incident to police. (A14

Say, "I feel WELL," not, "I feel GOOD." To feel GOOD means to feel virtuous.

Do not say, "It is better than a week since I talked to him." Say, "It HAS BEEN MORE THAN a week since I talked WITH him."

Avoid the use of AS MUCH in the sense of SO or THIS, as in the expressions, "I though as much," or, "He admited as much." "Instead say, I though SO," and, "He admitted THIS."

Rumsfeld Speaks on Progress of Strike

Donald Rumsfeld, Republican candidate for Congress in the 13th District, this week pointed to the "two faces" of the Democratic administration in its approach to the Chicago and North Western Railway strike.

Addressing guests at a coffee in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Urbain, 66 Warwick Lane, Schaumburg, Rumsfeld declared:

"We have heard much talk from President Kennedy about the need for sacrificing personal welfare to the public good. The attempt of the steel industry to raise its prices unleashed an attack from the White House and the Justice Department of unprecedented intensity.

"BUT WHILE the weeds are growing on the North Western tracks, and workers are idled by the North Western strike, there has been no intensive effort made to rectify the situation.

"The administration goes in for shadow-boxing when labor thumbs its nose at reports of fact-finding boards, but bare knuckles are the rule when business or professional people dare to voice any objections to the policies of the national administration.

"It is high time that the Democratic administration and big labor recognize that public responsibility applies to everyone," Rumsfeld declared.

THE NORTH Western Railway strike has affected directly 70,000 commuters, many of them residents of the 13th District.

"This strike not only created personal hardship for these people, but also contributed to even greater traffic jams on highways and expressways leading to Chicago.

"It aggravated the economic pains of the entire Midwestern area. Farmers and businessmen have been hurt. Workers have been laid off from industry. Businesses have found themselves hampered in their operations by the long strike.

"IT IS NOT only the commuter or the businessman who has a stake in the operation of the North Western railroad; the members of the railroad unions have certainly won a Pyrrhic victory by closing down the North Western."

Other appearances by Rumsfeld in the western townships include the dinner for Thomas J. Houser, Wheeling Township Republican committeeman this Friday at the Villa Venice.

On Saturday, Sept. 29, he will be at the opening of the Barrington Township Republican headquarters, at 4 p.m., and at the Palatine Township Republican organization's dance at the Plum Grove Country Club.

His schedule of informal coffees includes one at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bond in Weathersfield, Sept. 30.

ON OCT. 2 he will be a guest at the dinner of the Hanover Township Republican Organization, and then will go on to Elgin to address a gathering at the Lewis Trabert Mink Farm, Elgin.

Beginning Oct. 1, Rumsfeld will make the rounds of the railroad station platforms in the 13th District. Commuters arriving for their trains will find an early-rising candidate there to shake their hands and answer their questions.

Volunteer activities throughout the district are being stepped up as the election approaches. Anyone who is interested in doorbell ringing, clerical work, telephoning, or other activities are asked to call Novotny, CL 5-3494, Arlington Heights. Novotny is chairman of the Rumsfeld committee in the six western townships. (B8

IN THE SANDWICH LINE at the meeting of the Wheeling Township Regular Republican Club, Thursday, Sept. 20, were (l. to r.) Mrs. Donald Bunton, Arlington Heights; Mrs. William Andrew, Prospect Heights; Congressional candidate Donald Rumsfeld; and Arlington Heights Village President John G. Woods. Mrs. Bunton and Mrs. Andrew are local chairmen of the Rumsfeld for Congress Committee. (B-8

The stunts, skits, and ceremonies section will be led by James Houldsworth, 2802 Hawk Lane, Rolling Meadows, and the Signal Hill District.

The afternoon opens at 1:30 p.m. with a fun-midway. Each pack of the Maine Ridge District led by Jules Stachowski, 2301 Farrell, Park Ridge, will present a different game.

The Sections start at 2 p.m. and run through 4 p.m. Then a Blue and Gold party will be staged by Pack 94 of the Twinbrook PTA, Hoffman Estates, led by Arthur J. Grant, 407 Hawthorne Lane, Hoffman Estates. At 5 p.m. this year's Pow Wow ends and 500 adults will leave with the "know how" and "will to do" for another fun-filled year of Cubbing. (B8

LION TWISTER of the Palatine Lions Club receives the stolen lion from Editor Stuart Paddock, in whose custody the Lion bank had been sitting since the last dinner meeting. The Twister blamed the officers seated at the head table where he had temporarily placed the Lion for the dastardly deed. He said, "I am going to inflict double fines on each and every one of them at the next meeting. I consider them as co-conspirators. Perhaps they consider this as an initiation for the new Lion-twister but they are going to pay for it."

Rosh Hashono

Jews to Observe High Holy Days

The most sacred period for Jews throughout the world, the High Holy Days, marking the beginning of a new year, will begin at sundown Friday with the observance of Rosh Hashono.

The solemn Holy Day ushers in the Jewish calendar year of 5723.

Beth Tikvah Congregation will hold its High Holy Days services at the Arlington Park Chapel. Rosh Hashono Eve will be observed Friday at 9 p.m. and Rosh Hashono Day on Saturday at 10 a.m.

Yom Kippur Eve (Kol Nidre) will be observed on Sunday, Oct. 7, at 8 p.m.; Yom Kippur Morning service on Monday, Oct. 8, at 10 a.m. and Yom Kippur Afternoon service at 3 p.m.

In addition, a special Rosh Hashono children's service will be held Saturday, Sept. 29, at 3 p.m. and a children's Yom Kippur Service on Monday, Oct. 8, at 1: 30 p.m.

RABBI HILLEL Gamoran and Cantor Robert Stein will conduct the services. Other participants will be Melvin Abrams, David Alter, Abraham Bernstein, Lester Bernstein, Harold Blechman, Merwyn Dan, Jack Dauber, Hyman DeWoskin, Melvin Feldman, Michael Finn, Al Gluck, Ralph Gold, Joseph Hauptman, David Hillman, Mrs. Jack Matin, Joel Meyer, Herschel Oliff, Seymour Pearlman, Elliott Rosenberg, Samuel Sakansky, Stanley Samuels, and Marvin Zamutt.

The Junior High School Youth Group, known as the Temple Tweens, will assist the Rabbi and Cantor in conducting the children's services. Participants will be Sheryl Alter, Judy Blechman, Marshall Chanzit, Lewis Dauber, Dennis Florence, Sharon Grossman, Gayle Kaplan, Beverly Marcus, Gregg Minkoff, Philip Samuels, Janice Schechter, Laurie Silver, Larry Stein and Gary Tolman.

Rosh Hashono inaugurates a 10-day period of spiritual self-analysis and prayer, climaxed by the observance of the 10th day, Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement.

Orthodox and Conservative Jews observe Rosh Hashono for two days; Reform Jews for one. Services at temples and synagogues will include the call to conscience with the blowing of the ancient shofar (ram's horn) as a reminder to worshippers that the time has arrived to reflect on past deeds and to contemplate a better life in the year ahead.

In the prayers of the service the Jewish congregants reevaluate their own lives and reinterpret God's commandments in more positive ways for the coming year.

AT HOME, the Holy Days take on a symbolic meaning for the family as they dip a piece of apple or bread into honey with a prayer that the year ahead will be sweet and blessed.

Anyone having questions concerning the High Holy Days services should contact Ralph Kaplan or Samuel Sakansky.

Single family homes decreased 13 per cent resulting in a 13-year low while apartments were down 19 per cent.

Permits were issued for 2,171 homes in the six-county area compared with 2,493 last year. The suburbs dropped eight per cent to 1,366 from 1,479 last year and unincorporated areas declined 24 per cent to 476 homes from 626 last year.

APARTMENTS fell from 1,583 in August of 1961 to 1,286 last month. In spite of this decline, permits for apartments were still the third highest volume for the month of August since the end of World War II.

In the suburbs, the decline in apartment building was 20 per cent from 896 to 719. In the unincorporated area, there were 64 permits while none were "reported" last year.

August permits for building of all types, including residential, commercial and industrial, totaled $94,649,995 — a 10 per cent drop from August, 1961, when the total was $104,297,892.

A breakdown of area building follows:

Q. Upon being introduced to Miss Carter for the second time, is it proper to say, "I know Miss Carter"?

A. This would seem to sound as if it were too much trouble to make a second acknowledgment. Much better to say, "I have already had the pleasure of meeting Miss Carter."

A four-day series of 12 teacher workshops throughout the state has been scheduled by the Illinois High School and College Driver Education Association from Oct. 1 through the fourth.

William T. McBay of Glenbrook, Northbrook, is the chairman of the 1962 state-wide workshop programs. Participants may contact McBay or David Stanhouse, the association's president, for further information. Stanhouse can be reached at Carmi (Ill.) High School.

The Chicago area workshop location has not been selected as yet. Inquiries about this session should be directed to Frank Svarc, Safety Education Section, Chicago Board of Education, 228 N. LaSalle St., Chicago. (A14

'Credit' Cards: Common Use and Abuse

THIS TYPICAL WALLET reveals a large array of credit cards, which have become a standard possession of the rising young salesman or business executive.

Junior Execs Live on 'Em?

by BOB CUMMINS

The typical young junior executive who calls Suburbia his home may have a wallet that is rather thin at times, as far as money goes.

But he is apt to have something that talks like money and makes his wallet bulge: credit cards.

It is all part of the great American fashion of "buy now, pay later."

Almost anything can be bought today with a credit card. It can serve the Aladdin who possesses it from breakfast to bed, and all the stops in between.

The story is told of one bold young man without money or scruples who went around the world on a credit card.

Perhaps of all the industries who issue credit cards, none depends on them more than the gasoline industry.

ALTHOUGH the companies keep their sales statistics secret from their competitors, there are none who will deny that credit card sales are a large part of the gasoline business.

There are literally millions of credit cards issued by the oil companies.

As one oil firm spokesman noted, "Some families need as many as five of them, for husband, wife and three kids of driving age."

These credit cards had a very modest beginning.

The gas companies began issuing them in the 1930's. Their purpose was not to boost sales, but rather to offer a courtesy to people important to the company. They were essentially "courtesy cards."

"There certainly has been a gigantic expansion of this original conception," noted Clyde Kennedy, who is a security representative for the American and Standard Oil companies in the Chicago area.

KENNEDY IS in charge of the task of coping with lost, stolen, or misused credit cards, the big headaches in the credit card business.

Kennedy says that credit card crooks almost always have some criminal record. And, as is the case with most criminals, they follow certain habits or patterns of behavior that sooner or later lead to their undoing.

Kennedy says it is important for persons whose credit card is lost or stolen to notify the issuing company immediately in writing. Of course, if theft is suspected, the police should be told, also.

American and Standard companies provide their dealers with lists of the credit cards that are lost, stolen or misused. To encourage their dealers to consult the list, the companies offer them a reward for each "bad" card that they spot and turn in. The reward program has been a success, Kennedy reported.

CREDIT CARD crooks are becoming more and more organized, Kennedy said.

He cited a recent case of a man who got a credit card from a bartender. Presumably the card was lost in the bar, or taken from a tipsy customer. The man used it to buy tires and other automotive supplies. The bartender sold the goods, and the two of them split the "loot."

"As the credit card crooks get more organized, we are getting more organized too," Kennedy said.

Credit cards are beginning to make an appearance at hospitals. For example, Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, issues what it calls a courtesy card.

THE POSSESSOR of the "courtesy card" does not have to clear himself at the ubiquitous hospital cashier's window as ordinary sufferers do. In effect, the courtesy card is a credit card.

Among the few holdouts from the credit card lure are chain supermarkets, but according to one spokesman, they have given it some thought!

William Coy, 1518 Ridge Ave., Arlington Heights, of the accounting department of Kroger's, said, "The idea has been thought over. Supermarkets have not adopted it, however, because of their small margin of profit. The profit on each dollar of sales is too slender to support a credit aparatus."

A spokesman for the sales department of the Chicago region of A & P noted that his company's business had been built on cash operations, and it was highly unlikely that it would change.

THE CREDIT card business, like every phenomenon that catches on and flourishes, has had its side effects. One of them is on the card printing business.

Ballantyne International Manufacturing Corp., 340 W. Huron, Chicago, is one of the five biggest printers of credit cards in the United States.

However, according to Louis G. Ballantyne, president, many of its recent orders haven't been for credit cards at all, but for membership cards.

The organizations that placed the orders want to take advantage of all the safeguards that have been devised for credit cards!

So the Ballantyne firm, for example, has printed tamper-proof cards for persons entitled to use the cafeteria facilities of the First National Bank, for members in good standing of the Chicago Truck Drivers, Chauffeurs and Helpers Union, and other similar organizations.

WHAT DOES a typical credit card user say about this "plastic money?"

Roscoe Bates is a rising young executive transferred to the Chicago area from Pittsburgh. When he stopped at Paddock Publications to place a "house wanted" ad, we got some ideas from him. He has nine different credit cards.

"Credit cards counteract a feeling of insecurity," Bates said. "Some people frequently feel their pocket or check their wallet to reassure themselves that they have funds. With credit cards, they need not worry."

"Gasoline credit cards are most practical to use," Bates continued. "They enable businessmen to keep an accurate record of expenses for income tax purposes. They help the tourist travel without carrying large sums of money. The same holds true of this American Express credit card where hotel, motel, restaurants, and even gifts can be paid for via the card."

Do people spend more with the cards? Bates answered, "From personal experience, I would say people tend to spend more when they don't have to hand over the cash on the spot."

HE CONTINUED: "There is also a prestige or ego factor in credit cards. For example, I think American Express is much higher prestige-wise than Diner's Club, because they are stricter in issuing them. So when I have a choice of which to use in a restaurant, I use my American Express."

Such are the thoughts of one credit card user. (A-14

Q. What do you suggest as rules of good taste for a business girl who smokes at her office?

A. Above all, she should be tidy about it. Empty the ashtray frequently. Don't work with a cigarette hanging out of the mouth, and never carry one with you when you go into the boss' office to take dictation.

Q. When a host does the carving at the dinner table, does he serve the vegetables as well?

A. Usually he serves only the meat. The vegetable dishes are passed from hand to hand.

Q. My dog recently jumped on the lap of a woman guest and caused her to spill coffee over her dress. Should I have her dress cleaned for her?

A. You most certainly should.

'WAY BACK WHEN'

Compiled by Mrs. G. Rex Volz — Phone CLearbrook 5-9078

Way Back When for Sept. 28

Way Back When received this week a copy of the Arlington Heights Herald, dated April 4, 1936 which contained an article, entitled "A Romance of Elk Grove—Its Early History and Early Settlers."

It could not have arrived at a more opportune time. It was originally written by the late G. Rex Volz, who was a division superintendent of Cook County Forest Preserve. His wife, Mrs. Louella Volz, who is editor of Way Back When, is in a hospital and unable to provide the usual installment of historical items from the newspaper's microfilm files. Thus it is that the story of Elk Grove written by her husband 26 years ago will be pinch hitting for Mrs. Volz. (The article is being published in two installments.)

"To my mind there is no spot on this continent that is so filled with romance as is Northern Illinois, and particularly Cook County. In the short space of a century, this county has seen the virtual extinction of a glorious race of people—the American Indian, the passing of their primitive civilization, and finally the moulding of a great metropolitan area on the shore of Lake Michigan, which is recognized as one of the greatest commercial centers in the world.

"ABOUT ONE hundred years ago Cook County was in the absolute possession of the Indians, with the exception of a tract of land six miles square at the mouth of the Chicago River, and to the west a land grant 20 miles wide, between Chicago and Ottawa. In the early days, preceding 1800, we find that Chicago and Cook County was a gateway for the Indian tribes from all directions. The early French explorers as well as the Indians came to Chicago by way of the Great Lakes. At that time there were two water courses open by which those traveling from the north and northeast might reach the Mississippi River. If they chose to follow the eastern shore of Lake Michigan they entered at the St. Joseph to the Calumet, from the Calumet to the Wabash, from the Wabash to the Ohio and thence to the Mississippi. If they elected to come by way of Chicago they followed the north branch of the Chicago River to a portage which is today known as 'The Grove,' located on Milwaukee Avenue just north of Glenview Road.

"The distance across this portage to the Des Plaines River was approximately four miles. Travelers then followed the Des Plaines to the Illinois, thence to the Mississippi. In 1818 when Illinois was admitted to the Union, there were three tribes of Indians occupying the northeastern part of the state, the Pottawatomies, the Ottawas, and the Chippewas. The period between 1818 and 1831 (the year in which Cook County was established) saw the gradual retreat of the Indian as a result of treaty negotiations, and an increase in the number of whites in this new county. In 1833, Chicago came into being as a town, with 28 qualified voters. The friction with Indian tribes having been virtually eliminated, confidence was very much in evidence, and the year 1834 saw an influx of emigrants from the east.

"ELK GROVE, it is said, was so named by the Indians. It lies mainly east of Salt Creek, on sections 16, 17, 20 and 21, and contains about 1,300 acres of very fine hardwood timber. The varieties to be found are the white, red and burr oak, maple, hickory, and some basswood. When the early settlers found this beautiful grove it was inhabited by the Pottawatomi Indians. Many trees were found that measured 4½ ft. in diameter. The boundary lines of this timber land have remained practically as they were. The growth of timber is perhaps heavier than it was at that time, due to the growth of underbrush and second timber growth, but at the present time you will have difficulty in finding trees greater than 2½ ft. in diameter.

"Let us, for a moment, lose ourselves in that great realm of infinity. Picture, if you can, the Yankee working on the rocky and wooded hills of the east trying to make a living on this almost wornout soil. He hears about this wonderful new prairie land with its fertile soil, and with courage to face the future, he decides to give up the old homestead and travel west toward the setting sun. Can you see a small group of sturdy young men and women wending their way over the trails with ox teams and wagons, from the Vermont hills to Chicago, the gateway of the west? When they arrived they found a few log cabins on the shore of a muddy stream that drained to immense sloughs, and for some distance surrounding saw nothing but low slough land with a black loam covering. They must have been somewhat disappointed as they had been taught that land which did not produce timber must be worthless.

"FROM THIS point on, I would like to give you the story word for word as related by the first white woman that settled in Elk Grove, Mrs. Joseph A. Barnes. These words which I am about to quote were spoken by her at an old settlers' reunion in Elk Grove some years ago:

"In the month of February 1834, Dr. Miner, Mr. Barnes, and two young men from the Wabash, Fenton and Shelby by name, came out from Chicago together, and made them each a claim on the east side of the Grove; then returned to Chicago. In the month of March following, Mr. Barnes and myself came to the Grove to build us a cabin; Dr. Miner and two of his boys came with us; we started on the 24th of the month with a span of horses and a wagon.

"The Doctor and the two boys drove a yoke of oxen and about a dozen pigs; we stopped that night with Father Walker, on the Des Plaines River. We had not been there more than half an hour when one of our horses died, so the next morning there was no other alternative but to put the oxen on the wagon to proceed on our journey; we did so, and as they had had poor fare through the winter, they were in not very good condition to perform the task put upon them, and the result was, when we got about half way to the Grove, one of them tired out so that he laid down and refused to go on; but by giving him an ear or two of corn and letting him rest awhile, he was coaxed to get up by showing him another ear of corn; and then one went before and carried the ear of corn in his sight, and he would pull for the corn, and in that way we got across the prairie in the course of the day and arrived at the Grove a little before sundown.

"The doctor had taken the horse and gone on ahead to prepare for our arrival, so as we neared the Grove we saw him on horse back with a brand of fire smoking, which he had been to an Indian wigwam after, and by the time he got to where we were going to camp it was very near extinguished, so it took some time to kindle from it. Perhaps you will inquire why we did not carry matches with us, but that was before the day of matches. The next day the doctor and the boys returned to Chicago and took the horse and wagon with them. Mr. Collins came out to help roll up the log cabin. It took them two weeks to cut the logs, draw them together, roll them up, split out the puncheons, for the floor, and rive the shingles for the roof, build the chimney of mud and sticks, and at the end of the two weeks we had a house all ready to occupy which was built without a board or a nail. The doctor was to come for us in three weeks, but before that time our provisions gave out and we were making preparations to foot it to Chicago, when three men came out on horse back claim hunting. They stayed with us overnight and then the next day I rode behind one of them into town; we then stayed in town three weeks. At the end of that time we loaded a few household effects onto a hayrack with four yoke of oxen, prairie plows and other farming implements, and set our faces for the Grove to make a permanent settlement."

Coming in October

Paddock's Supplement Brings 'Round Table'

What are you doing to beautify your town?

This is the question asked the editors of suburban newspapers around the country, and you may be surprised at their answers when the October edition of Paddock Publications brings you the next issue of "Suburbia Today."

From Hatboro, Pa., to Bellevue, Wash., came reports in this month's Round Table, of every type of town improvement beginning with flower boxes along Main Street and going on to community-wide projects that take up to 10 per cent of the annual budget.

The survey proves that people in the suburbs are saying — in deeds as well as in words — we found beauty here and we're going to keep it that way.

THE REPORTS include two from the northwest suburbs, Mount Prospect and Rolling Meadows.

Sloan Wilson, creater of "The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit," looks at his stereotype seven years later and finds there's been a change. That driven young man, with his gray flannel and the rat race that went along with it, has grown older and, hopefully wiser.

He has stopped trying to keep up with the Joneses and instead is devoting himself to extension courses, fine recordings, and books that aren't even on the best-seller lists.

In "Look What's Happened to the Man in the Gray Flannel Suit!" you'll learn the reasons behind this change.

ON THE LIGHTER side of suburban living, there's humorist Al Brown's ABC primer for the suburbs — "From Agent to Zoning."

Brown, after years of local tax paying, is eminently qualified to spoof the land bordered by crab grass, and he offers his own hilarious definitions for all the special words in the suburbanite's dictionary.

Did you know, for instance, that a Commuter is a "drone who travels daily to and from the hive and takes orders from the queen bee"?

FAMOUS AUTHOR Elizabeth Bowen picks the month of Halloween to tell a short story with a touch of the supernatural. In "Count on Us," she sets the scene in an ordinary (or is it?) suburban house outside London and writes about one night in the life of an attractive girl named Katie. It all begins strangely enough — but wait until you get to the end.

Highlights of designer Clare Potter's fall collection are shown in "Fashions in the Making." We went right to Mrs. Potter's workroom — a converted stable in West Nyack, N. Y. — and photographed a suave three-piece suit of wool tweed; a claret wool jersey town-and-county dress; and two elegant long skirts — one in bengaline, the other in velvet — that are perfect for chilly evenings.

Mrs. Potter proves, once again, that she knows just what the woman in the suburbs ought to wear — after all, she is one.

STILL HAVE two weeks' vacation saved up? Try a "Windjammer Holiday" for a relaxing 10-day cruise along the warm Bahamas. You'll sail in style in the schooners "Mandalay" and "Polynesia" and cover more than 500 miles at seat while hopscotching between seven coral isles off Florida's east coast.

You can sunbathe, skin dive, fish . . . even help the crew hoist the sails. And the price — from $175 to $300 depending on accommodations — covers food and liquor, and while you're in port the ship is your hotel.

"There's something about pasta" says Food Editor Melanie DeProft as she presents mouthwatering dishes to satisfy hearty October appetites, all featuring noodles — in their various forms — as the staple.

A message from the Treasury of a free people

How to help give a new birth to freedom

Sometimes it's not easy to recognize a message of freedom.

In September, 1787, the framers of the U. S. Constitution released it to the States for ratification. Two States ok'd the document in a few weeks.

But it took until May, 1790—three years later—before the new nation was in accord on its basic law.

One of the strongest documents for freedom available to you today is a United States Savings Bond.

By buying Savings Bonds you help build peace-keeping machinery. You help keep the wheels of our government turning smoothly. You help carry the message of freedom to hopeful people all over the world.

At the same time, your Bond money grows fast to increase your living standard and personal security—a goal that free people seem to have a knack for reaching.

All of which points pretty strongly to buying Savings Bonds today—at your bank or on the payroll savings plan where you work.

(Of course the decision is wholly up to you . . . another nice thing about being free.)

Keep freedom in your future with

by BETTY AINSLIE

I really never realized that we women were that important. Well, important enough to write books about — books that are supposed to figure out just what makes us tick and why; books that are supposed to answer our problems and figure out just what we'll be doing in the future.

I never thought two of us were alike but evidently this is a good field as Arlington Heights Memorial Library has a number of books on just the subject of women.

One author sets for himself the lofty goal of bringing the sexes closer together with his book. They might be curious enough to read through one or two to see if they agree with the author on what makes us so unpredictable.

SINCE THE book by H. L. Mencken was published in 1917 called "In Defense of Women" a number of writers have been curdling their brains to discover just how come women manage to be such a puzzling enigma. But it looks like we're here to stay, and if you're interested in reading a bit of thought-provoking literature about yourself you gals might enjoy one of the following.

A new book just out and bound to cause comment is "American Women: The Changing Image" edited by Beverly Cassara. This book has the contributions of 11 distinguished women each speaking from their own experience and expressing frank opinions. For example, several declare that the struggle for women's rights is still very much with us and in some areas we girls are actually losing ground.

This book offers many answers to questions. With 250,000 married women returning to work every year, the pressure to eliminate professional prejudice against women grows stronger. We seem to be causing a constant problem by holding down as well paying jobs as men, but underneath it all are we happy?

"THESE WERE the Women," by Mary Whitton, is an amusing and enlightening review of women's role in the development of American civilization.

Thumb-nail sketches of all sorts of women from Mary Washington to female abolitionists are told in story form. Travel books, diaries and old letters make up this fascinating record which makes the book read like a novel and all the more interesting because it is true.

Ardis Whitman has written "How To Be Happy with Women." Supposed to help women realize how good it is to be alive in the 20th century, how to gain new confidence in the atomic age, how to have fun with families, how to conquer worry and fear, how to budget time, and how to get a man. So heck, what other questions are there?

"The Natural Superiority of Women" by Ashley-Montague sounds like an interesting one for us to read if we feel a trifle inferior to the male. This book contrasts the female with the male to the plus side for us gals. This author takes myths about women and sets out the facts. And as Pop says picking up the book and reading the title "Who wrote this myth?"

Helen Sherman and Marjorie Coe have collaborated on a book called "The Challenge of Being a Woman." This is full of sane advice for the woman who wants emotional and intellectual prob- help in solving the everyday lems that arise in the family. Part of the book describes how a woman can also be a successful mother and enjoy her children.

"GET THE MOST Out of Your Best Years," by Maxine Davis, is written in the interesting magazine feature style for easy reading. This book can help any woman in her middle years be aware that for her this is the best of life. The book is filled with people who have solved their problems.

"Why Women Cry," by Elizabeth Hawes, is a hilarious book written a number of years back, but it can't be beat for a description of the almost forgotten war-plant working wife.

If you like history, you'll enjoy a book called "The Elizabethan Woman" by Carroll Camden. This is a thorough research job about the new woman who was an impotant part of the Reformation.

"How To Be A Successful Widow" is by Louis Zalk. Who wants to be? But this book goes into the financial and legal aspect which puzzles a woman and offers practical advice to all who might be now facing this problem. (A

Renew Friendship

Young Interpreter, Minister Reunited

DR. PAUL LOUIS STUMPF, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Arlington Heights, welcomes Hiromi Morioka, Japanese student now at McCormick Seminary in Chicago, who served as his interpreter and companion during missionary stay in Osaka, Japan, five years ago. (A

Dr. Paul Louis Stumpf, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights, recently welcomed and introduced to his congregation a young Japanese who served him five years ago as interpreter and who, the pastor says, "is like a son to me."

The young man, Hiromi Morioka, grandson of a Shinto priest and the only member of his family to embrace the Christian faith, was presented to the congregations at each of the worship services, Sunday, Sept. 16.

Dr. Stumpf and his "son" met in Osaka, Japan, where the minister spent the summer of 1957 on a special missionary job. Morioka, then 21 and a senior in Shikoku University, was Dr. Stumpf's ever-present companion as well as his interpreter.

WHEN THE minister became ill and was hospitalized, his new-found friend was in constant and worried attendance upon "Sensei" - a Japanese title of respect meaning "teacher" or "wise one." Still weak from the after-effects of his illness, Dr. Stumpf completed his mission and left Japan Aug. 31, 1957. He and his "son" have not seen each other since.

Morioka, graduated from Shikoku University in 1958, worked for a time in the YMCA in Kobe and two years ago became a student in Austin College, Sherman, Tex. He is now beginning studies at McCormick Seminary in Chicago. Immediately upon his arrival in Chicago he contacted Dr. Stumpf and a week later was reunited with him.

THE CONGREGATIONS Sept. 16 heard Dr. Stumpf explain his association with and affection for Morioka, then claim with a grin that after two years in Texas, Morioka had greeted him that morning with "Hi, y'all."

Grinning broadly at this, the young man came forward to join "Sensei" in the chancel of the church. Then, solemnly, the two faced each other and in the traditional Japanese manner of greeting, bowed from the waist, saying, "Ohio gazaimus." Then in the American fashion, they shook hands with a "Hello, it's good to see you again," and the young man was presented to the congregation.

In an interview later, Morioka — who asks his friends to call him "Hiro" — said that his future lies in his homeland where he wants to teach in a Christian school, probably in Kobe on Honshu, the main island of Japan. His parents live on Shikoku island in Kochi. (A Go ahead. Kick it!

One of the things most people do when they buy a used car is kick the tires.

It won't tell you a thing.

But we all do it.

It won't tell you, for instance, that this little beauty ('58,'59,'60? —who can tell with VWs?) has passed a rigid 16-point safety and performance check.

Or that the entire car, inside and out, has been renovated, rehabilitated, washed, polished and put in first-class running order.

People who kick tires are right about one thing: they're concerned about how the car stands up. That's why so many people are looking at VWs. New and used.

VWs are very solid little things.

So go ahead. Kick it. Be our guest.

Beautification Plan Outlined to Chamber

More than 60 persons attended the general membership meeting of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce Monday evening at Old Orchard Country Club. Committee chairmen brought members up to date on activities of the organization.

Of great interest to the group was the report by Bill Griffith on a suggested plan for beautification of the business area in the community. A sample of potted high evergreen trees, with accompanying drawings, was presented by Griffith with several merchants present immediately indicating approval.

WALLY GRACE, retired athletic director of Arlington High School, who is scheduled to leave town for the Southland Sunday of this week, was master of ceremonies Monday night, providing a light touch to the meeting.

Ed Landwehr, retail chairman, gave details of the October promotion slated for homecoming weekend, Oct. 18-19-20. Five thousand "Go Cards Go" megaphones will be given out, a twist contest will be held, and plenty of fanfare added to make the Homecoming Sale a success, as well as help publicize the high school celebration.

IRV ROBBIN presented preliminary sketches of suggested Christmas decorations. Bob Walters spoke of preliminary plans for the annual installation dinner-dance in Jaunary. Norman Dewey gave a report on progress of the budget.

Clarence Hendrickson, civic committee chairman, spoke of the postal substation project, which may yet materialize. It has been a goal of the Chamber for over a year .He also told of efforts toward removal of more parking meters from downtown streets for the benefit of shoppers.

Numerous other committee reports were given, with Chamber President Wayne Brennan conducting a question-answer period as a conclusion. (A

Talks to Rotarians

State Treasurer Says 'Schools Cost Money'

"Illinois' financial crisis will not go away until we find a way to raise more revenue," State Treasurer Francis S. Lorenz declared last week in an address before the Rotary Club of Arlington Heights.

Lorenz predicted the best hope for raising revenue is found in the work of the Revenue Study Commission, a group of legislators and private citizens appointed by Gov. Kerner to frame recommendations for an amendment to the revenue article of the Illinois Constitution.

"Population growth in the state's public schools will continue adding to the financial burden of state government for several years," the treasurer said.

"THE NUMBER of pupils in elementary and high schools is still going up more than 50,000 a year.

"Every time the elementary school enrollment increases 10,000 pupils, the state's share of the cost just in flat grants alone goes up nearly a half million dollars."

Lorenz, former Cook County Treasurer appointed a year ago to fill the unexpired term of Joseph D. Lohman, reported he is trying to save the taxpayers' money in his own office in two ways, by administrative economy and by wise investment of state funds.

DURING HIS first 12 months in office, he said, he saved $81,270 of the budget allowed him for his office by the General Assembly. He hopes to have saved $100,000 by January.

He also said he is proud of his investment accomplishments citing average earnings of $802,519.74 a month, the highest in the history of the treasurer's office.

Other points made by the treasurer were:

—The jet aircraft at O'Hare Airport make lots of noise, "but that's not enough reason to close down O'Hare."

—FOR EVERY cigarette smoked, 1½ mills goes into the state treasury.

—Greatest state expenditure (29.4 per cent) is in the area of health, welfare and safety.

—Illinois ranks as the eighth state in the nation in welath, but is 43rd in tax collection.

—Expense for highways totals 25.7 per cent of the state's expenditures.

IN ANSWER to a question, Lorenz denied that Gov. Kerner recently asked for a 10 per cent cut in expenses of the Illinois Public Aid Commission.

He attributed published reports of Kerner's demand for the 10 per cent cut to the work of "over-zealous newsmen."

John Kennedy Tells 'Program for Victory'

Democratic Novice Has 'High Hopes'

by BILL HALLS

Democrat John A. Kennedy, 40, a novice politician from Winnetka, has a three-fold program prepared if he should be chosen by voters Nov. 6 to replace U. S. Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church as representative for the reapportioned 13th Congressional District.

His Republican opponent is Donald Rumsfeld. Mrs. Church is retiring after more than a decade in Washington.

Kennedy's three points are:

1. Increase industry and job opportunity in the 13th District.
2. Bring a personal knowledge of science and technology to the House of Representatives. He owns an electronics firm, and is an engineer.
3. Support a strong and imaginative foreign policy program; a policy of action rather than reaction.

IN ELABORATING on these points, Kennedy feels his work as chairman of the electronics committee, Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, can be continued on a political level.

Kennedy feels that Chicago (the 13th District in particular) can develop into a major electronics industrial complex. He points out that the knowledge and equipment is available but most of it has been directed into the commercial fields of radio and television.

Electronics, says Kennedy, is America's largest industry. He feels a combined program of university level research and industrial production methods can make Chicago the center of the electronics industry, now controlled by southern California.

"The Chicago area industrially is not moving ahead," he said. "We have held to the older industries too long. Only a small part of the electronics materials are being bought from or manufactured in the Chicago area."

HE CITED Minneapolis, Minn., as having sold the federal government more electronics materials than the entire Chicago area last year. He said Chicago must get some of the "big federal dollar" in the technological areas.

Secondly, Kennedy pointed out the need for specialists in technology and science in Congress.

He said only two men in Congress are now equipped to understand the massive and complex problems of science and electronics.

Of the $92.5 billion federal budget, $58.1 will be spent in the areas of foreign aid, military and space, or 63.5 per cent of the total budget.

"I WOULD BE able to contribute my special talents in this area," said Kennedy. "Spending on technological areas is allowed to slip through Congress because no one has the scientific knowledge to question the program.

"I can be objective in voting on these issues because of my background and knowledge."

Kennedy founded James Electronics, Inc., in 1949. The firm is now a principal manufacturer of components and subsystems for the analog and digital instrumentation industry.

Kennedy's third point is a revision of the state department and a new outlook toward foreign affairs. In this area, he backs President Kennedy's foreign policy program.

HE BELIEVES the United States must continue to bear the substantial burden of leadership in the non-Communist world. There can be no "quick victory."

"Our goal is the peaceful progress of all mankind toward freedom and economic sufficiency," he said.

In this belief, Kennedy favors "prudent use of economic assistance."

This, he believes, will provide us with our "greatest opportunity to exert leadership among the underdeveloped nations.

In other words, foreign aid a "payoff program" and the United States should give money only to those countries which are leaning toward our own beliefs and philosophies.

THIS, ACCORDING to Kennedy, may include Communist countries, such as Yugoslavia and Poland, which have shown definite indications of philosophical breaks with the Soviet Union.

Kennedy emphasized economic aid as opposed to military aid. He points out that since the end of the Marshall Plan (100 per cent economic aid), the U. S. foreign aid programs have been close to 90 per cent military aid.

"In nations on the border of the Soviet bloc, military aid was and is necessary to allow resistance to invasion and guerrilla attack," he said.

"But that theory does not at all fit South America for example, where we have also poured in military assistance to the governments who often remain in power only by force.

"And even where military aid is desirable, it is not enough.

"WE MUST — quietly, but persistently and with imagination — press for needed reforms in the recipient nations. Economic reforms, to break down the present horribly disproportionate inequalities.

Political reform, to make meaningful our basic selling point — that the Soviet system may or may not make the peoples of the underdeveloped nations better off economically, but it will surely deprive them of freedom.

"But so many peoples of the underdeveloped nations have no real freedom now. We must strive to produce freedom, so our ideology will become meaningful." (B8

Kennedy Feels Win Possible

John A. Kennedy has had an interest in running for political office for years, but the opportunity wasn't presented until 1962.

He was approached by Herbert J. Paschen, a North Shore Democrat, and asked if he would be willing to oppose Donald Rumsfeld for the to-be-vacated congressional seat of Marguerite Stitt Church in the revamped 13th District.

Democratic projections, based on the reapportionment, gave the average Republican a 3,329 vote victory margin, says Kennedy. A large part of Lake County was chopped out of the District and Chicago's 50th Ward added.

KENNEDY, owner of James Electronics, Inc., has never run for office before. He's a member of the New Trier Democratic Organization, a captain in Winnetka's 15th precinct, and vice-chairman and co-founder of the Winnetka Democratic Club.

He describes himself as a "moderate" on fiscal policy with an "intense interest in the people."

This is difficult to translate into a political catch phrases, but Kennedy admits to believing in "movement without total disruption," and "action without reaction," a conservative viewpoint.

HE SAYS he's a Democrat because "the Republicans are unable to recognize we are in changing times.

"I don't find the Republican Party, with its great spread of ideologies, able to cope with the changing times."

But Kennedy is practical, and a optimist to boot. He thinks being the President's namesake is "definitely an asset," and is certain of victory over Rumsfield Nov. 6.

"By our calculations, projections and graphs, we give the Republicans three to four thousand vote margin," he points out. "This is about 1.5 per cent winning margin.

"I THINK the district is a dead heat."

He points out that the 50th Ward, for example, was 65 per cent Republican in 1950, and today is only 29 per cent Republican, based on a poll of 21 per cent of the district's residents.

Kennedy is 40 years old. He is a graduate of Lane Tech, and holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering from Northwestern University.

During World War II, Kennedy served in the U.S. Navy, as a Lt. He was attached to the Atomic Weapons Facility, Oak Ridge, Tenn., for a year, and spent two years overseas in the South Pacific before being discharged in 1946.

AFTER THREE years with Motorola, Inc., Kennedy founded James Electronics, Inc., in 1949, and his firm now manufactures components and subsystems for the analog and digital instrumentation industry.

He is interested in bringing new business to the Chicago area and is chairman of the electronics committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

Kennedy and his wife, Mary Ann, have seven children, John B., 11; Loraine Susan, 9; Vincent A., 7; David B., 6; Jane A., 4; Mary, 3, and James, 1.

The family lives at 382 Ridge Ave., Winnetka. (B8

Here Are Kennedy's Views of the Issues

In an interview with Paddock Publications' editors last week, John A. Kennedy, Democratic candidate for the 13th Congressional District seat in the Nov. 6 election, elaborated on his views. Here are some of the answers he gave to questions on vital issues concerning the suburbs and the nation.

CUBA AND THE RUSSIAN MILITARY ASSISTANCE: "If Cuba becomes an offensive base, then that is the time to take action.

"I do not believe the Monore Doctrine has any relevance to Cuba. The doctrine is difficult to apply as we have in the past; Nicaragua for example.

"I do not think the President was wrong in saying we have no justification to attack Cuba now. The mistake was in support of the Batista regime and other crooks by both parties.

"An attack on Cuba now would justify the Russians in the 1956 Hungarian revolt."

FOREIGN AFFAIRS: "We cannot classify people as good guys and bad guys; give them labels. The world is more complex than that.

"We are living in an age of great technological change which influences our social and economic problems.

"We must delicately handle the problem of too much, or too little as related to the individual. Action must be taken at the social and economic levels to keep pace with technological advances, and help people attain happiness."

THE CHICAGO AND NORTH WESTERN STRIKE: Do you as a businessman, think the Kennedy administration and the Democratic party are anti-business?

"I think the present administration is surprisingly more pro-business than the Eisenhower administration. I don't think the Democrats are anti-business.

"As far as the strike is concerned, jobs per se are not the function of the government. The people are. The government should be neutral with its prime objective the public interest."

Do you think the President has a double standard in his dealings with the steel price crisis and the rail strike? President Kennedy took positive action in the steel price issue, but has appeared lukewarm in enforcing his own emergency board's recommendations in the C & NW strike.

"I think the President should be consistent."

DISTRICT 13 AND INDUSTRY: You have done a great deal of work in attracting industry to the northwest suburban area. How can we get more industry?

"Through publicity, an active program of mixing university research programs with industrial expansion. The basic problem is that the people in the suburbs don't want the smoke that goes with industry, just the taxes."

AGRICULTURE: Do you have a solution to the farm problems?

"I think we should drop farm supports and open up a free market. We are saturated in food. There are less than 14 million farmers.

"The basic problem is what to do with the people displaced from farming through technological progress. We are living in an age basically influenced by technology.

"One solution is by increasing aid to foreign countries with surplus food."

WHY ARE YOU A DEMOCRAT? "I feel the Republican party is unable to recognize that we are living in a world of change. They blame everything on the sociologists. As a result they tend to react, rather than act. Some direction will have to be developed as to where the Republican party is to go.

"I remember my uncle saying if Alf Landon did not win the election, the country was lost. He lost and the country is still here.

"I have found that people are willing to take a chance. You have to in business. You have also got to be a liberal in politics, be willing to take a chance."

BIRTH CONTROL: "As a Catholic, I feel birth control is a personal issue. Certainly the increase of population in certain areas of the world is a technical problem.

"I would vote so that financial aid could be given to a country and that country could decide whether to spend it on birth control."

CHURCH AND STATE: 'I believe in a sharp separation of church and state. In voting in congress on issues involving church and state, I would separate my religious views from my views as a congressman."

THE PRESIDENT'S PROPOSAL FOR A DEPARTMENT OF URBAN AFFAIRS: "By not taking responsibility on local, county or state levels, things naturally gravitate to the federal government.

"One of the big problems is that locally, we do not attract good people.

"I think the President's plan was premature, not thought out. I think local government could solve many of these problems, and the states the rest.

"If the state took more responsibility, there would be less of a vacuum for the federal government to fill."

FEDERAL AID TO EDUCATION: "I believe everyone has the right to an education. The issue is where aid is needed, it is almost impossible to get it.

"They need aid in Arkansas, but not in the 13th district.

"I favor aid for equal opportunity, especially in areas of new school constructiin."

WHAT LEGISLATIVE PLAN DO YOU WANT TO INTRODUCE IN CONGRESS IF ELECTED:

"I would like to see a department of foreign affairs, and streamline the state department from an information agency to an action agency.

"I would also like to be active in the science areas, perhaps be a member of a committee dealing in scientific and technological decisions."

FEDERAL SPENDING: "There is a great deal of waste and duplication in the defense budget. I think a tax cut, as proposed by the President, is a good idea. The defense program could be cut without hurting its overall efficiency." (B-8

MOUNT EMBLEM

"Illinois' Most Beautiful Cemetery"
Site of the
OLD DUTCH MILL
Built in 1850

The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to Mount Emblem in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.

Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.

Mount Emblem is distinctively different.

Here is the expression of an ideal — Nature's eternal loveliness transformed into a memorial of Living Beauty. Natural beauty — unmarred by artificiality or perishable structures. This is the keynote of our landscape policy. Objects of nature are REAL, their appeal is universal, continuous through time.

When you visit, you will be aware of the meticulous maintenance. You will find that our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.

"It is better to have it and not need it—
Than to need it and not have it."

Q. Is it all right for the "dummy" at bridge to leave the table?

A. It's all right if really necessary. This does not mean, however, that he should wander aimlessly about the room, for this would indicate a lack of interest in the game — which means a lack of good manners.

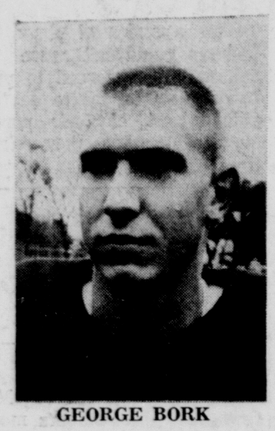
KICKIN' IT AROUND

NAMES IN THE NEWS:

George Bork of Mount Prospect continues to dazzle opponents as the quarterback for Northern Illinois University . . . George turned in a triple-threat performance last Saturday as Northern leveled Winona State, 27-0 . . . The slender Arlington High product completed 22 of 29 passes for 178 yards and one touchdown, and his booming punts kept Winona's Warriors deep in their own territory much of the game . . . But it was his unheralded running ability which surprised the 5,000 fans . . . Bork ripped off a 21-yard run on his team's first play from scrimmage and sprinted eight yards for a score in the second quarter . . . George's one touchdown aerial of the afternoon went to senior end Rich Bader, a Mount Prospect neighbor and another Arlington High graduate . . . Hal Brandt of Hinsdale, everybody's All-State quarterback two years ago, is making a strong bid for the starting job at Wisconsin . . . Hal tossed four touchdown passes in an intra-squad game last Saturday but is receiving some stiff competition from Ron Vanderkelen . . . The University of Illinois' highly regarded frosh football team is loaded with boys who made their names in area conferences . . . Included are Bob Kraabel of Elmwood Park, Dale Greco of Fenton, Herb Odom of North Chicago, Bob Petkus of Maine West, Ed Silkaitis of Proviso West, Bob Beightol of Downers Grove, Jim Unrath of Glenbard West, Jim Weber of Proviso West, Steve Kimbell of Wheaton, Walt Isaacson of Crystal Lake, Noel Julian of Proviso West, Phil Floring of Fenton, Doug Fuller of Hinsdale, Dick Kee of Wheaton, and Wayne Strauch of York.



GEORGE BORK

The Chicago White Sox have announced the signing of Gary Stone, a standout for LaGrange's Lions last spring. Gary is an 18-year-old catcher who hit .333 in 1962 and was selected on the West Suburban all-star team. He was signed to a Sarasota contract by scout Fred Hasselman.

Bill Zadel of Mount Prospect, a sophomore at the United States Military Academy, is given a glowing report in the Cadets' football brochure . . . The Prospect High grad was rated one of the best line prospects on the frosh team last fall and should see extensive action this fall with the varsity . . . A center in high school, Bill has been switched to tackle . . . Bill also played plebe basketball . . . Joining Zadel at West Point is Bruce Andrise, the pile-driving fullback who was a varsity standout for three years at the Foundry Road establishment . . . The football brochures at Indiana and Bradley list Fred Lussow and Tim O'Gorman as varsity candidates . . . Lussow, a quarterback at Prospect High School, was shifted to wingback at Indiana . . . O'Gorman alternated at halfback and quarterback at Arlington but is listed at the signal-calling slot for Bradley . . . Prospect High grad Mel Aukamp is a guard on the Southern Illinois University squad.

With the emergence of several promising newcomers Mike Dundy of Prospect Heights, a junior halfback at the University of Illinois, will probably be limited in his offensive duty this fall. Mike lettered as a soph at Illinois, working on both offense and defense, but was regarded as the team's best pass defense man. Pass defense may be his particular specialty in 1962.

ODDS AND ENDS IN THE sports world:

Hear about the Trenton, N. J. golf pro, George Milne, who had all his practice balls marked "Stolen from George Milne?" Turned out he was right; someone lifted 2500 of them recently in a pro shop break-in.

And about the Los Angeles Dodger rookie who was pursuing a millionaire's daughter? Asked by manager Walt Alton how the romance was progressing, the rookie replied, "Not so good; no hits, no runs, no heiress!"

FROM WHERE WE SIT the only battle in the West Suburban Conference this fall will be for second place. Riverside's victory over York and inexperienced Downers Grove's conquest of LaGrange only served to complicate the situation. Hinsdale may experience some trouble along the way, we doubt it.

The Interim League is shaping up into a real dandy title scramble. Defending champ Niles West has already lost, and even lowly Deerfield almost gained some headlines over the weekend, scaring the daylights out of Maine West before succumbing by two points.

Headliners this week find Hinsdale at Riverside and Proviso West at Glenbrook North. We'll call Hinsdale by 38-7 and Glenbrook by 20-14.

St. Viator in Sunday Clash

Griff MacDonald and Frank Mariani, football coaches at St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights, were in perfect agreement at the outset of the week when they considered the varsity Lions' third encounter of the 1962 season.

"There's no question about it," they concurred. "This will be our first real test of the year."

St. Viator is riding high after one-sided victories over St. Francis DeSales and Little Flower, but MacDonald and Mariani have warned their charges to expect a rugged assignment Sunday afternoon when they entertain St. Edward of Elgin.

THE TWENTY-six Lions, or the "Arizona Rangers" as they're commonly called now by the coaches, will bump heads with the Green Wave at approximately 2 o'clock Sunday on the Prospect High School field. The headliner will be preceded by a frosh-soph contest at 12 noon.

"We'll definitely have to be at our best," MacDonald reaffirmed in a further discussion of Sunday's battle. "They have good speed in the backfield and have an excellent passing attack with a quarterback and an end who can do just about anything."

Johnny McGee, who has a brother at St. Viator, quarterbacks the St. Ed's attack. He was the squad's top rusher and passer last season, topping both divisions by wide margins.

McGEE PILED up 249 yards in 82 carries and completed 38 passes for 505 yards. He hasn't lost his touch in the ball carrying department as indicated by his 131 yards last week in an 18-6 victory over Genoa-Kingston.

Larry Evans, the returning end, was the undisputed pass receiving leader as a junior, grabbing 26 passes for 384 yards and one touchdown.

Evans and McGee are the top returnees from the 1961 club, but coach Greg True, a veteran in Illinois prep ranks, has several other capable performers, including fullback Al Bachewicz.

Bachewicz, who is equally effective wide or through the middle, collected 75 yards in only eight carries against Genoa.

ST. ED'S, a member of the Suburban Catholic Conference, stands 1-1 over the season. The Green Wave lost a 6-0 heartbreaker to highly regarded Dundee in the opener.

St. Viator's MacDonald plans to go with the same alignments Sunday that have clicked so effectively in the first two games.

BILL ROCHE (170) will quarterback the Lions with Tim Walinski (155) and Jeff Haiduke (165) at the halfbacks and Jay Chaiser (165) at fullback.

MacDonald and Mariani had nothing but praise for the Lions following last week's 45-12 rout of Little Flower but emphasized that there was no room for complacency. The rough part of the schedule is ahead.

Drawing special plaudits for their offensive work against the Lancers were Heinrich, who tallied 19 points, and halfback Walinski, who picked up 121 yards on the ground. Sparkling on defense were Wilkenson, Paul Carroll, and Tom Nitch.

Varsity lettermen who have graduated from Arlington High School will be admitted as guests to the Maine East football game Friday evening.

Each former athlete should identify himself to Wayne Mueller at the west gate before 8:30 p. m.

The first game Friday will begin at 6 p. m.

ST. VIATOR'S CHUCK HEINRICH (50) was a busy performer last Saturday as the Lions routed visiting Little Flower. The 6-foot-1, 175-pound sophomore, shown pulling in one of Bill Roche's passes, picked up three touchdowns and one extra point in the 45-12 victory. Unbeaten St. Viator will entertain rugged St. Edward of Elgin this Sunday at 2 p.m. on the Prospect High field.

Dads' Day at Prospect High

by BILL HALLS

There is truly joy in victory — but it is seldom unqualified.

"It took us until the fourth quarter to get going," grumbled J. O. Jackson in the wake of his minion's 21-0 win over a hapless East Leyden outfit.

Prospect's Knights took an early 7-0 lead in the game and then struggled along until the fourth quarter to register the final tallies against a team that has yet to taste victory.

JACKSON FEELS the Knights have much yet to learn about such things as blocking, tackling and timing, all essentials in this pastime of football.

This requires long hours on the practice field after school, and reporting at 7 a.m. to view films of last week's play so mistakes might be pointed out at leisure.

But a victory—Jackson's first as Prospect mentor—indicates some of the boys were doing something right some of the time, and the game statistics (if one trusts figures) seem to bear this out.

For example, the Knights gained 311 yards running and passing in Franklin Park last Saturday. East Leyden was given a paltry 83 yards by Knight defenders.

PARTICULARLY encouraging was the passing prowess of Ken Groh and Bill Mutert, a pair of senior quarterbacks. Groh hit on nine of 10 flings, good for 108 yards, and one touchdown.

Mutert, in a brief appearance, tossed five passes. Four were caught and carried for 34 yards.

The running load was shared by Mike Dawson, Jim McMillan and Dan Johnson. They averaged about five yards a try.

And Ron Koepke kicked three straight extra points, a notable achievement for a high school boy.

BUT ALL THIS will be forgotten about 2 p.m., Saturday, when Glenbard East shows up for the Knights' second Interim encounter, a Dad's Day attraction.

The Rams are an inexperienced lot with only one returning letterman, Bill Dempsey, a fullback who played only on defense last year. In addition, they have a new coach, Wendy Harris, who is depending on speed to improve on last year's 4-4 Interim League showing.

His best bet is Vince Serritella, a dash man in track, who will start at left halfback.

The rest of the squad—which has lost to Morgan Park (33-25) and Morton West (27-7)—shapes up like this:

At ends are Bob Midland, Craig Young and Ron Mueller, all untried in varsity play. Tackles are Tom Uvodick, a 210-pounder who has some varsity experience, and Al Equi, up from last year's frosh-soph squad.

GUARDS ARE Jim Aull, another frosh-soph veteran, and Bill Hendrickson, a newcomer.

Ed Simpson, a first stringer on last year's jayvee squad, has the center spot tied down, and Skip Knapp, the jayvee quarterback, has some experience.

Ralph Sedwick, another jayvee graduate, will team with Serritella at the halfback slot, and Dempsey will play fullback.

THIS DOESN'T appear to be much in the way of competition for the Knights, but footballs have a funny way of bouncing.

Meanwhile, Jackson has made some changes since the opening loss to North Chicago, and the Dad's Day crowd will get a chance to second guess Saturday.

Jim Hogarty and Dennis Mitchell have held on to the starting end spots, and Groh, Dawson and Johnson remain intact in the backfield. But faces have changed elsewhere.

Norm Dahlgren and Koepke have moved into the tackle spots, replacing John Monell, Bob Munson and Clyde Owren.

ALL-CONFERENCE Ron Aukamp has vacated his guard spot to play center, and John Krupa has been inserted at right guard. The other guard spot is being filled by Tony Inzerello, replacing Al Blomquist.

In the backfield, Junior Jim McMillan has replaced Bob Gerrard, a senior who also can pass and play quarterback.

This is the lineup that will face the Rams, and, hopefully produce a second Interim League win.

11 Straight Losses

Cards Seeking First Triumph Over Maine

by BOB FRISK

Few victories in any sport at any level would be as satisfying to Arlington High School as a football victory over Maine East Friday evening.

It's not that Arlington has built up any unusual antagonism toward the Blue Demons.

But you're bound to get a little disgusted when you're whipped for eleven straight years by one school.

Arlington High is just sick and tired of losing to Maine in varsity football.

No other West Suburban Conference school, including perennial powers Hinsdale and LaGrange, holds such a complete mastery over the Cards.

Coach "Bus" Ormsbee's outfit will get another crack at Maine this Friday evening, and some of the boys who have participated in this amazing series of football futility will be in the stands hoping to see the victory famine come to an end.

It'll be "A" Men's Night at Arlington with all former Cardinal letterwinners guests of the athletic department.

PROVIDING the Cardinals have fully recovered from last Saturday's meeting with the "miniature Green Bay Packers," Friday's West Suburban encounter should be a thriller.

Leveled by always powerful Evanston in its opener, Maine East rebounded with an impressive 14-0 victory over Glenbard West last Friday. Arlington dumped East Leyden in its season lidlifter but had the misfortune of bumping heads with another Hinsdale powerhouse last Saturday.

Grinding out the yardage with a power attack reminiscent of the Packers and Ohio State Buckeyes, Hinsdale rolled over a determined but out-manned Cardinal eleven, 30-0.

ORMSBEE DIDN'T hesitate in calling this 1962 Red Devil outfit one of the finest clubs ever produced in the West Suburban, and few people could argue who watched it in operation last weekend.

Ormsbee is contemplating several lineup changes as he readies his Cardinals for their second league clash of 1962. The starting offensive backfield will have a new face as senior Dan Meyer is a probable starter at quarterback.

Meyer showed some creditable running and passing last Saturday as a sub for junior Jim Ewart and has earned a chance at the No. 1 position. He has good speed and despite playing only one quarter, he still paced a limited rushing game with a 5.6 per carry average.

FIVE OTHER positions may be occupied by newcomers. Junior Dan Sherman could get the call at left end, and Earl Snodgrass is pushing regular Jack Johnson for the left guard berth. The opposite guard is also a toss-up with either Bill Hoban or Dave Granzin getting the nod.

Prep Fan's Feast; Four Weekend Tilts

For the first (and perhaps the last) time in history, local prep fans will have a chance of a lifetime this weekend with the area's four football teams in action at home.

The saturation begins at 6 p. m., Friday, when Maine East (1-1) comes to Arlington High (1-1) for two games with the Cardinals. The varsity tilt is at 8 p. m.

Saturday, Prospect's Knights (1-1) take on Glenbard East (0-2) at home. The frosh-soph tilt begins at noon; varsity at 2 p. m.

That night, Forest View's undefeated (2-0) Falcons play host to Maine West Jayvees (1-0-1). Kickoff is 8 p. m. at Arlington High.

If that's not enough, St. Viator (2-0) will be looking for its third straight win Sunday against St. Edward of Elgin. Frosh-Soph game is at noon. The varsity kickoff is 2 p. m.

Auld Claims 1st Against Devils; Cards Drop Pair

Although Robin Auld captured individual honors, Arlington High's varsity cross country team still suffered a loss to Hinsdale Saturday afternoon in the first West Suburban Conference meet for both schools.

The host Red Devils claimed second, third, fifth, sixth, and seventh and wrapped up an impressive 23-32 decision.

It was closer in the frosh-soph competition, but Hinsdale still came out on top, this time by a 25-31 count.

AULD CAME in with an impressive first in the varsity meet, but his nearest teammate was sophomore standout John Brunner who claimed a fourth. Also scoring for Coach Russ Attis' Cards were Gary Brodnan in eighth, Chuck Close in ninth, and Mike East in tenth.

Bob Yeazil was the top finisher for Frank Bohac's frosh-sophs with a third. Tom Jasper was right behind in fourth and rounding out the top five local runners were Jerry Pattock in seventh, Rich Engleson in eighth, and Rich Whiteman in ninth.

Arlington's varsity and frosh-soph cross country teams, both sporting 1-1 records this fall, will host Maine East this Friday afternoon, Sept. 28, in the first home meets of 1962.

Competition will be held at 4 p.m. at Pioneer Park.

Natives

All but five of Michigan State's 27 football All-Americans were native Michiganders.

Kaspari, Defense Win At Willowbrook, 15-6

Ralph Kaspari, a 5-foot-8, 155-pound halfback was named "back-of-the-week by Forest View coaches after the 15-6 win over Willowbrook Jayvees last week, and appears to be deserving of the honor.

The explosive junior picked up 112 yards in 12 carries for a 9.3 per carry average, and two touchdowns.

In two Falcon victories in as may games, the scrappy runner has gained 195 yards in 29 attempts for a 6.7 average. That's lugging the ball and Head Coach Bob Scott hopes Kaspari can keep it up aaginst Maine West Jayvees Saturday at Arlington High. Kickoff is 8 p.m.

MAINE WEST has beaten Waukegan, 6-0, and tied Deerfield, 6-6. Coach Marv Nyren has what he calls an "interchanging" squad. The Maine West varsity takes anyone who looks good, and sends down boys that need more work from week to week.

"It's hard to say what we'll have each week," says Nyren.

Scott, with no varsity squad to shuffle, is in better position to improve his team which is blessed with a fine defense, and an improving offense.

"We finally jelled in that second half," smiled Scott this week.

His observation was based on a strong second half showing after the Falcons took a 6-0 halftime lead from Willowbrook's Warriors Saturday.

THERE WERE still a lot of fumbles and unnecessary penalties, including two straight offensive holding violations on Sophomore Center Bill Wright, but the Falcons took advantage of Warrior errors and overcame most of their own.

A see-saw first quarter ended with Willowbrook punting out of

Arlington High's Junior, Senior Players Honored

The junior and senior football players at Arlington High School were honored Saturday morning by the fathers at a unique meeting prior to the opening West Suburban Conference football game at Hinsdale.

Thirty-five fathers and 50 boys assembled with the managers, coaches, and trainers at Gunnell's restaurant in Mount Prospect with the program the idea of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Van Sky.

Jack Martin delivered an impromptu talk on the benefits of football, and he stressed that the school was behind the team. Elliott "Bus" Ormsbee, head coach, thanked the fathers for their attendance and interest.

In an effort to inspire more spirit, the meeting with the fathers was planned prior to the first conference game. It is hoped that another program will be held on Dads Day which falls on Saturday, Nov. 3, with the Cardinals meeting York.

The Van Skys indicated at the outset of the week that they're trying to make these meetings annual events for the players and their fathers.

St. Viator Crushes Little Flower Unit

by LARRY NOMELLINI

The stretcher which the St. Viator cheerleaders used at the school's pep rally Friday afternoon could have been used again Saturday afternoon because the Lions' football hurricane swept completely over Little Flower, leaving them "gasping for life."

The Lions picked up right where they left off last week against another Metropolitan Conference foe, St. Francis De Salles, but they outdid themselves by scoring a thoroughly convincing 45-12 triumph.

Unofficial statistics showed the Lion offense picking up 280 yards on the ground with an additional 80 yards through the right arm of Bill Roche. The Lion defense was equally brilliant, allowing only 80 yards on the ground.

THE LIONS also received an outstanding individual performance by soph Tim Walinski, who gained 121 yards rushing.

The Lions kicked off to Little Flower to open the game and the Lancers had to surrender the ball on downs. They punted weakly to their own 35 yard line and from there, the Lion juggernaut began to roll.

Jeff Haiduke picked up eight yards on an end play, Walinski went off tackle for 20 yards, and Haiduke found Chuck Heinrich standing alone in the end zone for the score on a 15 yard play. Roche threw to Chuck Heinrich for the P.A.T. and the Lions led 7-0 at 6:48 of the first period.

The Lancers tried to make a contest of it by starting a drive on their 30 yard line and with the help of a holding penalty set up a 20 yard run by Joe Moffett for the T.D. The try for point was no good, and the Lions led 7-6.

IN THE SECOND quarter Little Flower could not gain and was forced to punt. The snap from center was fumbled and the Lions took over on the Lancer 13 yard line. From here Walinski picked up four yards and then a Bill Roche to C. Heinrich pass was good for nine yards and the T.D. The P.AT. attempt failed and the Lions led 13-6.

After a series of plays the Lancers could not move the ball and were forced to punt. Again their failure to get any distance out of their punting hurt them when they kicked 20 yards to the Lion 40 yard line.

Haiduke immediately picked up 13 yards around end, but the Lions were penalized back to their own 43. The Lions recovered those 15 yards when a Little Flower man was rapped with a personal foul. The Lion attack stalled at this point and Little Flower took over on downs on their 30 yard line.

Doug Frait, Lion center, dumped the Lancer Q.B. for a three yard loss. On 4th down the Lancer Q.B. went back to punt, but he fumbled the ball on the snap and had to run. He picked up a first down on this maneuver to the 50 yard line.

At this point Little Flower showed that they could not stand prosperity and when the Lancer Q.B. fumbled the ball this time, frosh Dennis Wilkinson picked it up on the 50 yard line and went all the way for a Lion T.D. Haiduke added the extra point.

WITH THE NEXT kickoff the Lions' giant tackle, John Kidd, recovered a fumble on the 35 yard line of Little Flower, but the half ended and the Lions led 20-6.

In the third quarter the Lions were able to put the game out of reach by outscoring the Lancers 12-0.

Tom Nitch, a very valuable defensive back in the Lions' first two games, intercepted a pass on the Lion 35 yard line and returned all the way to the Lancer end zone, but one of his mates was caught clipping at the 15 yard line so the Lions took the ball on the Little Flower 30.

Haiduke picked up nine yards around the right side and Roche got the first down to the 19 yard line. Walinski swerved his way to the five yard line but the Lions were called for holding and penalized to the 20 yard line. Here Haiduke took matters into his own hands and promptly polished off the T.D. with a 20 yard scamper. The P.A.T. was no good.

Walinski polished off the next drive with an 11 yard run into the end zone. The P.A.T. was missed and the Lions led 32-6.

AT THE BEGINNING of the final period the Lancer attack was able to move the ball for their last score of the day on some fine passes from Q.B. Mike Frost to John Clakis and Charles Broughman and some fine running by Bill Kozicki. Frost took the ball into the end zone on a Q.B. sneak good for 9 yards. The point was missed and the score was 32-12.

The Lions apparently were a little miffed by this score because they immediately roared back for one of their own. Walinski once more showed his real form on a 20 yard run for the score. Jay Chaiser ran the extra point, making the score 39-12.

Little Flower, all but wilted by now, surrendered the ball once more on their own 26 yard line and Haiduke picked up 16 yard and then Bill Roche topped off the afternoon's activity on a 5 yard T.D. pass to Heinrich for the six points. The P.A.T. was no good.

Knight Frosh-Soph Romp to 33-0 Win

After crushing East Leyden, 33-0, Saturday, Coach Ted Wissen admitted his Prospect high frosh-soph team "looked a little better," but still felt "we have a long way to go."

Rick Lytle started things off in the first quarter going 15 yards for the score on a sweep. Jim Renner scored twice in the second period. The first was a five-yard off tackle shot, and the second a 45-yard jaunt on an end run.

GREG KOWAL slammed off tackle for the fourth touchdown. The play was good for 12 yards.

The final tally came in the fourth quarter when quarterback Bill Phillips scored on a three-yard sneak.

Ron Seegers kicked three of five extra point attempts through the uprights.

Wissen's squad is now 1-1 and faces its second Interim conference foe Saturday at Morton West.

Fullback Injured

Bob Demmert Sparks Cards in Grid Win

With time running out Sunday afternoon in Mount Prospect midget football action Bob Demmert of the Cardinals suffered a broken collar bone and was hospitalized.

Demmert's loss is a severe blow to the Cards' championship aspirations, but Bob put on quite a show before the injury and as a result those Cardinals registered their second straight victory.

Demmert was a standout at fullback for the Cards as they posted an impressive 6-0 triumph over the Colts in the midget football headliner. Kingman and Kaspari teamed up on a pass play for the only score.

THE BEARS posted a big 21-7 victory over the Packers as Jones, Wallace, and Gordy counted the touchdowns. Coe Meyer passed to Dave Corona for the loser's only score. Outstanding linemen in the game were Shears, Beck, Gersting, Wolfe, Roth, Bob Newmen, Ed Weeks, P. Staurch, and Dave Corona.

In the Junior Division A squad the Lions toppled Central 31-0 with Scott Crawford scoring a pair of touchdowns. Also tallying for the powerful victors were Mike Croke, Bob McMillan, and Ken Prski. Line standouts were Pete Karlovitz, Jim Ulrich, Mark Troester, and Danny Jackson.

Fairview trounced Prospect 18-6 as Ray Clow scored twice. Niles Daley ran a kockoff back for a touchdown with Clow and Costello contributing key blocks. Line standouts were Bob and Steve Snyder and Ralph Carlson. Nine-year-old Don Koehler played well on defense and had one 20-yard pickup.

PROSPECT'S Victor Michalek scored on a 40 yard reverse. Line standouts for the losers were Bob Tuller, Larry Sanders, and Fred Van Riet.

Lincoln trampled Owens 33-6 with Urban scoring three touchdowns. Anderson and Passarelli also scored. Drnec, Peterson, Passarelli, Guffney, Brauchle, Van Kampen, and Morris were standouts in the line.

Mike Cunningham put on a brilliant display of running as Sunset outed Emerson 18-6. Mike tallied on runs of 30 and 10 yards and also picked off a pass for six points. Dorr, Hardin, and Miller were standouts up front.

For Emerson Rick Burger scored on a 10-yard plunge. Bob Fred and Grey Heider sparkled in the line.

IN B SQUAD competition Sunset and Emerson played to a scoreless deadlock with both squads playing terrific defensive games. Emerson's Steve Blacke broke up most of the opponent's plays, and John Trandell recovered a key fumble.

Mickey Gebert and Mike O'Connell scored the touchdowns as Fairview blanked Prospect 12-0. Line play was sparked by Bruce Richardson and Mike O'Connell.

Lincoln bumped Owens 7-0 with Bob Broeren carrying across for the six points. Bob Carroll's long-gainer set up the touchdown. Line standouts were Tom Moore and Mark Wilk.

KEITH MUNDT and Bryan Bakk tallied as Lions whipped Central 13-0. Standouts for the victors were John Layer, Joe Lephy, Scott Buh, Mike Sneeden, Carl Eckenbrecht, Pat McDonough, Leo Karlovitz, Art Walker, Paul Beck, Jim McKewen, Scott Freitag, and Steve Trapani.

Mark Teichert and Jim Packard sparkled on offense for the losers with guards Ken Peterson and Steve Kijak turning in some solid line play.

Ford's TD Sets Off Frosh Win

Brian Ford took the opening kickoff and ran 70 yards for a touchdown Saturday and Forest View's frosh eleven went on to even its season record (1-1) with a convincing 20-7 win over Glenbrook South.

Jim Rennhack added two touchdowns, and Chuck Boesenberg kicked two of three extra point attempts.

Rennhack capped a 60-yard march for the second score, going over from the six. He scored again in the second quarter on a two yard plunge following a 47 yard march.

THE THIRD touchdown came after Burl Jones recovered a South fumble on the Glenbrook 47. Ford's passcatching and sweeps by Gregg Rohm sparked the drive.

Glenbrook's lone touchdown came late in the fourth quarter against the Falcon's second string.

The frosh play Glenbrook North Saturday. Kickoff is at 9:30 a.m. at Prospect High.

a hole to its own 40-yard stripe. Kaspari and Jack McRae banged away to the Warrior 23 where a 15-yard penalty (personal foul) gave the Falcons a first and goal on the 8-yard line.

Two plays later, McRae fumbled a pitchout from quarterback Russ Barger, but managed to recover on the 22. An offside penalty set the Falcons back to the 27, but Barger's pass to end Tom Meyers put Forest View back on the 10.

FROM THERE, Kaspari swept left end for 10 yards and the touchdown. Joe Mueller's kick was wide.

Things went back and forth until Kaspari fumbled another Barger pitchout on his own 5-yard line and Willowbrook recovered. Here, defense took over.

Halfback Jim Humphrey tossed Warrior halfback John Gerstner for a loss to the seven, and on the next play, McRae stopped the threat by intercepting quarterback Nick Karales' pass in the end zone for a touchback. There were 39 seconds left on the clock.

In the third quarter after the Falcon defenders held, Kaspari took charge. He took a Warrior punt on his own 9-yard line and scampered to the Falcon 43. After picking up five yards on a line shot, Kaspari took a handoff from Barger and sped through a good hole, 52 yards off left tackle for his second touchdown. The blocking was perfect.

THIS TIME, Mueller's kick was good, and the Falcons led, 13-0.

After Chuck Lemke, this week's lineman of the week, recovered a Warrior fumble, on the Willowbrook 48, Scott sent in his second string unit, the Bombers.

Led by quarterback Mike Griesman, the Bombers moved to the Warrior 1-yard stripe before Griesman fumbled and lost the ball. McRae and Fred Colovos carried the load in the 47-yard march.

Two plays later, end Gregg Garlisch and the hulking, 240-pound Wright dropped a Warrior ball carrier in the end zone for a safety.

The Falcons got another break in the fourth quarter when Lemke recovered a Warrior bobble at midfield. Ron Destories and Kaspari carried most of the way to the Warrior 18, but the drive stalled, and Willowbrook took over.

WITH 13 seconds on the clock, Scott Armstrong intercepted a Warrior aerial on the Willowbrook 26. On the first play, Ken Skiba, a 145-pound Warrior guard picked up a fumbled pitchout and scampered 74 yards to score the only Warrior touchdown.

Lemke blocked a pass attempt for the extra point. The play ruined the Falcon's shutout record, but could not be blamed on the defense, which in two games has allowed only four first downs.

In all, the Falcon backs picked up 177 net yards, but fumbled five times, losing three.

The defense picked up two fumbles and intercepted a pair of passes.

Old Timers Seek Bowlers

Anyone interested in bowling in the Old Timers league at the Arlington Heights Bowling Lanes, 8 N. Vail, should call either CLearbrook 3-6757 or CLearbrook 3-3493 or come to the lanes on Thursday evening.

The league, for bowlers over 40 years of age, competes at 7 o'clock each Thursday evening.

PHS Frosh Split With East Leyden

Head Coach Don Williams divided his Prospect High School freshmen team into A and B squads last Saturday against East Leyden. The A team lost, 13-6, but the B squad romped to a 27-0 win under assistant coach Rick Farris.

"We did everything but score," said Williams of the A team. The offense picked up 250 yards, one a 54-yard touchdown run by halfback Tom Manderscheid.

The B. squad had three touchdowns called back on penalties, but made four others good.

Jim Bowker started things off with a 60-yard end sweep on the first play from scrimmage. Bruce Cassel, Al Gibbon and Dennis Francel scored the other three on runs of 20, 35 and 10 yards. Neucranz passed for three extra points.

The frosh travel to Morton West for a 9:30 a.m. tilt Saturday.

Forest View Bombed by Maine West

Forest View harriers dropped two cross country meets to Maine West Friday, the varsity going down 20-41, and the frosh-soph squad, 15-50 in a shutout.

George Sladek finished second in the varsity match for the best showing of the day. Other varsity finishers included Jerry Potter, sixth; Phil Valentino, 11th; Larry Andrews, 17th; and Howard Hogle, 19th.

Jim Hurin made the best showing for the whitewashed frosh-sophs, finishing 12th. Terry Hayden came in 13th; Jim Nolan, 15th; John Tabbert, 25th; and Ken Andrews, 27th.

The Falcons will host East Leyden at 4:30 p.m., Friday, at Mount Prospect Country Club. Bob Rees' runners now stand at 1-1. The Maine West meet was the first of the conference season.

Falcons Fail Again, 39-0

There'll be a lot of defensive work for Forest View's frosh-soph gridders after Saturday's 39-0 shellacking at the hands of Glenbrook South, their second straight loss.

"They had a real good ball club," admitted coach Paul Jordan. "They should have beaten us by one or two touchdowns, but that's all. We went from bad to worse."

Jordan hopes for a measure of revenge this week against South's sister school, Glenbrook North. Kickoff is at 9:30 a.m. at Prospect High.

Cards' Frosh In Tie

Mickey Whalen and Steve Ewart scored the touchdowns Monday afternoon as Arlington High's frosh "A" 'football team battled visiting Hinsdale to a 12-12 deadlock.

Whalen scored on a 25 yard pass from Tom LeStarge in the second period, and Ewart tallied on a three-yard dash around end in the third stanza.

Coach Jim Hoffmann praised the entire squad on offense with Whalen, Ewart, Buddy Bencic, LeStarge, and Hal Christensen the particular standouts.

"However, we still have a lot of work to do on defense before the Maine East game," Hoffman pointed out.

Arlington's plebes, now standing 1-0-1 for the season, will journey to Maine East next Monday afternoon, Oct. 1, for a contest at 4 o'clock.

At Lions Park

The Mount Prospect Baseball Association will hold its general meeting on Friday, Sept. 28, at 8 p.m. at the Lions Park fieldhouse.

Cards Test Maine

Cards' chief offensive threat, remains a question-mark, but Ormsbee is hoping the 180-pound speedster will be ready for full-time duty.

KEN HAS A PULLED tendon in one ankle that has proved troublesome but which isn't considered serious enough to warrant complete inactivity. The injury flares up when he turns a certain way. A brace has been made, and it's hoped Layden will be in top form for the remainder of the season.

If Layden doesn't open at left half Friday, senior Joe Wertheimer will probably step in. Wertheimer has seen spot duty in the first two games and has picked up 32 yards in nine carries.

Fullback Phil Walger and Johnson counted the touchdowns as Maine stopped Glenbard West in the league opener.

Friday's varsity festivities will be preceded by a frosh-soph game at six o'clock.

Feris Leads Assault

Red Devils Roll On; Top Cardinals, 30-0

by BOB FRISK

Arlington High School is convinced.

Hinsdale is loaded once again.

The mighty Red Devils, now unbeaten over 24 straight games, unleashed a vicious ground attack Saturday afternoon as they humbled the visiting Cardinals, 30-0, in the West Suburban Conference opener for both schools.

Scoring the first three times they handled the ball with well-executed marches, the powerful Devils put on a display of gridiron prowess that prompted veteran observers to compare this Hinsdale machine with some of the mightiest of days gone by.

TRYING ONLY six passes in the 48 minutes of action, the hosts relied on a ground game that showed 346 yards and five touchdowns. Herb Feris and Al Koranda, a pair of big, powerful, talented backs, led the charge with 226 of those yards, and Feris added three touchdowns.

Arlington found time when it had the football to pick up 13 total yards, but the big problem was getting that ball.

Dan Meyer, a fourth period replacement for Jim Ewart at the signal-calling slot, collected 28 yards in five carries to lead the limited ground gaining department, and the senior letterman also completed two of three aerials for 18 yards.

ARLINGTON'S deepest penetration in the conference lidlifter was to the Hinsdale 18 yard line at the outset of the final period. With Meyer at the controls the Cards had a second and three situation at the Hinsdale 18, but they couldn't move in any closer and eventually gave up the ball.

Meyer passes to Dan Sherman and Phil O'Connell brought the locals back into Hinsdale territory in the waning moments of the contest, but the Devils stiffened at their own 39 and took over once again.

Arlington drove for a first down the first time it handled the ball Saturday but was eventually forced to punt, Hinsdale taking over on its own 16. In 12 power plays the Devils had their first six points with Feris slamming home from the five with 1:43 remaining in the opening period.

ARLINGTON RECEIVED the kickoff, tried three passes, punted, and Hinsdale was on the move again. This time coach Harvey Dickinson's powerhouse needed only ten plays to move 75 yards with speedster Bill Zillman counting from the three.

Following another unsuccessful attempt at a first down by the visiting Cards, Hinsdale took over and romped downfield for its third touchdown of a one-sided first half. The third score covered 58 yards, took eight plays, and was credited to Koranda, the 202-pound junior, on a one yard smash.

Hinsdale failed to add the extra point after each of its five touchdowns Saturday for the only unimpressive item in an otherwise impressive performance.

JERRY TOTZKE'S 13-yard scamper gave the Cards a first down on their first series of plays in the third period, but this charge also stalled and Hinsdale took over.

The Devils struck quickly as they added their fourth touchdown. Starting on its own 20, Hinsdale needed only five plays for the score. Quarterback Jerry Vicha raced to a first down at the 34, and Zillman added eight to the 42. Feris hit for four and a first down, and Koranda bulled his way to the Arlington 42.

With five minutes remaining in the stanza Feris shot through the Arlington line, found daylight, and dashed in free with Hinsdale's fourth counter.

A BLOCKED punt, one of two by Hinsdale during the game, set up the Devils' fifth and final tally. Rich Fried and George Hajny broke through to smother Tom Fagerson's attempt kick, and Hinsdale recovered the ball on the Arlington 25.

Vicha hit Koranda for a first down on the eight, and Zillman picked up three more to the five. Koranda added two, and then Feris, hit at the four, dragged an Arlington player across the goal line for the touchdown.

Halfback Joe Wertheimer supplied Arlington with its longest gain of the afternoon, a 19-yard scamper at the outset of that fourth quarter. Ewart connected with Ken Layden on a 17-yard pass play at the end of the first half.

Layden, the Cards' chief offensive threat, again was bothered by a troublesome ankle and sat out a good part of the contest. Author of 115 yards rushing in the season opener, Ken claimed only 17 Saturday on just four carries.

Interim League Opener

Groh's Passing Keys Prospect's 21-0 Win

by TOM McSHANE

The Prospect Knights opened their chase for a second Interim League championship Saturday with a 21-0 victory over the East Leyden Eagles.

The Knights, who took the title two years ago with a perfect 8-0 season, took the Eagles for the fourth time running on the strength of Quarterback Ken Groh's fine passing.

Groh completed nine out of 10 for 108 yards and one touchdown. He scored another six-pointer himself on a one-yard fourth quarter sneak.

Groh's efforts were complemented by those of Halfbacks Dan Johnson and Bill McMillan and Fullback Mike Dawson. The three runners piled up 162 yards among them on 33 running plays.

PROSPECT GOT going immediately when it took over after an Eagle punt was downed on the Knight 37 five plays after the opening kickoff.

Johnson and McMillan moved the ball to the Leyden 37 in five plays. A penalty two plays later pushed them back to the 45, and set up Groh's opening pass of the day.

The senior quarterback dropped back, set himself, and fired a high bullet to End Dennis Mitchell on the Eagle 13. Five plays later Groh popped one over the line to Dawson from the two for the touchdown. Ron Koepke added the point. There were two minutes left in the quarter.

THE REST OF the first half turned see-saw as the two teams exchanged punts. Leyden made its deepest penetration of the day during this period when the Eagles reached the Knight 16 after recovering a fumble on the 25. The drive folded when an illegal use of the hands penalty cancelled out a 27-yard touchdown run by Halfback John Campbell two plays later.

Groh took over for keeps in the second half. With the third period half gone, Prospect obtained possession on its 20 after a Leyden punt reached the end zone.

After McMillan moved over tackle to the 24, Groh hit End Jim Hogarty, Mitchell, and Dawson on three successive passes that netted 35 yards and two first downs. Dawson powered to the 34 in two plays. Groh made two more on a keeper, and Dawson gained a first down over left guard to the 29.

AN INTERFERENCE penalty on the next play gave Prospect another first and 10 on the 15. On the final play of the quarter, Guard Tim Murphy threw Groh for a loss to the 20.

The teams exchanged goals, and Johnson scored on the first play of the final quarter. The little halfback took a pitch-out from Groh around left end through half the Leyden squad to the goal. Koepke's kick made it 14-0.

Prospect kept the pressure on after the kickoff, forcing Leyden to punt to the Knight 47. Once again Groh, with some fine running help from McMillan, carried the team in to the score. Key plays included two nine-yard heaves from Groh to Hogarty and Dawson, and three line smashes by McMillan that moved the ball from the Leyden 19 to the one. Groh scored on a sneak with 4:07 left in the game. Koepke made it 21-0 with his third placement of the day.

PROSPECT regained possession with 1:35 left in the game, and made another scoring bid. This time second-string quarterback Bill Mutert took charge, and moved the ball from the Prospect 48 to the Leyden 15 before the game ended.

Besides the fine backfield performance, Coach J. O. Jackson's defensive squad also turned in a sound game. This unit was led by Linebacker Ron Aukamp, who figured in a large percentage of the tackles.

Midget Football Action

Lions Register 2nd Senior League Win

Only four games have been played, but only one team remains unbeaten in the Senior League of Arlington Heights' midget football program.

The Lions swept to their second straight victory last weekend with an impressive 21-7 victory over the 49ers and now hold a game lead in the gridiron title chase.

Jim Swanezy counted on a 45 yard sweep and Steve Conley raced 57 yards for the Lions' two touchdowns in the second period of their victory. Swanezy and Conley added the extra points.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

St. Viator Gains Split in Harrier Meets; Sophs Win

St. Viator and St. Joseph split last week as the Lions of Arlington Heights engaged in their second cross country meets of the 1962 campaign.

Host St. Joseph won the varsity competition 25-28, but Jim Berger's young Lions came out with an impressive 21-37 triumph.

The varsity team pressed hard despite three injuries in the opening minutes of the feature. Mike Rompala, ninth in the season opener, came back for a close second.

MIKE JONES literally climbed up a St. Joe runner's back to tie for third. Others earning points toward letters for St. Viator were Kevin Mahoney in fifth, James Kiefer in eighth, and Mike Smith in ninth.

In the frosh-soph meet two St. Joseph runners moved out to an early lead which challenged the pace of the young Lions. At the finish line the two early leaders had stopped running completely, and St. Viator had the first three positions.

CLAIMING THE top three slots for the locals were Jerry Blandford in first, Paul Larson in second, and Dan Mulcahy in third. The next Viator men were Terry Packard in seventh and Paul Sheetz in eighth.

St. Viator's two cross country teams were scheduled to host Holy Cross yesterday (Wednesday). Berger's outfits will entertain St. Joseph next Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 2, at both levels.

Hinsdale Jayvees Bump Cards, 13-6

Hinsdale took an early lead and then held on Monday afternoon in fashioning a 13-6 junior-varsity football victory over Arlington High School.

The Red Devils scored first at the outset of the second period after recovering an Arlington fumble and counted again in the opening minutes of the third stanza.

Arlington, coached by John Bush and Guy Vena, came to life after the half. Hugh Bray recovered a Hinsdale fumble to launch the Cards' scoring drive.

Mike Fitzpatrick, who also showed some hard running in the season opener, counted the locals' only touchdown.

Bush and Vena were pleased with Arlington's performance, and both coaches felt the decision could have gone either way. The Cards were penalized 55 total yards.

Arlington's jayvees will host Maine East next Monday afternoon, Oct. 1, in their third game of the 1962 season.

JUST DOGS

by DAVE TERRILL

Jets Take Over—

From an issue of Dog Research published by the Gaines people we learn that a new technique has been developed that is described as the first basic change in injection methods in almost 100 years.

Chronic eczema and other such problems are among the canine conditions successfully treated with a new jet spray technique by a team of veterinary and human dermatologists working at the new Animal Medical Center, New York. The technique, involving the use of a multidose jet spray injector effective in administration of medicaments directly into the skin of animals, is believed to hold much promise in a variety of animal ailments.

The program is headed by James D. Conroy, D.V.M., Fellow in Comparative Dermatology at the Center, and Norman Orentreich, M. D., assistant clinical professor of dermatology, New York University College of Medicine. What makes the program rather interesting is that here is a good example of a team working towards the goal of a better treatment for animals, but also bringing it up to the point of where a new method might well be used for human beings.

Dalmatian Club Fun Match—

Judging from the announcements so far, it looks like October is going to be a busy month, dog-wise that is.

The Chicagoland Dalmatian Club is having its annual Fun Match on Oct. 7 at the American Legion Home and Picnic Grounds at Golf and East River Roads, Des Plaines. Entries will be taken from 10 a.m. until noon on the day of the match and judging will begin promptly at 1 p.m. Alfred Treen will judge the conformation classes for puppies, adult dogs and bitches.

Refreshments will be available on the premises. Another added attraction will be a bake sale, to be held before and after the judging.

Additional information may be had by contacting the match secretary, Mrs. Dagmar Parigini, 1327 N. Good, Park Ridge.

Western Irish Setter Specialty

Folks with Irish Setters are going to get a chance to enter not only a specialty show on Oct. 13, but also an all-breed show on Oct. 14, with a crack at getting points in shows close to our area.

The Western Irish Setter Club will hold its specialty show on Oct. 13, at 1800 Half Day Road (route 22), in Highland Park. Closing date for entries will be Tuesday, Oct. 2. For information contact Dorothy Cory of Arlington Heights, the show secretary, at Clearbrook 3-2331. Show hours are 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Skokie Valley Show—

Following right on the heels of the Irish Setter specialty shows held in the middle west confromation show to be held by the Skokie Valley Kennel Club, Sunday, Oct. 14.

The Skokie Valley show is one of the major outdoor all-breed shows held in the middlewest and brings entries in from all over Illinois and surrounding states. It will be held at Meadow Hill Park, Route 42-A (Waukegan Road), Northbrook, with the show hours from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Closing date for entries will be Oct. 2, the same day as the Irish Setter specialty closing date and again, more information may be had by contacting Dorothy Cory of Arlington Heights. In this case Dorothy Cory is the club secretary and can be reached at the same telephone, Clearbrook 3-2331.

Rand Park Dog Training Club donation—

Members of the Rand Park Dog Training Club of Des Plaines were hosts to Mrs. Ann Conners and members of the board of directors of the Companion Collies of Illinois, at their regular meeting Sept. 11.

Companion Collies of Illinois, a non-profit organization dedicated to furnishing guide dogs for blind children, made an appeal for help and the Rand Park club sponsored a benefit which resulted in a check for $600 being turned over to the Companion Collie group the night of the meeting.

Barks & Bays—

People were not the only surprised individuals last week when some of the jet play-boys decided to treat the area to a few sonic "booms." One dog just took off, his owner spending about an hour trying to bring the animal back home, which the dog figured was going to fall in on him.

THERE'S NO MORE running room for this Little Flower halfback during the first half of last Saturday's game on the Prospect High School field. Closing in for the tackle are St. Viator's Dennis Zitzer (72) and Mike Graczyk. St. Viator crushed the visiting Lancers 45-12 in its home debut.

Women's Classic

River-Rand Bowlers Handle Leaders, 2-1

Things are tightening up in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling league.

With three weeks of competition on record only two games separate the top five outfits, and sixth place Morton Pontiac, the defending champion, is just three games off the pace.

Ridge Motors held on to their lead after Saturday's firing at Sims Bowl in Des Plaines but only through the inability of the contending teams to take advantage of an off night by the pacesetters.

RIVER-RAND BOWL, tied for the basement the previous week, shocked Ridge in two of the three games to throw the title scramble into even more confusion. Capt. Rosie Alfson of Des Plaines paced the victors with a 570 series that included a 212 opener.

"Tiny" Davis of Elgin chipped in with a 539 for River-Rand with steady improvement through each game. She opened with a sub-par 148, then followed with a 180 and 211 for her 539.

Capt. Maxine Moehling of Mount Prospect topped Ridge Motors with a 556 series. She had a 197 opener and then recorded games of 177 and 182.

TOMMY THOMAS' Casablanca, keyed by Winnie Lohse's 557 toppled Moyle Construction 2-1 in other action Saturday evening. Mrs. Lohse of Palatine, a newcomer to the Paddock Women's division this year, tied a 164 and 192 around a 201 middle game.

Vi Douglas of Palatine chipped in with a 523 for the Hi-Way Recreation-based entry.

Ethel Martin of Rolling Meadows posted a 537 for Moyle's honors. She had a 192 high. Fran Altergott of Mundelein was right behind at 531 with a 215 opener.

STEVE'S Restaurant posted a 2-1 victory over Morton Pontiac and both the high game and high series for the evening came out of this competition.

Janice Crovetti of Highwood, bowling for Steve's, posted a 224 opener that stood up as the best single game for the evening. She closed with a 145 and 178 for a 547 series, tops for the victorious Jeffery Lanes-based squad.

Pat Proebstle of Arlington Heights was a consistent performer for Morton Pontiac and was rewarded with the night's high series, a fine 585 effort on games of 199, 192, and 194. Joan Lindahl of Arlington also claimed a 500-plus series for Morton with a 502.

Prospect High's Jayvees Handle Eagles in Opener

Dick Mudge's Prospect Jayvees made a lot of mistakes Saturday but managed to open the 1962 season with a 13-6 win at East Leyden.

Trailing 6-0 after the Eagles had scored on a 60-yard punt return, the Knights struck back with linebacker Gregg Melzer scoring on a 70-yard run with a stolen pass.

Dave White's pass to Grant Gentry was good the extra point and Prospect led, 7-6.

THE SECOND score was also produced by the defense. Linebacker Bill Murphy picked up an Eagle fumble and shot 30 yards to score. A run for the extra point failed.

"We looked ragged," said Mudge. "We moved the ball in spots on offense, but couldn't go all the way."

Mudge felt the defense, except for the two scoring plays and a strong goal-line stand in the fourth quarter, was also spotty.

He had praise for his quarterbacks, Mike Phillips, and White. Phillips went 46 yards on a sneak to pull the Knights out of a hole on their own one-yard line.

WHITE picked up 25 yards on a rollout in the fourth quarter. The play was good for a first down and kept the ball from the Eagles with 3:57 showing on the clock.

The defense, led by Melzer, Murphy, tackle Lynn Nelson and White kept East Leyden from a tying touchdown bid after the Eagles had a first down and goal on the Knight's one-yard line. White made a valuable pass interception.

The Jayvees face Glenbard East at noon, Saturday, at home.

Pioneer Keglers Hold Slim Lead in Classic

Pioneer Lanes held on to a slim one-point lead in the Paddock Classic Traveling League this week with a three-point win over Moyle Construction.

Morton Pontiac took over sole possession of second place, taking three of four points from River Rand Bowl, and Highland Motors slipped to third with a 2-2 split with James Stavros.

Lieber's Bowlers Shop took three points from Stan's Standard and moved into a fourth place tie with Moyle.

BOB KRISCH of Elmhurst and George Schmidt of Addison led Pioneer to victory. Krisch rolled a 586 series, including games of 213 and 202. Schmidt's 584 series had a 200 game.

Roy Moyle of Carpentersville led Moyle with a 615 series, including games of 216 and 225. George Radke of Mundelein had a 213 game.

In the Highland Motors — James Stavros split, Highland's Tom Kouros of Palatine led the field with a 597 series. High game was 236. Al Jordan of Roselle and Dave Catherwood of Arlington Heights chipped in with games of 209 and 205 respectively.

George Stone of Deerfield led Stavros with a 585 series, including a 207 game. Teammate Ed Melton of Northbrook helped out with a 204 game.

MORTON PONTIAC was powered by Al Valentino of Rolling Meadows who fired a 204-233-220 — 657 series, individual high for the night. He had help from Ernie Koche of Roselle whose 620 series included games of 228 and 206. Warren Walter of Arlington Heights had a 221 game.

The total team effort of 2,924 pins was another night's high, and a season high for Morton.

The win is even more impressive considering River Rand bowlers turned in three 600-plus series, including Mike Wagner, 636, and Ted Zimmerman, 627, both of Des Plaines; and Don Christensen, 623, of Arlington Heights.

Wagner had the night's high individual game of 248, and a 202 game to boot. Zimmerman's efforts included games of 228 and 217. Christensen had games of 215 and 224. The River Rand boys also took high team game honors with a total of 1,039 pins.

HAL LIEBER'S crew was led by LeRoy Papineau (620) of Arlington Heights, and Lee Adams (602) of Mount Prospect. Papineau had games of 227 and 200, while Adams turned in a 222 effort.

Teammates Irv Hahnfeldt (213) and Paul Borvig (200), both from Palatine, helped out.

John Ribando of Mount Prospect led Stan's Standard with a 589 series, including a 221 game.

DAVE THOMAS took sixth and Jim Freyer finished seventh. Ed Schneider, George's twin brother, finished eighth, and Ed Schupperhauer, ninth.

VARSITY AND Junior-Varsity football players at Arlington High School were honored by the fathers at a pre-game luncheon last Saturday morning at Gunnell's Restaurant in Mount Prospect. Initiated by Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Van Sky, the program will probably become an annual event and will be held before the first conference game. In addition, it is hoped that the boys and fathers will be able to get together prior to the Dads Day game on Saturday, Nov. 3.

Arlington, Hinsdale Sophs Tie

Here we go again.

Arlington High School set some sort of record last fall when its frosh-soph football team played to five ties in seven West Suburban Conference games.

Well, those Cardinals of coach Bill Daletski have picked up right where they left off.

Following four periods of hard-fought football last Saturday afternoon, Arlington had to settle for another of those deadlocks, a 6-6 affair with host Hinsdale.

The young Cards, outplaying the touted Imps but failing to cash in on several scoring opportunities, had the victory within reach in the closing minutes of play.

Arlington had the ball on Hinsdale's nine yard line with 1:27 remaining but failed to collect the decisive six points. Two sizeable losses, a 15-yard penalty, and incomplete pass checked the Cardinals' final threat.

ARLINGTON OPENED the game's scoring midway in the third quarter when 195-pound fullback Dennis Werkau, carrying the ball for the first time this fall, slammed in from the two to terminate an impressive 77-yard march.

Although Werkau did the honors for the touchdown, it was the nifty running of Mike Anderson, a 175-pound halfback, that set up the score. Anderson's runs accounted for four first downs in the drive with the long gainers covering 17 and 20 yards.

Mike was Arlington's chief ball carrier during the afternoon, and he responded with 132 yards in 16 carries for a fine 8.3 average.

HINSDALE'S only touchdown came with 7:55 remaining in the game. A 22-yard pass picked up the six points and climaxed a 54-yard march.

Both clubs attempted runs for what would have been the decisive extra point and both failed. Mike Frase's parring tackle checked Hinsdale's effort short of paydirt.

Arlington's sophs, still unbeaten this season, will meet Maine East Friday night in a six o'clock encounter on the Arlington High field.

Score by quarters:

Arlington	0	0	6	0	—6
Hinsdale	0	0	0	6	—6

Adamowski Pledges Strong Campaign for Mayor's Post

(UPI) — Former Cook County State's Atty. Benjamin S. Adamowski, who touched off Chicago's 1960 vote fraud investigation, announced Tuesday he will be a Republican candidate for mayor next year.

Adamowski made his disclosure in a letter to special Prosecutor Kevin Gillogly, of 306 Wa-Pella, Mount Prospect, who is conducting a probe into administration of the state's attorney's contingency fund during Adamowski's term in office.

Adamowski was to have met Tuesday morning with Gillogly. He said in the letter he would not appear because he considered the investigation "political."

ADAMOWSKI SAID that because he would be a candidate for mayor next year he did not want to become involved in the inquiry. The investigation was ordered by Democratic State's Atty. Daniel Ward, the man who unseated Adamowski two years ago by 25,000 votes.

Adamowski charged after the election that widespread Chicago vote frauds cost him re-election and lost Illinois' electoral votes for Richard M. Nixon in the Presidential balloting.

Adamowksi told United Press International, "I'll wage a vigorous campaign and if the people of Chicago give me the opportunity, I'll be as vigorous a mayor as a campaigner."

ADAMOWSKI SAID he thought he could get the votes to win.

"Whether I can get them counted is something else again," he said. "One of our big jobs will be to get watchers in every percinct to insure an honest count."

Before 1956 Adamowski was a Democrat and served as Chicago's corporation counsel under Democratic Mayors Edward J. Kelly and Martin Kennelly. He was elected five times to the Illinois House of Representatives and was Democratic floor leader for three terms.

He ran unsuccessfully for Congressman-at-Large and U. S. Senator as a Democrat and was a candidate for mayor in the 1955 Democratic primary. His father, Max, was a Democratic alderman for 14 years and his uncle, Stephen, was a long-time Democratic judge.

ADAMOWSKI became a Republican and was elected state's attorney after breaking with Democratic Mayor Richard Daley.

Daley has made no announcement but is expected to be a candidate for a third term as mayor next year.

Adamowski, 56, is currently a vice president of a firm which manufactures steel drums. He is a graduate of De Paul University and its law school. He is married and the father of two sons.

About 40 volunteers from the Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect areas under the chairmanship of Mrs. Albert E. Goldthwaite, 426 E. Park St., Arlington Heights, will conduct a tag day Friday, Oct. 5, for the Children's Benefit League of Chicago and its suburbs.

Sleepy Hollow Manor

Embassy Model Opens Near Dundee Saturday

With the opening this weekend of "The Embassy" — an attractive ranch colonial model home — the developers of Sleepy Hollow Manor, at Higgins Road and Route 31, near Dundee, are introducing a brand new line of low—and medium-priced houses into the suburban areas northwest of Chicago.

There are several basic designs and floor plans initially available, with a wide choice of elevations and exterior styles.

Prices of the new group of homes range from $22,900 to $24,900, plus cost of site. All of the new homes—like all the designs offered by Sleepy Hallow, Inc.—may be had on a site of the purchaser's choice in Sleepy Hallow Manor, selected in wooded, hillside or lakefront ares.

FLOYD FALESE, head of the developing firm and village president of Sleepy Hallow, said, "These outstanding homes, we are convinced, have more appealing design and more solid, basic value—for both the present and the future—than any now showing in this price range, anywhere in the Chicago area.

"And the styling and wide choice of elevations actually rival, and even surpass, many more expensive designs in the northwest suburbs."

"The Embassy," first model of the new group of homes to be announced in Sleepy Hallow Manor, offers 2,000 sq. ft. of well planned living area. This outstanding ranch design is available in a choice of five different elevations, each in a distinctive balance of brick front and easy-maintenance siding.

THE RANCH Colonial elevation of the "Embassy" is outstanding, with arched front entry, overhanging roof, gound-to-roof shutters framing the multi-paned windows, and neatly integrated garage.

Interior layout is most practical, for convenience and easy traffic flow. The large living room connects with the dining area in an attractive L-shape. Kitchen and dinette form a single spacious unit, with appliances and cabinets arranged to save steps.

The family room can be entered from garage or central distribution corridor, or via the sliding, insulated glass doors leading to the rear patio area. An eye-catching wood-burning fireplace is a feature of the oak-paneled family room. Between this room and the kitchen is the powder room.

THE SLEEPING area, with three large bedrooms and bath, is at the other end of the house. Closets in all bedrooms are extra large.

Purchasers of these new homes receive a one-year Registered Builder Gcarantee, and the developers-builders offer a practical plan of term-financing.

"THE EMBASSY," appealing new ranch model now open in Sleepy Hollow Manor, Dundee, provides 2000 sq. ft. of living area. Practical layout includes 3 large bedrooms, 1½ baths, full basement. Priced at $22,900 plus site. (BB

An extensive choice of homes and homesites—in wooded, hillside or stream - and - lakefront locations—are now available in Sleepy Hallow Manor. The rolling, park-like community is located just southwest of Dundee, with main entrance on Higgins Road (Rt. 72) about one mile west of Route 31.

VISITORS can readily reach the area by Northwest Tollway, Route 72 or other similarly-convenient highways in the region.

Model Homes and homesites are open to visitors every day, including Saturdays and Sundays, from 10 a.m. till dark.

'Sting Ray' Coupe at Lattof Motor Sales

The 1963 Corvette by Chevrolet has undergone the most dramatic changes in its 10-year history.

The new "Sting Ray," along with all other models of Chevrolet, will go on sale tomorrow (Friday) at Lattof Motor Sales, 800 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights.

The styling change is the first since the GM firm introduced the Corvette in 1953. Major innovation is the addition of a second model Corvette, the "fast-back" sport coupe for customers desiring closed car comfort with sports car appeal.

BESIDES THE coupe, Corvette will again offer the convertible model with optional hardtop attachment. Both models will have identical front-end styling.

Both will be known as the "Sting Ray"—a name introduced on a recent Corvette experimental car. The fiberglass bodies have been wind tunnel tested for aerodynamic efficiency.

Other new improvements include a complete new chassis, four-wheel independent suspension, self-adjusting brakes and improved steering.

A DRAMATIC feature in both models is retractable headlamps. Invisible until the driver presses a switch, the power-operated twin headlight units swing up from the leading edge of the airfoil-shaped front end. A second switch turns them on.

The 1963 Corvettes will have optional power steering, power brakes and air-conditioning.

The new model is two inches lower, four inches shorter in wheelbase, and has more weight in the rear, than last year's models.

Over-all height is 49.8 inches, wheelbase is 98 inches, and over-all length is 175.3 inches.

The sport coupe weighs 3.015, and the convertible is 22 pounds heavier. (BB

Plant Fall Colors To Brighten Home

In the northeast especially, fall color generally is considered the color of the maples, oaks, pines and spruces, birches and other trees which are striking with contrasting yellows, oranges, reds and greens.

The midwest and north central states also have their brilliant colors, while the rocky mountain area with yellow aspens and evergreens is believed by some to be most beautiful of all.

EVERY AREA can have beautiful fall color and bloom according to the American Association of Nurserymen. Chrysanthemum blooms are traditionally lovely, as are roses, which bloom right up to heavy frost. Hydrangeas likewise provide fall color.

Many shrubs and trees, like hollies, winterberry and pyracanthas have brilliant fruits that are red, yellow or orange. Shrubs like Euonymus alatus are a brilliant red, as are some vines. Oregon grape has various colors, too, as do many other shrubs.

In every area of the country nurserymen can advise on plants to provide a variety of fall color and bloom. Home properties can be planted to give a succession of different colors all year long, spring, summer, fall and winter. (BB

Add 4,000 Square Feet

Expansion Program on At Arlington Federal

Local residents are thrift-minded!

Workmen gave supporting evidence this week as they closed off a portion of the parking lot behind Arlington Heights Federal Savings at Evergreen and Campbell Streets and commenced work on expansion of the Association building.

The expansion project, adding 4,000 square feet for new facilities and services, will be completed in about five months, according to Paul E. Collins, president.

ALTERATIONS will give a "new look" to the Williamsburg Colonial building that has been the pride of downtown Arlington Heights since its erection in December, 1958.

Second stories will add 2,000 square feet of floor space to the Association's east and west wings, which are now one story high. First-floor expansion on the south side of the building, facing the parking lot, will provide additional floor space.

Also installed will be a new drive-up window permitting easier access for automobiles and a walk-up window with enclosed foyer for pedestrian business during and after regular office hours.

"WHEN WE moved into our new building less than four years ago, we had made plans for future growth," Collins said. "But we didn't expect to put them to work so fast."

This is a tribute, he said, to Federal Savings' 16,000 savers and their growing savings accounts, which now total $22,000,000. "Increased savings mean more loans for homes and home improvements; together, they mean enlarged staffs and more space to service them."

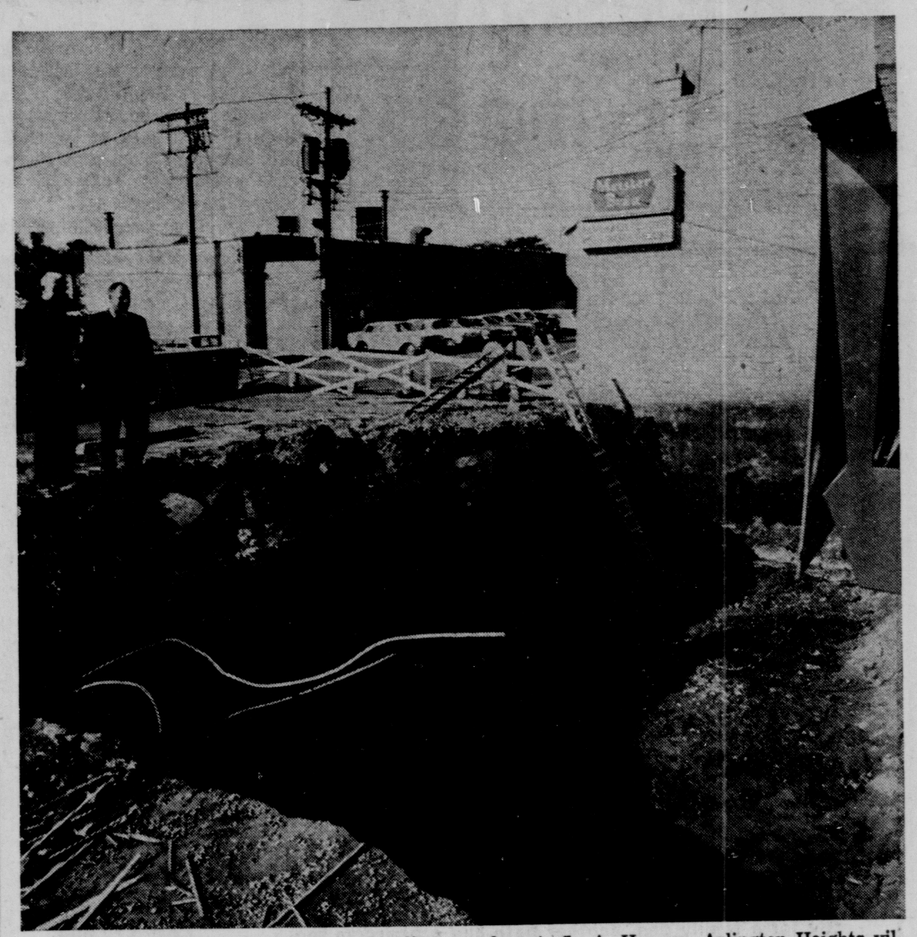
Contracts totalling $51,707 have been let to contractors for masonry, carpentry, steel, roofing and concrete.

These firms are Edwin H. Meyer, Arlington Heights, for concrete and excavation; D. Linari Construction, Inc., Highwood, Ill., for masonry work; Sprague Iron Works, Chicago, for structural steel and steel joists; and Norman Bullerman, Des Plaines, for carpentry and glazing.

CONTRACTS WILL be let as construction progresses for heating and ventilating, air conditioning, electrical work, plastering, and decorating.

"By waiting for these bids until construction is ready for them, bidding contractors can give us more exact and economical estimates," Collins pointed out.

The Association president asked for the patience of patrons while alterations are in progress. He hoped for a minimum of disruption of the normal business activity. (BB



PAUL E. COLLINS (left), president of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association, Evergreen and Campbell Streeets, points out details of Association's expansion plans to L. A. Hanson, Arlington Heights village manager. The expansion project will add 4,000 square feet of space to the Association facilities.

Two-Story Selected

A misplacement of photographs in an advertisement in the Sept. 20 issues of Paddock Publications suggested second-story additions to the Arlington Heights Federal Savings building will have the mansard roofs instead of the full two-story style.

Actually, both treatments were submitted by architect Walter Kroeber to Arlington Federal officers and directors. After much study and discussion, the directors selected the full two-story effect. (BB

Chef Line Plastic Wrap Introduced

Chef Line Plastic Wrap, a new kind of transparent wrap seal for foods and other uses, is the happy result of countless tests in homemakers' kitchens to develop a better kind of wrap.

Presented in time for the school-sandwich season, it is now available at all Walgreen Drug Stores.

A tougher wrap than others of its type, new Chef Line is set to retail for less.

MOREVER, its "controlled cling" helps eliminate the complaint that plastic wraps sometimes get "ornery," getting all wrapped up in themselves instead of sticking to the job. Chef Line scientists have built in just enough cling for easy wrapping.

Chef Line Plastic Wrap does anything that wax paper does, only better, reports Walgreens. Its crystal transparency lets the housewife quickly see what's inside, and it keeps food fresher longer.

Good for a thousand and one uses from saving leftovers to keeping mom's fall hat sparkling fresh, new Chef Line seems destined for a happy, wrappin' future (BB

Producing Roses In Lively Color

What ever has gotten into our rose hybridizers both here and abroad? Some of the liveliest colors ever known in roses are being produced these days.

They can be strikingly vivid in gardens, sometimes even hot and sassy, though they all look lovely, like a well-polished woman, whether in gardens or alone as specimen plants.

Flame-colored roses add life to the home property. There's nothing quite like a bed of these vivid colors everyone of which stands out like a Spanish dancer, full of fire and allure.

MANY OF THE shades are flaming or reddish-orange but the live colors burst out all over from the bright pinks, reds to the warm yellows. The rose hybridizers must have a renewed alliance with Mother Nature to have turned out all these wonderful colors we find this year.

Actually it takes about 10 years or more to develop a new rose and have it ready in quantities for the markets. Maybe the new nail polishes gave hybridizers the ideas, though new rose colors are far harder to come by.

But whatever happened you haven't really known roses until you see some of the bright new colors, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

DISCREPANCY; state of being at variance; disagreeing. "There is no real discrepancy between your figures and mine."

SCATHING; withering; searing. (Pronounce skay-thing). "His government has never before drawn more scathing criticism." (A14

Fruit Trees Have Double 'Benefits'

Planting of dwarf fruit trees is on the increase perhaps because of their double benefits in fruits and flowers for homes with families, says the American Association of Nurserymen.

The only other explanations, it is stated, are either because food prices are still high, or because there are more children today.

IT IS THE families with children who plant most of the home fruits, it is stated. Dwarf fruit trees are popular because they are so easy to care for, while more trees of different varieties can be planted in the same space.

Dwarf fruit trees can be planted as close as six to eight feet apart in a row along a back property, and supply the whole family with tree-ripened fruits.

Most children love fruit trees.

Holland Shipment

Tulip Bulbs Are in At Kersting Center

The opening shipment of tulip bulbs from Holland just arrived at Kersting's Garden Center, 621 N. Main St., Mount Prospect.

Although most people think of tulips, daffodils and hyacinths in connection with Spring, these flowers have to be planted right now in the Fall, Mr. Robert Kersting explained.

Here are some useful tips to gardeners who want their flowers bright, early and long-lasting next Spring.

FOR GOOD results in the Spring, bulbs should be in the ground two to three weeks before the first heavy frosts. That is why, the Dutch say, the best place to store your bulbs is in the ground.

Early planting of bulbs, then, is strongly recommended. Planting itself is easy, of course. Tulip, daffodil and hyacinth bulbs are planted six inches deep. They are planted with the pointed end up. The flat bottom of the bulb, out of which the roots grow, should rest firmly against the soil.

Crocus, grape hyacinth, scilla and other little bulbs are planted two to three inches deep.

ALL BULBS may be planted at the same time, beginning about the middle of September. Whether bulbs bloom early or late in the Spring has no bearing on when they should be planted in the Fall. They can be planted as soon as it is convenient.

Nature takes care of bringing the flowers into bloom on schedule.

Bulbs planted this Fall can flower in home gardens up to 10 full weeks in the Spring, provided they are planted with an eye to their blooming periods. The earliest bulb flowers are the crocuses and snowdrops.

THEY COME up so early in the season that the flowers often are in bloom with snow on the ground around them. One after another, the bulbs go on flowering all through the Spring: early tulips, daffodils, hyacinths, mid-season tulips like the Darwin Hybrids and the Mendels.

Finally in May, come the late tulips—the Darwins and Parrots, Double-late or Peony-flowered tulips, elegant Lily-flowered tulips, and the sturdy standbys of the home garden, the Cottage tulips.

It is easy to have the whole rich range of bulb flowers, blooming one after another right through the Spring. It's just a matter of picking varieties carefully this fall, so that everything does not come into bloom in the same two or three weeks in the Spring.

BULB FLOWERS are good flowers for the home garden because they are so adaptable. There are some that seem made for "naturalized" plantings. Crocus bulbs, daffodils, some varieties of Species tulips can be scattered in semi-wild areas. They will have all the charm of wild flowers when they bloom in the Spring.

Hyacinths and tulips for years have been planted in formal beds; they still are used in this way. (BB

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by James Fizzell
Assistant Farm Advisor

Alert Homeowners
Dial Daily 392-3060

Fertilize newly planted trees carefully to avoid burning the roots. Fertilizer will burn tree roots unless it is mixed with soil in the bottom of the hole. In addition to fertilizer, place in the bottom of the hole a layer of topsoil, a mixture of peat or manure and sub-soil.

Here are some more suggestions for planting trees:

SELECTION: In selecting trees, remember that those with balled burlapped roots have a greater chance of surviving than those with bare roots.

DEPTH OF HOLE: Dig the hole several inches deeper than the length of the balled and burlapped roots. If the soil is a hard clay, make the hole extra deep to provide adequate drainage. If the tree roots are wrapped, make a hole one foot wider than the wrapping.

SETTING THE TREE: Place the base of the tree one inch lower than the surrounding ground level. Place it with its good side facing out. Put in a little soil at a time, tamping it carefully to eliminate air pockets. When the hole is two-thirds full of soil fill it with water. After the water soaks in, fill it again with water. Then put in the rest of the soil. Water the tree during the fall to insure good root growth.

PRUNING: To compensate for loss of roots during transplanting, cut the side branches so that the tree is one-third of its original width. Never cut the top!

STAKING: Staking prevents movement of the tree that loosens the soil around the roots and creates air pockets. Staking also keeps the tree erect.

WRAPPING: Wrap the tree trunk to prevent sunscald. Use a commercially prepared material available at most nurseries.

MULCHING: To help conserve moisture, place a mulch of ground corncobs two or three inches deep around the base of the tree.

The plants you use around your home ties your house to the ground and provides an attractive setting. Flowering shrubs can be used around your home for beauty and interest, as well as fragrance. By proper selection of plants you can have a succession of bloom from late March untill Halloween.

Flowering shrubs come in a variety of sizes from very short such as Butterfly bush, to very tall in the case of Japanese tree lilacs which may reach a height of over 30 feet. Other plants are available in all sizes in between.

Many people are familiar with some of the flowering shrubs such as lilacs, forsythia, and honeysuckle. There are many varieties of these three plants which in themselves can make an impressive display of color in spring.

Add to these the Viburnums, flowering plum, crab apple, dogwood and hydrangeas and you have a display which would be envied by any homeowner. Consider the flowering shrubs when planting your home surroundings. Many of them have another attractive feature such as brightly colored fruit or fall color. Most of them go nicely with evergreens. Q. If all the other guests at dinner have refused second helpings of dishes, and then you are asked, is it all right for you to accept?

A. In this case it would probably be better if you declined. If you were the only one to accept a second helping, you naturally would be delaying the serving of the next course — and a well-bred person is always considerate of others.

Q. When a person who is making an introduction does not speak a name clearly, and it is very important that you know the name, of whom do you ask that the name be repeated?

A. Ask the person introduced, not the one who has made the introduction.

'Send Me No Flowers' Is Comic Concoction

by JOAN METTE

"Send Me No Flowers," Des Plaines Theatre Guild season opener, is not well known to most theater goers — but it smacks of the familiar. It's sort of "The Imaginary Invalid" in modern dress with a bit of "The Seven Year Itch" thrown in for good measure.

And while playwrites Norman Barasch and Caroll Moore are no Molieres — or even George Axelrods, for that matter — they've successfully brewed their well tested comic ingredients together into an enjoyable lightweight concoction.

The Theatre Guild production's greatest asset in serving up this dramatic dish is Joe McAuliffe in the principle role of hyprochondriac who mistakenly believes he has only two more weeks to live.

McAULIFFE HAS a face that is conservatively termed "rubber." The best part of the evening is sitting back and observing his agonizing. He has another talent requisite for a clown—timing. Even his most preposterous grimaces can not be denied.

"Send Me No Flowers" details the hyprochondriac's frantic efforts to set his house in order before his time runs out. Naturally, he decides to choose a second husband for his wife. Naturally, she doesn't understand. And naturally, the events take a series of comic turns until the happy ending.

Louise Quist, as the wife, gives a rather uneven performance. Her first act portrayal of the long-suffering but understanding help-mate is more believable—and comic—than her later acts jealous wife. She doesn't seem able to build to the broader frantic pace called for.

IT ALSO MIGHT be suggested that next time she choose a brighter make-up. Those merciless stage lights wash out her features.

In supporting roles particular credit should be given to Chuck Sule as the chosen second husband and Tony Good as the hero's neighbor and best friend. Good has the joyful actor's task of playing drunk scenes for most of his time on stage, and he makes the most of it. He accomplishes the difficult task of stealing scenes from the putty visaged McAuliffe.

The authors have scattered black-out dream sequences throughout the play, and director Ed Sauer wisely chooses to make these all-out burlesques-complete with grotesque costumes and far, far-out acting.

ACTUALLY, THE black-outs weaken the structure of the play, and it takes the audience a minute or two to get back into the swing of things after they end. But they are good fun, and the play is not such an integral masterpiece that it can't use some additional jest.

Some of the vignette players who stand out are Brian Cuneen, as a zoot-suited gigolo, Peggy Courtney, as a hip swinging lady of the evening, and Carol Badger. However, Miss Badger might burlesque it up a bit more as the baby doll paramour.

We'd also like to mention Jim Bosley, as the bumptious G.P. with yearnings for a lucrative specialty. Unfortunately, he has a slight speech pattern which detracts somewhat from his performance.

WILLIAM Buscher's performance as the omni-joyful cemetery lot salesman presents a problem for a reviewer. The character is too broadly drawn for the play and seems more in place in the burlesque black-outs.

However, the blame for this might be more properly placed upon the director's head. It's doubtful that Mr. Buscher could not have toned down his performance a bit if Mr. Sauer had so directed. As it stands, it is excellent burlesque.

Now that the brick-bats have been thrown, another bouquet for Mr. Sauer, Doubling in brass as scenic designer, he is to be congratulated on his set. It allows for plenty of mobility of action without appearing sparse.

AND IT ACHIEVES the effect of a comfortable suburban household. Somehow suburban theaters have great difficulty in transferring the aura of their living rooms to the stage.

After viewing the Guild's professional first offering, we're looking forward to the attempt at more heavy drama with the coming second production of "The Country Girl." (Bill

'Nuremberg' Set For Area Showing

Stanley Kramer's widely discussed and highly honored "Judgment At Nuremberg," which has won some of the highest critical acclaim ever accorded a motion picture besides winning two Oscars and a special award for its producer, opens this Friday at the Golf Mill Theatre as an exclusive Northwest Suburban showing.

The film stars Spencer Tracy, Burt Lancaster, Judy Garland, Richard Widmark, Marlene Dietrich, Montgomery Clift and Maximillian Schell.

The Golf Mill will present four performances on Friday and Saturday with three performances shown daily Sunday through Thursday.

THE THEATRE also is proud to present an art exhibit by Mrs. Elizabeth Kapner of Park Ridge, during the month of October in the theatre art gallery.

Mrs. Kapner, mother of four, had her early art training in the Chicago school system and the American Academy of Art. She is self taught, turning to the old masters for instruction, translating their methods and techniques in a contemporary manner. She is equally facile in the use of oils, pastels and pen and ink drawings. Her work includes original greeting card designs and illustrations. She has just completed a children's book due for early publication.

JILL SHIPSTAD, daughter of Roy Shipstad, co-owner of Shipstads and Johnson Ice Follies, takes over the principal role in "It Could Only Happen in Texas" in the Show of Champions running Oct. 16 through Nov. 4 at the Chicago Stadium. (Bill

Story Told

Masque, Staff Comedy Ready

Will Peter Winter sacrifice his "dishonor" for the woman he loves? This is the dilemma posed in "White Sheep of the Family," a three-act comedy which will be presented by the Elk Grove Village Masque and Staff drama group on Oct. 5, 6, 12 and 13.

The comedy concerns the aristocratic Winters family, a light hearted and light fingered tribe which has managed to keep itself out of jail for three generations.

The family is dismayed to find the son—a master of the fine art of forgery—leaving the fold to go straight. The reason for his defection is, of course, a girl who also happens to be the daughter of the assistant commissioner of Scotland Yard.

THE SON, Peter, adds insult to injury for his family by taking a respectable job in a bank (his forged references are excellent!).

Contributing to the fun and confusion are an absent-minded vicar, a cockney maid whose training includes lessons in being light-fingered, and a cosmopolitan fence.

Featured in the cast are Guy Marsh and Diane Africk as James and Alice Winter; Rosemary Kalaway as their daughter, Pat; Fred Brodersen as the son, Peter; and Liz Romero as Angela Preston, Peter's fiancee.

MORRIS Pumphrey will play assistant commissioner John Preston, and Kay Bumpas will portray the vicar. Also in the cast are Diane Johnson as the maid and Dick Africk as Sam Jackson, the "fence."

Director of the play is Shirley Johnson who has also staged six of Masque and Staff's previous productions. Jessie Cusser is the producer.

The play, written by L. du Garde Peach and Ian Hay, was originally presented on the London stage where it enjoyed great popularity.

PERFORMANCES will be held at Dempster Junior High School, located on Dempster Street between Busse Road and Route 83. Curtain time will be 8:30 p.m.

Tickets may be obtained by calling HE 9-2870 or may be purchased at the Elk Grove Park & Shop this Saturday. (Bill

NOT DUCK!
... but Crisp Long Island Duckling with luscious Bigarade Sauce and French Cognac Flambeau

Only plump, meaty Long Island Ducklings of just the right age and temperament meet Master Chef Gerd Huesken's specifications. First they're halved and BONED ... not even a splinter is left. Slowly roasted and basted in a puree of orange and lemon juices melded with the duckling's own delicious gravy and mild herbs. Served under thin slices of fresh California orange. And for that "just right" crispness, covered with genuine French cognac dressing and flambeaued at your table by Maitre d' Rodriguez. Accompanied by our own wild rice recipe—not too dry—a perfect complement.

Truly continental cuisine served with old world attentiveness in a rich and luxurious atmosphere.

'Desperate Hours' Is Slated on Four Dates

Seated at the director's table with a stack of tryout cards, Arlington Heights Village Theatre Director Richard Tyler conferred in lowered tones with Stage Manager Harriet Smith and scribbled notes on the cards in shorthand.

As budding players finished reading, Tyler intoned a thank you and called for another group.

Before the actors' arrival, Tyler had marked passages in the script of "The Desperate Hours." Each actor read the same passage.

OF THE estimated 55 persons who tried out for "The Desperate Hours," 14 remained at tryouts' end through a process of elimination.

When asked how he chooses the cast of a play, Tyler answered, "There are many factors involved. We must have contrast, especially in voice levels, to avoid monotony. If any character in the play has the same voice level it becomes a drone, and tiresome to the audience.

"There must also be some distinction in appearances and characteristics. Although we come as close as possible, the best man may not necessarily get the part because his voice level may be too close to another with whom he will interchange a great many lines."

AMONG THE cast of 14 will be many faces new to Village Theatre audiences. Leonard Hodera will play Chuck, Don Baylor will be convict Glenn Griffin, Mel Holden will be the bully Robish.

The part of Lt. Fredericks will be acted by Joe Crittenden, Cindy Hilliard will be done by Binki Hawley, convict Hank Griffin will be played by Don Moses, and Ralph Hilliard will be acted by David Ullrich. The offstage telephone voice of Dutch will be done by Larry Wyler.

Already familiar to patrons are John Grayson and Lois Drum, playing Dan and Eleanor Hilliard; Red Pownall as Deputy Sheriff Bard; Pat O'Dea acting as FBI agent Harry Carson; David Dove as Mr. Patterson; Randy Moses as Miss Swift, and Al Wilcox as Sheriff Winston.

TICKETS for "The Desperate Hours" may be reserved by calling the Village Theatre box-office at CL 9-3200 between 9 a.m. and noon.

The play, which will be presented Oct. 25, 26, 27 and 28 in the Prospect High school Theatre, is the first Village Theatre production of the current season. Blocks of tickets are available at reduced rates to club groups and organizations. (Bill

German Artist to Be League Guest

The Oct. 2 meeting of the Mount Prospect Art League will feature artist Curt Frankenstein who will paint a figure in oil, using a live model. The demonstration will begin at 8 p.m. at Lions Park Field House in Mount Prospect.

Frankenstein was born in Germany, but fled the Nazi regime in 1939 and went to Shanghai, China. In 1947 he came to the United States on a scholarship from the Hillel Foundation at the American Academy of Art.

WELL KNOWN in the Chicago area, he has won many awards, including prizes in the "Magnificent Mile" Competition in Chicago in 1961; at the Mid-Winter and Spring Shows of the South Shore Gallery; the Illinois State Fair and the American Jewish Arts Club exhibitions.

He has had one man shows at the Winnetka Women's Club, First Federal Galleries of Chicago and the Union League Club of Chicago and is a member of Artists Equity Association, Inc. and the American Jewish Arts Club.

Anyone interested in art is invited to attend the monthly demonstrations sponsored by the Mount Prospect Art League. Mrs. Leon Liljequist, Membership Chairman, may be phoned at CL 5-3510 for further information. (Bill

The Way We See It

Annexation Harmful To School District

Annexations undertaken by municipalities are often accomplished without any regard for some of the other tax-supported bodies which might be penalized by such action.

A case in point is the recent Mount Prospect annexation of 325 acres belonging to Builder Salvatore DiMucci. While the annexation may prove financially beneficial to the village, it will also increase the tax burden of Elk Grove School District 59.

The property, which lies south of Golf Road near the intersection of Golf and Busse Roads, is in the Elk Grove School District.

The Elk Grove school board has been engaged in a long-standing controversy with the builder over whether he should contribute in some manner to the school district since his developments increase the school population. DiMucci, unlike most developers, has resisted all such overtures.

For this reason, the Elk Grove school board opposed DiMucci's efforts to have the property rezoned under county zoning standards. The Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals eventually turned down the builder's rezoning request under county provisions for a "planned development," which permits a slight reduction in lot sizes from the county minimum of 10,000 square feet per lot.

Mount Prospect annexed the DiMucci property June 12, and granted a number of zoning concessions to do so, including a reduction in a lot size from 8,500 to 7,200 square feet, purchase of a private utility after 25 years, and no limit on the number of building permits.

Elk Grove school officials estimate such action will place an additional $90,000 annual tax burden on the district. Their estimate is based on the cost of from $400 to $600 required to educate a single child in a year. Figuring one student per average household, it is calculated that even without the concessions granted in zoning the tax addition would amount to $40,000 annually.

By securing special Mount Prospect lot sizes, the builder will obtain around 200 more lots for his development than county zoning would have allowed him.

Mount Prospect appears to have been motivated by a natural desire for expansion. It had been suggested that Des Plaines would have annexed the property if Mount Prospect had not. This would have barred the village's ability to expand southward. An added inducement was the presence of the United Air Lines main administrative building and stewardess school, valuable property taxwise.

But it is doubtful that these possible gains to the village outweigh the added problem the Elk Grove School District inherits of providing for the increased school population the development will bring.

Other municipalities have annexed land into adjoining school districts on the precondition that a builder's zoning requirements are satisfied, usually to the detriment of the school district.

In fact, the only case of recent record in which pre-annexation zoning for the property owner was not demanded occurred when Arlington Heights annexed a 28-acre parcel of land from Nurseryman Carl Klehm.

As in other instances, it is a case of each village thinking it is autonomous and self-sufficient, an island unto itself. When such thinking prevails, solutions to regional problems are sought on a local basis; petty, selfish motives take precedent over the public interest.

Overlapping jurisdictional lines of a multiplicity of taxing bodies often at war with each other over their particular interests further muddles the issues.

In annexations, as in solving water and sewer needs, drainage, zoning, and the host of other problems accompanying the rapid growth of new and expanding developments, the paramount need is for cooperation — not competition — between the various community parts which make up the whole of suburbia. The price of ignoring the total picture in favor of momentary gain is too high a one to pay.

Observations On Progress?

by TOM EDWARDS

Observations:

—If you have position, you may speak with dignity — otherwise, you are obstreperous and out of order.

—Public offices should be vested with dignity and honor, and persons filling these offices should be deferred to accordingly, regardless of their actions.

—If you seek political office, go to church, don't take stands on issues which don't affect the pocketbook, and don't accept challenges from an underdog.

—The great majority is for peace, and is equally willing to go to war to preserve it, as well as to sacrifice their freedoms in the name of freedom.

—The western hemisphere is a bulwark of freedom, even though democracy and religious freedom are practically non-existent in South America.

EDWARDS

— Russia's action in Hungary was terribly wrong, but United States intervention in Cuba would be a different matter entirely.

—Thou shalt not kill — except in war. And although radioactive fallout will almost assuredly cripple and/or shorten the lives of many millions, maybe even billions, atomic testing by Russia and the United States — and eventually many other nations — is not morally wrong.

—CANNIBALISM IS immoral and must be stamped out in New Guinea, and world over-population is a problem which China better find a solution to.

—Human beings can't assume to grow with time like the redwood tree, with an increasing crescendo until death. Rather, like annual flowers, we sprout, maybe bloom, and continually deteriorate until death.

—A favorable balance of trade is to export more than we import. Then when we have depleted our natural resources, we can buy them from other countries with the money we made.

—We must help the backward nations of the world. That's why we so generously give economic aid to countries like Laos and Africa — 90 per cent arms and 10 per cent otherwise.

—Backward Africans will soon destroy all their exotic wildlife in their ignorance, having no realization of the aesthetic values of nature. Perhaps we should, as Noah was ordered by God, save these animals for posterity by establishing them in the United States. (We could put elephants in Florida, lions on the Great Plains, and zebras in the Lake Michigan dunes we are going to save from exploitation by commercial interests.)

—YOU CAN'T stop progress. The experience of the dinosaur doesn't apply to humanity. History doesn't repeat itself, and neither will the Dark Ages.

—American agriculture, its per acre production, is a world criterion of progress. Whether the quality of food per acre is increasing along with the quantity is of no concern, because we now have chemical vitamins and food additives.

—A competitive society is a healthy one, and cooperation is a request from the indigent of the world.

—A college education is a must for success today. (Just think what Henry Ford, Edison, Lincoln, Washington, Shakespeare and Moses would have been with college educations.)

—Education is successful if the student learns nothing more than to think. It is therefore axiomatic that the human mind must be instructed when young and pliable, and more higher education and training are necessary in this technological age. The young mind should be taught basic values and truths of life, and immoral books and unacceptable ideologies should be banned to youth.

—Unexplained is why the natural expression, grace and rhythm of a child is stilted in school and often by dancing and music lessons.

—LOVE OF THE Romeo and Juliet variety is a romantic illusion which wears out quickly with time. Marriage is a contractual relationship made successful by patience and understanding. Besides, compromises must be made sometimes to make life bearable.

—Extrasensory perception (like poetic love is now) used to be in the category of mythology. Even if we experienced it, we couldn't believe it.

—Earth is Paradise, and life is passionately beautiful.

'Hold on, Puh-leeze'

'J'accuse!' Mr. Bell

by BOB CUMMINS

Over the years, I have always blushed crimson whenever my boss has asked me: "Cummins, do you think you will ever amount to anything?"

Naturally, if I answered "Yes" it would imply that I didn't amount to anything NOW. That would mean that my hopes for a merit raise would be dashed to the ground.

On the other hand if I answered "No" it would mean that my hopes for the merit raise would be dashed to the ground not only now but forevermore.

Something has happened recently that makes me think I might as well answer "No." My ego has been crushed.

CUMMINS

Let me start from the beginning.

Frequently, when I have answered the ring of my telephone, a sweet voice has asked, "Mr. Cummins?" When I answered "Yes" the voice would continue, "Hold on puh-leeze. Mr. Thorneycroft wishes to speak to you." And so I would wait until Mr. Thorneycroft finished his dictation or returned from the lavatory and was pleased to speak to me.

BUT I DIDN'T mind. Mr. Thorneycroft and others of his ilk were important people. Like collection managers for large credit agencies or parole officers.

They had the grave responsibility of restoring large numbers of people to a decent place within society. If I could help by saving them a precious minute or two, I was glad to do so.

But recently the telephone procedure has been refined. To me, it is a cruel refinement.

For when I answer, and am told that Mr. Thorneycroft wishes to speak to me, and I wait, the next voice I hear is not that of Mr. Thorneycroft. It is Mr. T's secretary.

And she, in turn, tells me: "Hold on, puh - leeze. Mr. Thorneycroft wishes to speak to you."

And so it is that not even the secretaries will call me directly. Their time is much more important than mine. And that is how my ego came to be crushed.

Right now it is like a radish. I think a radish is one of the most unpretentious things in the world. But my ego is not quite as good as a radish anymore. At least, not a crisp radish. It is more like a wilted radish. A radish that has acquired the consistency of an eraser.

Perhaps I should not accept all this meekly. Perhaps I should leap to my feet and cry in a voice hoarse with emotion, "J'accuse!"

"J'ACCUSE YOU, Alexander Graham Bell, of a diabolical invention!" J'accuse you, Alexander Graham Bell, of making it possible for solicitors to call me during dinner and try to get me to buy a 42 - piece set of stainless steel pots and pans. J'accuse you, Alexander Graham Bell, of aiding and abetting the most abominable invasions of privacy. J'accuse you, Alexander Graham Bell, of permitting Mr. Thorneycroft's secretary's secretary to call me and say, "Hold on, puh-leeze."

"J'accuse!"

Balanced View

A Book on Hollywood Unlike Predecessors

By MARTIN E. MARTY

You may be miles away from Christian Science religiously, but if you are a thoughtful person in quest of the news, you can hardly avoid the Christian Science Monitor.

If you have read it for some years you will know Richard Dyer MacCann as the Monitor's film reviewer.

If you read his reviews, you will not be surprised to learn that he has written a new, tasteful, balanced view of the motion picture industry.

"Hollywood in Transition" (Houghton Mifflin & Co., $3.75) differs from the usual. Most books about Hollywood fall into one of two categories. Either they are brassy, sobby sentimental recalls of "The Good Old Days," and self-important advertisements for the residues of greatness. The other type is equally useless: devastating critiques of either the morality or the art of filmdom.

MARTY

SUCH BOOKS do not help. "The Good Old Days" will not return and savage criticism is beside the point. While it is obvious the movies have not lived up to their promise, the limits of the medium and the limits its audience will admit have to be reckoned with.

Mr. MacCann ("the only Ph.D. writing regular movie reviews," the publisher reminds us irrelevantly) takes a different stance. Yes, he is very critical.

But his criticism is always in context and he empathizes with those who have the problem of introducing art into a popular form and of keeping moral standards in the light of complicated competition.

The "transition" implied in the title is the result of television. As MacCann sees it, TV spelled the end of many forms of life in Hollywood. But, unlike the less acute observers, he does not think Hollywood ever was well defined and normal.

Change is the way of life in the competitive and unreal world of the West Coast. Television did represent the most complicated change to date, however.

With every liability come some assets. With the limits of the market and the new competition with foreign markets came new freedoms.

There is less censorship. There is less dictatorial studio centralization. Now it is possible to be free of the conformity of the domestic market. And assembly-line pressures are gone.

NONE OF THE freedoms are well-used, says the author. He blames the public for wanting to be catered to with cheap and sensational sex in films. Particularly he worries about the fact that the audience is predominantly high school and young adult.

I agree with MacCann that censorship for adults is a largely useless kind of thing and may be dangerous. I also agree when he says that the First Amendment need not assure a 12-year-old that she has a right to see "Suddenly Last Summer."

MacCann provides suggestions by which the audience can help grade the manners, morals, and art of film-making. If followed, this would be better than the activity of those who unwittingly involve their children in trashy movies or, on the other hand, the blue-noses who only regret and complain.

MOVIES have too many potentials for informing, ennobling, entertaining to let them fall only into the hands of the exploiters. MacCann properly congratulates the few who have lived up to their responsibility.

Government of the Utmost

"If liberty and equality, as is thought by some, are chiefly to be found in democracy, they will be best attained when all persons alike share in the government of the utmost."

—Aristotle

The League of Women Voters have long striven for this goal of "government of the utmost."

In order to further this work, the Palatine and Arlington Heights Leagues of Women Voters — together with 75 other local leagues in the state of Illinois — are launching or about to launch their annual fund drives.

The league's most carefully guarded characteristic is its non-partisan nature. Its second enduring quality is to encourage citizens to participate in government to the utmost "through informed and active participation."

In achieving this stated purpose, the League of Women Voters has served as more than an informational clearing house. It has also fulfilled the role of watchdog over governmental affairs, holding officials accountable for their deeds and misdeeds through public questioning and, on more than a few occasions, investigative probes to substantiate a position or charge.

The league's role of gadfly in keeping public officials, candidates and parties accountable to the public fits in with its function of aiming for maximum citizen participation in the affairs of government.

In its 40-year history, it has been a vital force in registration and voting drives. The league has arranged candidate meetings where voters are exposed to the opposing views of ballot seekers present on the same platform. Printed information on candidates and issues is distributed before elections.

Special interest groups and lobbyists are more active than ever at all levels of government. A slumbering electorate's apathy toward candidates, parties, issues and the right to vote has aroused a deep concern. The League of Women Voters has done much and will continue to do much toward awakening the citizen to his individual responsibility.

It has dedicated itself to democracy with a small "d."

In order to continue to function in this capacity, the leagues must draw operating funds from contributions by citizens, businesses and organizations; dues are nominal so that every woman can afford to belong to the league.

Such an investment by the community means a continuance of emphasis on democracy with a small "d," and should pay handsome dividends in encouraging "the government of the utmost."

Predicts Radiation Will Cut Life Span

BOSTON, (UPI) — Dr. James Crow, a University of Wisconsin geneticist, predicts that the effects of radiation in the earth's atmosphere will lead to a shorter life span.

Crow, speaking on a panel discussion of the hazards of radiation, said the "dilution in space and time of those who are injured lessens the impact of the hazards of nuclear radiation in the minds of citizens.

CROW PREDICTED that in the next 1,000 years "if the human race lasts that long," radiation will continue withering the human system. He said it would cause "countless forms of unseen deterioration," even though most of the results will not be so visibly horrifying as some that have been brought to the general public's attention in recent years.

Others participating in the filmed discussion were Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Rep. John Lindsay, R-N.Y., Dr. Charles Janeway, physician in chief of Boston's Children's Medical Center, Dr. Russell Morgan, radiologist in chief of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., and Lauriston Taylor of the Federal Bureau of Standards.

Falling Trees Hazard Probed

In behalf of the Roselle Garden Club and all of us living within the Bloomingdale—Roselle Area, I make a plea to the county to please do something about the dead trees in th Bloomingdale Forest Preserve on Bloomingdale road.

Again this year I am going to the Illinois Garden Clubs State Conservation Conference in Monticello, Ill. Once again I will hear lectures on Dutch Elm disease, but what good does it do me as an individual to know the diseased trees must be removed when there is such a bad situation at home and nothing is done about it?

As I drove by the preserve last spring I noticed about four dead trees and now there must be 20.

Also, it is a danger for anyone using the forest preserve, and that little woods is used constantly.

I LIVE IN back of it, and every so often I hear a loud thud, meaning, another tree has fallen. Last summer a group of young boys was on an outing in the preserve and a tree fell and pinned down one of the boy's legs.

Won't the county please help us check Dutch Elm disease, and also get rid of the danger of falling trees?

Smoking Cuts Energy Output; Addict Left Open to Illness

I read with interest, Betty Ainslie's article about the sweet complications of cigarette rejection.

I burned up about $1,500 in 22 years and then I kissed Lady Nicotine good-bye for keeps. That was some 33 years ago. I figured, if I remember correctly, I had inhaled the smoke of one cigarette, ten miles long, My lungs hurt now, just from the thought of it. I learned then and since, more about the subject than you can spare space to print so I'll give you just some of the highlights.

The living animal is a power plant. It burns carbon mostly, to carbon dioxide, plus some monoxide, which is not so hot no matter which way you look at it.

THE LATTER has a greater affinity for the hemoglobin of the blood it meets in the lungs than oxygen has, so it not only displaces but also excludes oxygen. Eventually it is burned (if the power plant keeps running) but the energy of its combustion is only a fraction of that of CO2, and the power plant is always "tired" and in time grows thin and weak and eventually reeks from the smokestack and many other places.

From the formula we see that it takes two molecules of oxygen to burn one of carbon and no matter how the oxygen absorption happens to fall behind the fuel supply, it follows that the percentage of unburned food in the ash pit will be increased. The craving for a cigarette, evident in addiction, is nothing but food hunger and it increases as the combustion efficiency decreases. The cure is neither more cigarettes nor new nostrums but food and oxygen. Candy is food!

WE OLD TIMERS who can remember the days when we heated our homes with coal stoves in the living room and kitchen, know that the simplest way to control the heat was to control the air supply to the fuel bed. Smoke breathing, of course, reduces the energy output at its source, the firebox (lungs) and the engine is both starved and poisoned. The smoke irritates the chimney (nasal passages) so if I say the cause of chronic colds is smoke inhalation, the percentage of error is low.

Both the nasal passages and the interior of the lungs defend themselves by flooding, just as the eyes do. The lungs have no lower drainage so they have to evaporate the fluid and as the smoking accelerates the fluid level increases in height, filling up more and more air cells and the addict becomes more and more short-winded.

Some of the tars and toxins remain and coughing expells some of it. Chronic bronchitis is the rule. The greater the addiction, the more bellicose the patient gets. He wants to fight at the drop of a hat but alas, few of them can fight a lick. Cigarette addicts are born losers. Air breathers can lick them without a blow, just by trotting away. They fall on their faces. They can't run, they can't think straight and they have only one hand free for work. They're good at leaning.

BUT I DON'T think that they should worry too much about cancer. I believe more non-inhaling pipe smokers get lung cancer because a cigarette addict doesn't usually live long enough to die of cancer. His addiction reduces his defensive power against disease and although the death certificate gives the usual terminal cause, the real cause is habitual smoke inhalation.

Betty's fondness for candy will probably persist unless she turns to other fuel, at least until she recovers the muscle, bone and brains she lost during addiction, but she'll be capable, sweet and desirable for a long, long time, other factors being normal, if she stays on the wagon.

Warning to all Bettys,—You are always one inhale away from an addict. Don't!

Pardon Us For Error

We regret errors in typesetting which occurred in two paragraphs of a letter Mrs. Louis Nye, president of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters, wrote in defense of the proposed judicial amendment which will be submitted to voters in the November elections. The paragraphs in her letter which appeared on the Fence Post page Sept. 13 should have read:

"Our present judicial system has many trial courts with overlapping jurisdictions. If you don't like the verdict you get in one court, switch to a different one. If you have a smart lawyer you can drag the case on for years, tying up the courts in expensive litigation. Some lawyers might object to the proposed amendment — their incomes could be substantially reduced. It is to their credit that most lawyers favor court reform.

"Under our present system, one Supreme Court district (comprising Cook and four adjoining counties) with 59 per cent of the state's population elects only one Supreme Court justice, while the other districts with 41 per cent of the population elect six. In addition, judges are elected at special judicial elections, which bring out few voters other than the party faithful."

Going Too Far In Annexation

The trustees of Arlington Heights are to be commended on their effort to expand the Village of Arlington Heights to provide areas for industry and ease the tax burden on home owners.

However this expansion should not be carried on with all caution thrown to the winds. I refer to the recent annexation of the trailer camp at Golf and State Roads. This nuisance type of business operation, if it is needed in the expansion plans should at very most be tolerated and continued in its present form. But to suggest as is village attorney Jack Siegel that the trailer camp might expand on the area it now uses as a septic field is in my opinion going too far in the other direction. Further, Mr. Siegel suggests a way that this can be accomplished without a public hearing. Just who does Mr. Siegel represent, the Village or the trailer camp?

Homes Require Inner Warmth

After reading Ronald Barnes' letter in Sept. 13's Mount Prospect Herald, Fence Post page, I grew weary and filled "up to here" with all the material being written these days on sameness, monotony, duplication of housing, and general condemnation of suburban life by suburbanites themselves.

Of course there is great duplication in housing and it just may be difficult to find your own home on a dark night because all the houses on the block look alike.

But since when does a different or unusual house make a person any different? Houses do not do a thing for the personality, but people sure can do a lot for a house and turn it into a real home.

NO HOUSE, no matter how "different" or "unusual" can be a home unless there is real warmth and love behind the front door, and whether this front door is just plain flush birch with a little square window at the top, or an elegant colonial, deeply paneled, makes little difference.

It is what's inside what counts and beauty is only "siding deep" in a house just as beauty is only "skin deep" with people.

We are certainly becoming shallow and narrow-minded when we think of the exterior being most important, be it houses as well as people. Let us get on the ball and show originality inside the home because that is where we spend the most time.

The outside of a home certainly is important and it gives a great deal of pleasure to have a nice appearing home, but after all, this is mostly for the outside world to see, for the cars passing by.

AND THOSE that crave a "different" home so desperately are only looking for flattery so they can hear their friends say to them, "What a lovely home you have, so different from anything I have seen." Is this what we rack our brains and pocketbooks for? Were it not for duplication, many people could not have homes at all and could not even dare to be original on the inside. Identical homes are still better than identical apartment houses.

No, I am not married to a project developer. My home is located in a neighborhood where all the homes were built at different times by various builders, ranging from 30 years to three years old. So, my home is different from those around me, because I guess I too, crave a little variety and am after all no different than you, Mr. Barnes.

Lauds Story on GOP Workshop

We sincerely appreciate the excellent coverage given a typical Republican Workshop discussion series in the Paddock papers.

Mr. Reddy has, we feel, caught the essence of our approach to political education.

There is one point, however, which may deserve an explanatory statement.

Your article indicated that Workshop discussion series are partisan projects. It is, of course, true that, as "Republican" Workshops, we are partisan. I would like to point out to your readers, however, that we have been and are interested in having "independents" and Democrats attend our discussion series, and that many from both categories have. There is no "hard sell" involved.

The simple philosophy behind the Workshops is that an informed electorate is better for this country than an uninformed one.

Again, we thank you for your excellent picture story.

Back District 214 Resolution

3 More School Boards Support Campaign Against Treasurers

The growing controversy over elimination of township school treasurers and trustees gained impetus last week from a state representative and three more northwest Cook county school boards.

School boards serving school districts in Palatine-Rolling Meadows, Wheeling-Buffalo Grove and Elk Grove voted last week to support a resolution asking that the offices of township school trustees and treasurers be abolished.

State Rep. Bernard Peskin (D-Northbrook) stated he planned to introduce legislation next spring to elimnate the two offices which are now retained only in Cook County.

PESKIN POINTED out he had introduced an amendment to include Cook County when the offices were eliminated from Marion and St. Clair (East St. Louis) Counties in 1961, but the amendment failed to get the necessary support.

It was to gain legislative support that High School District 214 (Arlington, Prospect and Forest View High Schools) adopted the original resolution on the township trustee and treasurer problem for consideration before the Illinois Association of School Boards (IASB) convention in November. The resolution asks that the IASB "actively support legislation to abolish the offices in Cook County."

Strong opposition to the resolution has been voiced by Noble J. Puffer, Cook County superintendent of schools. The county school officer sent a letter to all school districts in Cook County stressing his support for the office of township school treasurer.

HIGH SCHOOL District 214 had sent copies of their resolution to all school boards in the county, asking them to study the matter and soliciting their support.

School boards serving Palatine-Schaumburg high schools, Prospect Heights grade schools, Mount Prospect elementary schools, Rich Township high schools and Evergreen Park grade and high schools have acted favorably on the measure. Mount Prospect has not yet forwarded their supporting resolution to the IASB.

Many schools boards added a commentary or supplemental resolution to their action urging the elmination of township school treasurers.

THESE ADDITIONAL resolutions pointed out the schools are not critical of the service given by present township school treasurers, but felt the change in school laws would permit schools to control their own funds and grant supervision over the treasurer.

Township school trustees are elected for six-year terms on a staggered two-year basis. The three trustees in each township hold title to all school buildings and land. The trustees appoint a township school treasurer and set the salary of his office.

There is no statutory limit on the township school treasurer's salary or expenses.

Township school treasurers are responsible for all funds for school districts in the township and must sign all checks issued by the various school boards. They keep a duplicate set of financial records.

District 214 contends these positions "impede efficient school administration, cause duplication of effort and create additional expense." (B8

Proposes Law To Curb Press

Milwaukee, (UPI) — Laws to permit the prosecution on misdemeanor charges of any member of the communications media who willfully or negligently prints or broadcasts a lie were proposed last week by a federal judge.

Furthermore, Judge Hubert Will said, he would advocate a misdemeanor statute also for those of the media who disclose certain facts about a defendant in a trial prior to the start of the trial.

Will, who represents the northern district of Illinois on the federal bench in Chicago, told a meeting of Sigma Delta Chi that he favors such measures because of too much "shoddy merchandise in the field of information."

WILL SAID he believes the press and broadcasters are dangerously close to losing some of their freedoms because they are not doing a complete and accurate job.

He conceded that some members of the media were living up to their function as a "keystone" of our democracy, were responsible in their news coverage.

But too many, Will said, believe that the "bizarre and sordid is news . . . give inadequate and sometimes false reports of events . . . and slant news."

A MAN FROM Mars visiting this country, the judge said, would get the impression we were "crime ridden, physically insecure, and full of cheap values."

The function of the press should be to provide the best information which is essential to the majority to make up its mind, the judge said. (A14

Carpentier Defends Driver Instruction

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI)—Secretary of State Charles Carpentier Tuesday spoke out against a proposal that the state's driver training be abolished.

The proposal was one of several made by the legislative subcommittee headed by Rep. John Parkhurst, R—Peoria.

Carpentier said in 1957 he asked for an increase from $1 to $3 in the driver license fee to improve driver training and reduce traffic facilities.

CARPENTIER said, "The sole purpose of the increased fee was to establish the driver education fund. The fund was never intended for general revenue purposes."

The Parkhurst report said driver training belonged to the parents and Carpentier disputed this contention.

The Secretary of State said this view "has long since been rejected by traffic safety experts. They maintain that this procedure simply passes on the adult's bad driving habits to the new driver." (A14

by Robert E. Hood, Assistant Farm Adviser

Many of us work and live in this busy Chicagoland area and are not close to the large business of farming in Illinois. I recently ran across the following statistics on the agricultural business in our state. It is good for us to realize the support that this agriculture provides us in food and clothing.

"Farming in Illinois is big business by any measure. The more than 30 million acres of land in farms accounts for 85 per cent of the total land area. Its investment is large. Land and buildings alone are worth almost 9 billion dollars. Equipment will average several thousand dollars for each farm. Production expenses for feed, fertilizer, fuel, labor and taxes are heavy.

Illinois' fertile soil, favorable climate, good transportation and markets, and the industry of its people, have made it a rich agricultural empire. Each year Illinois farmers produce new wealth in the form of crops, amounting to over one billion dollars and market two billion dollars worth of crops, livestock and livestock products.

The wide variety of soil, climate and topography make it possible for Illinois farmers to grow an equally wide variety of crops: cotton in the delta along the Ohio and Mississippi; sugar beets, spring wheat and barley in the north; apples and peaches on the ridges where air drainage is good, and corn, oats, soybeans, winter wheat and hay everywhere. A wide variety of vegetables, broomcorn, popcorn, horseradish, and even some rice and tobacco are others.

Illinois is at the crossroads of all systems of transportation — rail, air, highways and inland waterways. A network of railroads serves all counties except one, and almost half of the counties border on rivers with barge lines giving ready access to the Gulf of Mexico, the Great Lakes and to other continents via the St. Lawrence Waterway. All-weather highways reach into every community and market.

Illinois farmers have markets close at hand — interior as well as terminal grain and livestock markets. In its own population the State has a large market for the products of the farm. Processing operations in which Illinois is among the top ranking states in importance, include meat packing, soybean processing, dairy manufactures, corn processing, feed milling, and vegetable processing.

Illinois farmers are efficient. In the last ten years the acreage of field crops harvested per worker has increased 40 per cent. The number of spring sows per farm has increased a fourth and fall sows almost one half. Grain fed cattle per farm and the size of the dairy herd are each up one third. Livestock and poultry producers are distributing their production more evenly over the year. Production per unit is up.

The corn yield per acre is almost a third higher, soybean and oats yields are up almost a fifth, wheat is up two fifths, and hay almost a third. Pigs saved per litter are a tenth higher, eggs per hen are up a fifth and milk per cow is almost a third larger than ten years ago.

Illinois ranks third among the states in cash receipts from the sale of crops, also third in livestock and livestock products. It is first in sales of corn and soybeans, second in hogs and fourth in cattle. Cash receipts from marketings of crops and livestock in 1961 were over two billion dollars. Illinois produced nearly one-third of the U.S. production of Swiss cheese in 1960 and ranked fourth in total cheese production.

It ranks high in the production of Jonathan and Golden Delicious apples. Illinois tops all Corn Belt states in value per acre and total value of farm real estate. It also tops them in taxes paid on farm property.

Illinois farm families are industrious and their work shows it. In a peak day they will plant over a half million acres of corn and at picking time, harvest over 300,000 acres. They will plant 175,000 acres of soybeans and combine the same amount on peak days in the spring and fall.

Other big claimants on the farmers' time are the livestock operations consisting of 8 million hogs, over a half million head of cattle on feed, over a half million milk cows, over a million turkeys and 10 million hens and pullets.

Illinois farmers will harvest a corn crop now expected to total 659 million bushels in 1962, 3 per cent more than in 1961 and 23 per cent above average. Illinois ranks second in production but leads all Corn Belt states in yield per acre of 78 bushels, an all time high. The 1962 soybean acreage (5.6 million) is 1 per cent larger than the record acreage of last year, 28 per cent above average, and tops all other states.

A 1962 Illinois wheat crop of 52.7 million bushels is 5 million above the 1951-60 average but 10 million bushels short of the record high of 1919. The yield per acre of 34.0 bushels is exceeded only by the 37.5 bushel yield in 1956 and 36.0 bushels in 1961. Oats acreage was the smallest since 1870, production of 83 million bushels was 8 per cent less than last year and a third short of average.

Illinois hog producers expected 3 per cent more fall sows to farrow than in 1961. Illinois cattle feeders had 465,000 head of cattle on feed this July 1 — 8 per cent of the nation's total. Milk production in June was the same as a year ago but 13 per cent below average. The number of milk cows is 1 per cent from last year and almost a fourth less than average.

Milk per cow is 1 per cent larger than a year ago, 16 per cent above average and the highest of record. Egg production is down 2 per cent from last year and 21 per cent from average. The number of layers is 4 per cent short of a year ago and 26 per cent below average. Eggs per layer are up 2 per cent from last year, 7 per cent above average.

How many workers to get these jobs done? The Illinois farm labor force in June consisted of 303,000 workers of which 221,000 were farm family workers and 82,000 were hired. Five years ago the total labor force was 291,000, made up of 231,000 farm family workers and 60,000 hired. In 1960 one farm worker supplied farm products for 26.21 persons. A hundred years ago one farm worker supplied farm products to 4.53 persons." (B8

Write-In Campaign Waged in Suburbs

by BRUCE LADD

Robert C. Cosbey of Evanston, a university professor with a "peace approach" to politics, has launched a write-in campaign he hopes will carry him in Congress.

The 48-year-old candidate admits he's in an uphill fight, but takes sanctuary in the belief that "voters (will) register their protest over the continuing spiral toward a nuclear holocaust."

Cosbey is campaigning under the auspices of Voters for Peace, a small-membership organization devoted to the proposition that nuclear testing must be permanently ended.

OPPOSING HIM in the race to fill the about-to-be vacated 13th Congressional District seat of U. S. Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church of Evanston are Democrat John A. Kennedy of Winnetka and Republican Donald Rumsfeld of Glenview.

Difference between the candates is that Kennedy and Rumsfeld have successfully filed nominating petitions with the state election authority. Cosbey has not.

The Roosevelt University professor's petitions contained less than 100 signatures, according to a Voters for Peace spokesman, and were therefore rejected by election officials.

PETITIONS filed by Kennedy and Rumsfeld contained several thousand signatures.

So, resigned to running as a write-in candidate, Cosbey is mounting the stump when and where he can: in the homes of friends and neighbors, at peace conclaves, and before all groups that will hear him out.

"Voters for Peace are backing me as an independent candidate because they could not persuade either of the regular party candidates in the 13th District to take a stand for peaceful alternatives to the arms race," Cosbey explained.

"THESE PEOPLE are convinced, as am I, that the sole overriding issue of our time is whether elected officials in our government are willing to strive for peaceful alternatives to the suicidal arms race.

"In the current atmosphere of hysteria and rash action, the regular party candidates are not offering the voters guidance and calm reflection on the peace issue.

"As an independent candidate, I pledge myself to the task of discussing and debating the plentiful alternatives to the arms race."

COSBEY, WHO lives at 1317 Judson St., Evanston, is married, the father of four children, and a professor of English literature (specializing in 19th Century American) at Roosevelt University. He is also a radio folk music commentator.

He sports a distinguished-looking mustache, goatee and long sideburns.

Voters for Peace headquarters in the 13th District is located at 824 Dempster St., Evanston. Requests for speaking engagements by Cosbey or other members of Voters for Peace may be made by telephoning 475-7145.

Mrs. Lucille H. Montgomery, 875 Bridlewood, Northbrook, is chairman of the 13th District Voters for Peace. She says:

"THE POLICIES we propose are initiatives for peace—not unilateral disarmament, but beginning steps to improve the chances for successful negotiation and to re-orient America toward peace.

"None of the steps in our platform impair the basic deterent some people feel we need, but they might well get us off the road to war."

The Voters for Peace platform calls for (1) end to nuclear tests, (2) abolition of fallout shelter program, (3) cessation of chemical-bacteriological-radiological warfare research and production, (4) decreasing reliance on military might.

Also, (5) a start at converting from war to peace production now, (6) negotiation for neutral de-nuclearized zones especially in Central Europe, and (7) disengagement from military-industrial support of dictatorial regimes, but vastly expanding our distribution of food to all peoples regardless of their governments' policies.

VOTERS FOR Peace are seeking volunteer workers from Barrington Hills, South Barrington, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Bartlett, Hanover Park, Streamwood, Elgin, Rolling Meadows, Palatine, Inverness, Hoffman Estates, Schaumburg, Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Wheeling, Northfield and Northbrook.

A petition was filed Sept. 14 with the Illinois Supreme Court as a first step in the Voters for Peace fight to get Cosbey's name on the ballot.

It is hoped by the peace group that the Supreme Court will direct the election authority to reverse its stand denying Cosbey's original petitions.

MEANWHILE, the write-in campaign is being carried on.

A Congressman from the 13th District will be elected in the Nov. 6 General Election. The district is comprised of Chicago's 5th Ward and the townships of Barrington, Hanover, Schaumburg, Palatine, Wheeling, Elk Grove, Northfield, New Trier, Niles and Evanston.

School Fund Surplus Seen

Despite earlier predictions that school state aid claims in Illinois might exceed the $393,396,000 appropriated by the 72nd General Assembly, State Superintendent of Public Instruction George T. Wilkins says that estimates now strongly indicate the common school fund will show a surplus of nearly $1 million when the current biennium ends June 30, 1963.

"Projections, based on previous figures, reveal the total state aid expenditure during the 72nd biennium will be about $392,461,581 which would leave a fund balance of $934,418.33," Wilkins stated.

WILKINS' REPORT, made to the School Problems Commission, came in the wake of news stories published throughout 1961-62 which quoted various persons who estimated a general state aid deficiency of as much as $15 million.

The chief state school officer today certified $163,262,524.75 state reimbursement for 1,513 school districts operating a recognized school during the 1961-62 school year. The amount represents an increase of $6,867,253.78 over the 1960-61 general state aid final payment.

ILLINOIS' SCHOOL districts have received more than $84 million to this date on claims submitted last fall which were based on the average daily attendance for the first month of school. The $163 million final payment certification, however, is based upon average daily attendance for the 1961-62 school year, and the remaining payments on this corrected claim will be made by the State Auditor to local districts not later than January 1963. In computing the corrected and final claims, attendance for the best six months of the school year is used.

Districts are entitled to state reimbursement on the basis of average daily attendance of pupils. Each district operating a recognized elementary school, grades kindergarten through eight, received a flat grant of $47 per pupil in average daily attendance; and each district operating a high school, grades nine through 12, receives a flat grant of $32 per pupil in average daily attendance. Stress Home Values

Juvenile Judge Helps In Homemaker Search

By MELDA LYNN

Perhaps no one is in a better position to judge the values of a good home environment and its influence on character than is a Juvenile Court judge. Each day there may pass in front of his bench several cases involving juveniles in which the implications may be tragic and in which the juvenile offender's lack of sound values may play a self-evident part.

For this reason, Judge Clayton W. Rose, president of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges and a resident of suburban Columbus, Ohio, has indicated his recognition of the important role of today's homemaker by accepting the invitation of the Suburban Press Foundation to act as one of its national judges in the search for the "Suburban Homemaker of the Year" in which Paddock Publications is participating.

JUDGE ROSE

LONG EXPERIENCE with problems of the family leads Judge Rose to say, "The homemaker of today has many grave responsibilities in the management of a home.

"She is expected to be the stabilizing force with all the members of her household. She is expected to be the director of the greatest symphony of our modern society — the home.

"Today, we are living amidst great pressures — the husband and father working in a highly competitive society — the children, competing in school, their many social demands, and as a result, the homemaker becomes an individual with many obligations. Her duties call for training as an economist, physiologist, sociologist, psychologist, and above all, a family — and often, a community peacemaker . . .

"The problems and the responsibilities of the homemaker are many, in that we all know that the strength of our family life is the cornerstone and foundation of our entire social structure."

A GRADUATE of Ohio State University College of Law, Rose has had an extensive career as an Ohio lawyer. He was public defender of the city of Columbus, Ohio from 1927-36, and a judge of the court of domestic relations and juvenile court of Franklin County (Ohio) from 1936 to the present time.

Parents of two grown sons and two grown daughters, Rose and his wife, Phyllis, are thoroughly qualified in the intricacies of family living. Five grandchildren now boost the immediate family circle.

Homemaker Search

First Entry Is Submitted By Neighbor

A Palatine mother is the first northwest suburbanite to be entered in the search for Suburban Homemaker of the Year. She is Mrs. Fred Ziesk, 29, mother of four, who lives at 322 N. Brockway St.

A neighbor, Lorraine Carro, submitted Mrs. Ziesk's entry.

"Oh boy! She didn't!" was the homemaker's initial response on learning she had been entered in the contest. Recovering from the first announcement, she declared, "Say, that's quite a thrill."

MRS. ZIESK explained that Mrs. Carro's daughter came over and asked for a snapshot, saying she was keeping a picture album. Earlier, Mrs. Carro, discussing the Homemaker contest, had mentioned that she would enter Mrs. Ziesk. "I never thought she would," exclaimed Mrs. Ziesk.

Mrs. Ziesk said she had thought that to compete you would have to have money, a beautiful house and spare time. "That's why I've hesitated to phy, and gifts.
enter anyone."

"But my neighbor said she didn't beleive that," said Mrs. Ziesk. "She said, 'Being a homemaker means doing the best with what you have.' "

Mrs. Ziesk is chairman of the Palatine Township Mental Health Association fund raising campaign, a member of the Democratic Women's Organization and a volunteer for the Northwest Community Hospital Women's Auxiliary.

SHE IS ACTIVE in the local Brownie Troop.

Mrs. Carro wrote: "She teaches (her children) respect with love and receives it in return."

Winner of the Suburban Homemaker of the Year in our community will compete with 100 other local winners throughout the nation for the title of National Suburban Homemaker of the Year—and a cash prize of $5,000. Locally, the deserving woman will receive a $100 Savings Bond, a handsome tro-

Goldwater To Address GOP Women

Newly-elected officers of the Women's Republican Club of the 13th Congressional District welcomed the new and re-appointed committee chairmen and township directors at th first board of directors meeting. The meeting was held Sept. 10 in the Mount Prospect home of Mrs. Robert Miligan, Elk Grove Township director, where the agenda was outlined for the coming months.

Suburbs Have Solved Baby Sitter Problem

BABY SITTING in her own home for a neighbor member of a Hoffman Estates parent baby sitting pool is Mrs. Irving Bentcover of 308 Washington. Playing are her son, Mark, 3, and Linda Hay, 2, of 213 Washington.

Mothers Organize Pools, Swap Clubs

by TOM EDWARDS

If solutions to all problems could be evolved as quickly and smoothly as new suburbia has solved its baby sitting problems, the world might turn in its orbit with a good deal less friction.

Flooded with young parents and swarms of offspring, and usually away from grandma and grandpa, ingenuity had to be applied to solve a rather acute baby sitting problem in new housing development. The result was baby sitting pools.

Just how many "sitter swap clubs" there are in the northwest suburbs would be practically impossible to determine, but it appears practically every subdivision has at least one, and often several.

ORGANIZED over backyard fences, the co-operative arrangements usually include from 10 to 50 mothers.

Most groups are namesless —although there are such appellations as Sleepy Time Gals, Nightwatchers and Lamplighters as in Hoffman Estates.

Reason for their invention is mainly attributed to a dearth of teenagers in newly developed areas, again due to the preponderance of young homeowners with just started families.

ANOTHER reason is that the system is much cheaper.

But because of other attributes of adult sitter pools which have been discovered, they may be around to stay.

In particular, mothers say they feel much more secure in the knowledge that their children are not only being cared for by an experienced mother, but also by one whom they know personally. "It makes you feel better," Mrs. Shirley Patino, president of a nameless Hoffman Estates sitter organization, said.

In addition, sitters are available during the day, and the organizational fellowship is enjoyable.

ORGANIZATIONAL rules follow a basic format. The number of hours any one member may get ahead or behind in baby sitting services is limited to about 15 or 20. After this point, the member may not be called upon for further chores, or as the case may be, may not request further sitting service from the group until after she has given some of her own time.

A debit and credit list of hours is kept by a secretary, and secretarial duties are generally rotated among the members on an alphabetical basis.

In some pools, members may indicate the time of their availability to the secretary in advance so as to be able to take a turn at sitting when it is most convenient to them. But more often, groups tap their members in the order of who owes the most hours.

RULES MAY also include that children be fed and ready for bed when the sitter arrives —and that coffee, a pillow and blanket be provided for comfort.

Holiday baby sitting poses a problem. One way around this is to allow double time credit for holiday sitting.

Saturday nights may also be difficult, since many couples prefer to go out then. One group adopted a rule that each member had to make themselves available at least one Saturday night out of each month.

Baby sitting organizations which grew too large, such as the Sitter Swap Club formed six years ago in Wheeling's Meadowbrook subdivision, were split into two groups.

HOWEVER, the membership of some of the older co-operatives has dwindled somewhat, and the two Meadowbrook groups are now thinking of reuniting.

Dropouts occur when children in a family become old enough to take care of themselves, or old enough to take care of themselves, or old enough to be entrusted to teenagers, and/or more teens become available for sitting.

Others may quit because of a lack of time to pay back baby sitting hours, or their financial status has imrpoved so that they are no longer concerned with saving a little money this way.

But one dropout was quoted as saying she "just couldn't stand the phone ringing all the time."

SOME SITTER organizations meet on a regular basis. Mrs. Patino's group, which includes a four-block area, meets once a month, and every member is required to attend at least four meetings a year. Annual social event is a Christmas Party.

If there are dues, they are probably no more than 25 or 50 cents per year. They are used to send cards to members in observance of special occasions, such as upon the arrival of a new baby, or to buy flowers in case of a death in the immediate family.

Average number of children of co-operative members in Hoffman Estates was figured at 3½. Perhaps a record was one mother with 12 children, and club members were reported just as willing to sit for her as any other member.

Of interest is that the Wheeling Sitter Swap Club reports that many children consider it a special treat when a father rather than a mother is their sitter.

You and Your Problems

Family Allowance Inadequate: Wife

by DR. GERARD NEUMAN

Dear Dr. Neuman,

Don't you think a wife's household allowance should go up when food prices go up and the children get bigger and eat more? I'm getting desperate, trying to feed a growing family on the same money I had four years ago. When I try a money-saving dish my husband gets mad because he expects meat and and potatoes for dinner. He thinks I'm holding out on him and that I must have a lot of money stashed away. I don't know which way to turn because he just will not listen to the problems I have in managing.

Mrs. K.

DR. NEUMAN

Mrs. K., your letter demonstrates one of the common situations that develop when a family doesn't plan together how their money will be spent. In a good marriage, husband and wife should have full knowledge and share full responsibility for the family's financial planning. How the job of handling money is divided up doesn't matter if there is this common basis of planning and understanding.

Money has meanings that come from the deepest emotions and it represents different things to different people. How money is used in the marriage is a good clue to the nature of the marital relationship itself.

WE SEE SOME families where the wife takes full charge of the pay check and carefully doles out just enough for her husband's carefare and cigarettes. We would guess that this is the kind of wife who needs to dominate and control her husband completely, not only with regard to spending, but in every other way.

In other families, the husband considers all earnings and family property his own. He allows his wife a fixed amount to cover "her" household expenses and he does what he pleases with the rest. In effect, he is saying that his wife is a "second-class citizen" in the home, not really a full marriage partner.

Although the husband seems to dominate in such a home, he may be using the "household allowance" as a way of not facing up to the realities of the situation. By making the running of the home the wife's problem, in effect, he is depending on her to see the family through.

WE SEE THE reverse of this in the wife who spends freely for whatever she considers necessary to her standard of living, without thinking about whether her husband's earnings can cover the expenses. She doesn't want to be bothered about where the money comes from. That's the man's job, she feels, and he is just not a real man if he can't support her in the style she sets as her ideal.

Some wives prefer a household allowance, so that they can save out money that they feel is "theirs." They are really playing a game with their husband, getting the better of him underhandedly by taking from him.

Any of these ways of handling money fails to see the family as the important unit. Where the good of the family is the goal, financial planning becomes a joint privilege, as well as a shared responsibility. Then neither partner is put under the kind of pressure you are feeling, Mrs. K., because your household allowance has not been figured and decided by both you and your husband together.

Palatine Club Opens On Reciprocity Day

Reciprocity Day will be celebrated by the Woman's Club of Palatine on Tuesday afternoon at its first regular meeting of the club year. A refreshment hour will begin at 12:30 p.m. in St. Paul Church of Palatine, followed by a business meeting.

An outstanding musical program has been planned for this special day, to be presented by Miss Lillian Mahoney, soprano. She will do one of her "one woman shows" in costume, featuring tunes from "Sound of Music."

MISS MAHONEY has been soloist for three consecutive years at Orchestra Hall with the Marshall Field Choral Society, doing excerpts from such varied operettas as "The Merry Widow," "Madam Butterfly" and "Die Fledermaus."

As soloist for the Lightning Arts Trio, her voice has been heard by many women's clubs in the Chicago area.

Meadows Jrs. Hold First Fall Meeting

A white elephant game, a talk on the Federation and reports on next season's projects headed the agenda for the first fall meeting of Rolling Meadows Junior Woman's Club held Sept. 10.

The talk was given by Mrs. Gordon T. Beckley, Seventh District Junior Director, and the projects included a luncheon fashion show to be held Oct. 27 in Old Orchard Country Club, according to Mrs. Richard McDuff, Ways and Means Chairman. Fashions for the show will be by Mr. Marty of Golf-Mill and proceeds will go to the club's various charities.

Mrs. Edward Soyka asks that anyone interested in joining the club call her at CL 5-9283.

Quite Contrary by Mary

A Beast of Burden

I suppose that it is all right for time to be the great healer and all that but I sometimes wish time wasn't quite so thorough about it. I forget easily. I can't find the Christmas card list. I can't find my watch. I lost two checks. I've misplaced two very important letters. But, I can remember the ages of all my relatives and friends. Not their birthdays, just their ages. Which is a virtue they all find very unappealing.

MARY

I also forget that when I go places with Father and the children, in no time at all I become a beast of burden. In fact, I look not unlike one of those Indian squaws who goes shuffling along behind the heap big chief loaded to the gunnels with the household goods. When we went to Hawaii, I started out with a nice big basket purse. You know, for makeup and little feminine goodies. As we progressed around the islands, I became the bearer of two cameras, two pair of binoculars and quite a lot of film. Also beads we purchased.

This memory had faded and all I remembered was that I had a fabulous time. I had completely forgotten the backache. Until last week. We were invited to a grand opening of a place with indoor swimming pool. Bring the kiddies, they urged. And then, they apparently forgot about the whole thing.

When we arrived complete with beachbags and suitcases, they looked at us as though we had just landed from steerage and were at Ellis Island. The greeter sort of avoided our assortment of luggage and offered us a guided tour of the place. Which we took with me groaning along under my load of beachbags etc. Finally they admitted that we might be allowed to swim, which we thought jolly decent of them and I had a distinct urge to kiss their feet they were so condescending.

We all struggled around in a washroom trying to get into our suits and hide our clothes. Finally someone on the staff had a brainstorm and decided to let us have a room for changing purposes. So guess who had the pleasure of carting all the luggage and clothing nine hundred miles to our room. Well, all children and both Fathers were in the pool. The other Mother and I, that's who. It is ever thus.

Dolores Dornan Makes First Home In Racine

Miss Dolores Dornan, daughter of Arlington Heights residents, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Dornan, changed her name and address on the same day when she and Richard Anderson of Racine exchanged nuptial vows in St. Simon Episcopal Church.

On September 1 the young couple were united in holy matrimony by Rev. Samual Keys, pastor of the Arlington Heights church. Their double ring rites, conducted at 5:30 p.m., took place in a candlelight setting.

Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Anderson of Racine, witnessed the ceremony and later were among 200 guests present at a reception and buffet dinner held in Itasca Country Club.

MISS DORNAN'S champagne color pure silk shantung dress was of her own design. In sheath style, it had a train attached to the back of the bolero jacket, boa neckline and ¾-length sleeves.

Accents were re-embroidered lace scallops on the jacket and bottom of the skirt. Her butterfly headpiece made of the same material and trimmed in the same lace as the dress, held a full bouffant veil. Flowers were white roses and stephanotis in cascade design.

Chartreuse bell-shaped sheaths with matching pillbox hats and white bolero jackets were worn by the bride's four attendants. They were Darlene Schoo, of Bensenville, who served her sister as maid of honor; and bridesmaids: Mrs. Darlene Dornan, her sister-in-law of Arlington Heights; Pat Anderson, the groom's sister, and Carol Haberman, his cousin from Racine.

Shocking pink and white flowers formed their colonial bouquets.

RING BEARER was Scotty Dornan, 5, and Donald Anderson Jr. of Racine and Lori Schoo, both 2-years-old, took the parts of train bearers. Lori wore a full-skirted chartreuse dress with puff sleeves, lace jacket and matching headband.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Dornan was attired in a steel blue sheath with navy and white accessories and white orchid. The groom's mother chose a beige tunic with matching hat, gloves and shoes and also wore a white orchid corsage.

Wendel Anderson of Racine was best man while David Dornan, the bride's brother; Erv Schoo and Larry Gates, cousin of the groom, served as ushers.

A FORMER employee at the Tiara Beauty Salon in Mount Prospect, the bride was graduated from Arlington High School and the American Beauty School. She resided with her parents at 1003 S. Dunton, but now she and the groom will share their first home together at 1439 Arthur Ave., Racine.

Mr. Anderson was a student of Park High School and the University of Wisconsin and is now employed with the J. I. Case Company in the IBM department. Before moving to their new address the newlyweds took a 2-week honeymoon trip to Colorado Springs.

Ask Teen Nominations

'Good' Mothers Are Worthy of Tribute

Here's a message, especially for teenagers:

There's too little said these days about what's good about teenagers and the wise ways in which many thousands of them are growing up! And maybe there isn't enough said about good parents either.

It is pretty obvious that having a top-notch mother and father is the most fundamental thing of all. Why don't you teenagers sit down and begin to list all the reasons why your mother is so special, why you are so proud of her and why you want more than anything else that she be proud of you. Wouldn't it help a lot of mothers who need your mother's example so that they make the same wonderful kind of home that you have.

LET'S MENTION a few of the especially nice things about your mother, just to set you thinking about what's right in your home.

Your mother has good moral and spiritual beliefs. She does good things in her own home, her own neighborhood, her own church. She makes other people feel good. She listens to what others have to say and then tells you what she thinks. She is easy to talk to and with when you have problems.

Your mother takes care to see that you keep well, feel good, and look like you are "in the pink." She tries to see that you do things that are good for you and, if you stop to think about it, she doesn't nag or fuss. She just makes you know you "belong." It is a pretty important thing to know—and some unfortunate teenager never have known that!

Your mother looks pretty nice most of the time. Once in a while, naturally, things get pretty busy and she doesn't have much time for herself. But when she does, aren't you glad she is "your Mom"?

THERE ARE other things to think about, too. How your mother cooks, how she handles your Dad's income so that your whole family gets along as well as possible, and how she makes your home a place where you are happy to bring your friends, not necessarily because it is a luxurious home but because of the welcoming atmosphere your mother creates.

Our community and this newspaper believe that our homemakers deserve recognition for the good jobs they are doing and the "Suburban Homemaker of the Year" search offers an opportunity to give them that recognition. Why don't you tell us in a letter why you think your mother rates an "E for Excellence" as a homemaker. Send your letter, with Official Entry Blank, to Suburban Homemaking Editor in care of this newspaper.

You can get an entry blank from any store listed in the Suburban Contest Ads and all stores displaying Suburban Contest posters.

Pink, White Color Scheme Beautifies August Rites

A delicate white and pink color scheme beautified the August 18 marriage ceremony of Miss Terri Diane Blott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Deo Blott of Downers Grove, and Jerry Lee Goudie, son of Palatine residents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn T. Goudie, 335 W. Glade.

Uniting the pair in a double ring service in the First Methodist Church of Downers Grove were Rev. James L. Houff and the groom's uncle, Rev. C. D. Goudie. Bouquets of white and pink gladioli adorned the altar for the 3 p.m. rites.

BEFORE THE BRIDE was escorted down the aisle by her father, two wedding songs were provided. They were "O Perfect Love" and "Father, Son and Holy Ghost." Soloist was Miss Laurey Ledowski.

Accenting Miss Blott's classic floor-length gown of white hand-clipped chantilly lace and pure silk was a bouquet of white and pink roses. Fashioned with a scalloped lace neckline, the dress had long, lace sleeves, fitted lace torso bodice and a full bouffant skirt that fell into soft folds and chapel train.

Trimming the skirt's front was a panel of matching chantilly lace; the bouffant veil of pure silk English illusion was held in place by a Swedish crown of net petals, adorned with pearls.

Styled in street-length, they had scooped necklines, short sleeves and draped bodices. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Blott was gowned in a gold satin sheath, a gold and brown hat and rust colored mum wrist corsage. A full-length dress of blue lace over blue taffeta and pink roses were the choice of Mrs. Goudie.

October Is Festive Time in Hawaii Due to 'Aloha Week'

- By JEANNE WELCH

Ever since 1946 the gayest and most festive week in Hawaii has fallen in October — the month which brings "Aloha week."

October was the month of the early Hawaiian "makahiki" or festival so it seemed appropriate to the planners of the modern day festival to choose October for a week-long recapturing of the customs and pageants of Polynesia.

This year Aloha Week festivities on Kauai, Maui and Molokai will precede those of Oahu, while those of Lanai and Hawaii will coincide with the dates of Aloha Week on Oahu — namely Oct. 19 to 27.

WHAT IS Aloha Week? It's a kind of Hawaiian Mardi Gras, with flower floats in a huge parade, formal balls, a ceremony crowning of King and Queen of Aloha Week, pageants, hula shows, dances of other Polynesian countries, street dancing, orchid shows — the works.

Each year Aloha Week draws thousands of visitors and by this Cloud Nine reserved for honeyship companies have made special plans to help you have a memorable two weeks on that time reservations will be hard to come by, so if you want to be in Hawaii for Aloha Week don't dally — check a travel agent for available reservations. Don't be too disappointed if you can't make Aloha Week, however, for this year something new has been added. From Nov. 10-17 another week of festival is planned, this one named the "Festival of the Pacific."

AS THE NAME implies it will play up the variety of races and customs which live happily together in Hawaii and will feature the songs and dances of the Philippines, Japan, China, Korea, the South Pacific, as well as those of Hawaii. Days will be filled by canoe races, flower and fashion shows and other special events.

Another tourist event inaugurated this year will be "Aloha to Honeymooners" Dec. 1-15— with no stipulations as to whether it is your first honeymoon or a recapturing of the first one.

Hotels, airlines and steamers, the young and the not-so-young alike.

YET ANOTHER special event is taking place this fall for the first time — a 100-day fishing derby, open only to visitors. The derby began Sept. 1 and closes Dec. 15. It covers all species of fish in Hawaiian waters and both trolling and shore fishing. What a thrill it would be to be the person to win the First Annual Ocean Tournament of Hawaii.

This column was to have covered the outer islands of Hawaii but with all of these new and newsworthy events to tell you about, we shall have to postpone talk about Molokai, Maui, Lanai and Hawaii.

In the meantime, don't forget to request that the helpful booklet, "The Woman's Way to See Hawaii" be sent to you. Just drop me a card. It's free.

RICHARD AHERN, Chicago sales manager of Mexicana Airlines, bids a "bon voyage" to Wayne Griffin, Arlington Heights travel agent. Griffin flew non-stop to Mexico City on the Comet Jet to make final arrangements for a Paddock Publications tour to Mexico, leaving Chicago on March 8. Griffin visited Mexico City, Xochomilco, San Jose Purua, Taxco, and Acapulco. Details of the tour will be announced shortly.

Barrington Nuptials Unite Area Families

Two area families were united on Aug. 25 when Miss Jeslyn Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Weitzel of 238 N. Oak St., Palatine, exchanged wedding vows and rings with David Chamberlin, son of Mrs. William Chamberlin of Barrington.

White daisies and greenery adorned the altar and pews of The Methodist Church of Barrington for the pair's double ring nuptials, officiated at by Rev. William G. Kirk. The rites were witnessed at 7:30 p.m. in a candlelight setting.

Of white silk organza over taffeta, the bridal gown had a fitted bodice, ¾-length sleeves and scoop neckline, accented with re-embroidered alencon lace medallions and organza petals.

THE FULL skirt was caught up at several points with self fabric bows and lace medallions, and ended in a full chapel train. Silk organza roses and bows with seed pearl motifs styled the headpiece, fastened to a fingertip veil.

Forming the bridal bouquet were white roses, stephanotis and gardenias, in cascade design. In subtle contrast to her pale yellow silk organza over taffeta dress was the basket of white daisies carried by Mary Ann Miller of St. Charles, maid of honor.

Three classmates at Evanston Hospital — Margaret Hanny, Roberta Hockmuth and Carole Mommsen, served as bridesmaids as did Julie Roberts, sister of the bride. Their gowns were the same as the maid of honor's, but they carried crescents of white daisies.

THE SAME flowers filled the basket of flower girl, Susan Weitzel, 8, the bride's niece. For her role she wore a white organza over yellow taffeta dress and a halo of daisies with yellow veil. Nephew of the groom, Jeffery Chamberlin, 6, of Mount Prospect, served as ring bearer.

Mrs. Weitzel received guests in a beige organza dress, complemented by a green orchid corsage. Choice of the groom's mother was a blue organza gown and white orchids.

David Stroh of Tower Lake was best man; ushers were Roy Hall, Denver; Charles Kerchner, Milwaukee; Craig Chamberlin, Mount Prospect; and William Spickler, Evanston.

AFTER A reception at Campbell's Hearthstone in Palatine for 150 guests, the newlyweds honeymooned in Wisconsin for one week and are now at home at 1224 Elmwood St., Evanston.

A Palatine High School graduate, the bride is employed at Evanston Hospital as a registered nurse. Mr. Chamberlin finished studies at Barrington High School and is now in his senior year at Northwestern University. (Bak

WELCOME WAGON

College Seniors Return To School---Newlyweds

Seniors, Jill Giuliani, a student at Radcliffe, and John Paul Kennedy, a student at Harvard, returned to Cambridge, Mass. this fall as Mr. and Mrs. The bride, a graduate of Arlington High School, is the daughter of the Chester Giulianis, 1314 Watling Road, Arlington Heights, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kennedy of Milwaukee.

Their marriage took place Aug. 18 in First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights where Rev. George Kincheloe officiated at the 4:30, double ring ceremony. An all-white arrangement of mums decorated the altar and the pews were marked with white satin markers. Mrs. Earl Auge served as organist.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white Irish linen dress trimmed with Irish lace and fashioned with chapel train. Her linen headpiece was also trimmed with Irish lace and held her illusion veil. Snowdrift pompons with ivy formed her bridal crescent.

ALSO IN white linen, with yellow ribbon trim and daisy overlay at the hem, was Miss Pamela Clapper of Clarendon Hills, who served as maid of honor and the Misses Sally Jansen of Bethesda, Md. and Miss Sydney Gouons of Lansing, Mich. who served as bridesmaids. They also wore small yellow daisy hats.

The bride's 8-year-old sister, Jane, was flower girl and was in yellow silk organdy with embroidered bodice. Yellow Shasta daisies made up her bouquet.

Beige chiffon with Alencon lace was the choice of the bride's mother, who complemented her ensemble with a beige feather hat and ming orange rose corsage. Mrs. Kennedy chose an organza print of coral, green and white with sleeveless organza coat, white feather hat and corsage of white cymbidiums.

LT. THOMAS M. Kennedy Jr. of Big Springs, Texas, served as his brother's best man and ushers were William McKinney of Evanston and Gregg Aspnes, Jack Carlsen, Gary Lindberg and Stephen Stoll, all of Minneapolis.

Old Orchard Country Club was the scene of the reception where dinner was served to 160 guests and after which, Mr. Kennedy took his bride on a week's wedding trip to Roninson Lake, Mich.

The newlyweds are now residing at 23 Lancaster St., Cambridge. (Bak Studio (S

Downright Embarrassing

Charity Collections: Tough For Hard-Pressed Volunteer

by BETTY AINSLIE

Good old Fall is here again with its vivid colored leaves, brisk breezes and all sorts of neighborhood fund collecting drives.

Sometimes it gets downright embarrassing to always be collecting in the same neighborhood for something or other. Makes it a bit difficult to just stop in for a friendly non-collecting visit.

It gets so people give me a stony stare and automatically ask, "Well what are you collecting for this time?" They half open the door at my knock.

So along comes the one of several tag days and I'm weakening the arches standing in front of some store or other, cardboard box with the slit on top in hand and begging for nickels, dimes, quarters or anything the generous public might care to trade for a red heart.

THIS TIME the stint was two hours which is guaranteed to lead to paralyzed box-holding fingers, sore feet and time for lots of thoughts.

Men for instance will usually drop something in the box and a larger amount than women. but then on an ordinary week day at a shopping center men are a little scarce.

"How come," said one man dropping in a coin. "I've been watching and how come fewer women give to these things?" When I didn't have an answer he did. "Probably they're more careful with the money —they're smart."

It was usually the women who would answer my plea to give with, "When I get a check cashed," or as I had several declare, "My husband does all the charity work for this family."

SOME WOULD get a check cashed, buy groceries and wheel their cart out past my nose with never a glance in my direction. Is it proper at a time like that to shake the box vigorously, slide out my foot and stop the woman with a "You promised after you cashed a check, remember?"

Probably too hard on the foot and it is a woman's privilege to change her mind. But figure women sure hate not to give unless they have an excuse to offer.

I had women who walked down past the other collector and a number of stores out of their way to put money in the box as they'd promised too—so it does even up.

You can think bitter thoughts about the women who stare through you and never answer your plea, or the ones who suspiciously eye the box as if it is your own private charity, or at least that you're being paid by the hour to stand there.

ONE WOMAN inquired as she decided against putting any money in the box. "Who do you turn this in to?" Maybe an answer like "Brinks truck picks up the boxes on the hour" would have really been impressive and gained sweet charity a silver coin —but I just don't think fast enough.

There are the pleasant, smiling people men and women, who put a coin in the box and talk a moment as they fasten the tag to a button.

"If this is all over town, I might as well get it now and get it over with," declared one girl. And many do get it over with by contributing generously to collections in homes and the five various tag days every year. It is surprising how the box grows heavier with the assorted collection of change.

Two women pushing strollers passed by talking busily. One stopped, juggled the grocery bag and her purse with one hand and dropped a coin in the box. The other looked on for a moment and then dug into a billfold, dropped a coin in the box, slid her billfold into her grocery sack.

"I DON'T usually give to these things," she confided as they pushed the strollers on down the walk. "But I can't have your daughter think my son is a cheap skate."

The mother shopping with young children will often give the youngsters the coin and the novelty of dropping it in the box. The child is usually delighted but once in a while one will balk at the sight of a new face trying to take his money and will run screaming back to mother.

This is usually so embarrassing for the mother that she takes a larger coin from her purse to drop in and lets Junior hang on to his.

Most mothers with small children will drop something in the box possibly they are trying to set an example of generosity for them to follow. Children always want to know "What the women with the red hearts on strings is standing there for?" So after that the mother is forced to give.

SOME PASS you by with a faster beat of heels on sidewalks. Some stare at you vacantly. Some smile but say "no." Some ask questions. But actually few concern themselves as to where their donation might be going.

Women if they don't give usually apologize sorta helpless with: "no change" or "after I get some cash" or "sorry not now" or "I left my tag in the car."

Men if they don't drop anything in the box completely ignore you or concentrate their gaze a good foot above your head as they dash by. They never acknowledge your plea, and if they do give they only pause for a moment in their stride to drop in the money and pocket the tag.

We've all had our share of collecting and donating. Someone has to do it and believe me I'll never pass by one of my neighbors holding a collection box because I'll remember if it wasn't for her I might be the one standing there now.

NEWLYWEDS MR. AND MRS. Gregory M. Perun are residing in Palatine since their early August wedding in Chicago and honeymoon trip to the east coast. The bride is the former Gwendolyn Joyce Cline who taught group piano for two years in the Palatine grade schools and is currently giving private piano lessons. She is the daughter of Coleman Cline and Mrs. Fred Wilson, both of Fort Worth, Texas. The groom, son of the Michael Perunds of Chicago, is teaching English in York Community High School in Elmhurst.

Palatine Sweethearts Wed in Aug. 25 Rites

Three bridal attendants preceded the former Lola Lynn Quarnstrom down the church aisle on her wedding day, and all were gowned alike in aqua silk organza dresses accented by yellow carnation bouquets. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Quarnstrom, 539 W. Chicago, Palatine, married a boy from her home town, Roger Paul Harmon.

The groom is the son of the Willard Harmons, 349 W. Slade St., Palatine, and is now in his senior year at Valparaiso University in Indiana.

THE AFTERNOON wedding took place on Aug. 25 in the First Methodist Church of Palatine, Rev. Donald Keck officiating. Organist Miss Mercie Heisie accompanied George Palmer as he sang appropriate wedding songs.

The three attendants came down the aisle wearing aqua dresses with chantilly lace bodices and bell shaped organza skirts. Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. James Schilling of Rolling Meadows, and bridesmaids were Shirley Thurau of Sharon, Wis., and Joan O'Connor of Palatine. Each girl carried a bouquet of light yellow carnations tied with white ribbons and each wore a bowed half hat with bouffant veils.

THE BRIDE entered the sanctuary on the arm of her father and chose an imported pure silk gown for her wedding day. The demure neckline and bracelet length sleeves were trimmed with imported lace rose bud motifs, which were repeated in appliques at the waistline and on the very full skirt. The gown ended in a chapel train.

The bride's silk illusion veil was held in place by a pearl crown, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis. Both she and her attendants wore short white gloves for the ceremony.

At the altar with the groom were his brother, James Harmon, as best man and Maurice Hamilton of Galesburg and Duane Hamilton of Mendota, his cousins, as ushers.

FOLLOWING the double ring service a reception was held at Ten Pin Bowl in Barrington.

The couple is now at home at 604 E. Jefferson, Valparaiso, Ind., after a week's trip in Upper Michigan and Wisconsin. Both are graduates of Palatine High School, and the bride worked at Curtis 1000 in Palatine until her marriage. (S

It's 'Back to College' For Local Newlyweds

September has been a busy month for an area young couple, with their marriage and honeymoon followed closely by their return to Southern Illinois University where both have entered their senior year. The wedding of Sandra Gayle Hedstrom of Mount Prospect and David Lawrence Kussow of Arlington Heights took place in St. Mark Lutheran Church of Mount Prospect on Sept. 8 before their families and friends.

Then, after a honeymoon in northern Wisconsin, the newlyweds departed on Sept. 22 for Carbondale to finish their last year at the university.

THE BRIDE took her freshman year at the University of Illinois before transferring to Southern Illinois and is majoring in education. The groom's major is horticulture.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy D. Hedstrom, 110 S. Louis St., Mount Prospect.

For the afternoon ceremony, she wore a white silk organza over peau de soie gown with sabrina neckline and long sleeves. Venetian lace accented the bodice and skirt, which fell into a chapel train. Complementing her dress she wore a 4-tiered silk illusion veil held by a tiny sweetheart pearl crown. Her bouquet was a crescent of white gardenias, stephanotis and ivy.

FOUR attendants, all gowned alike in sapphire blue silk satin sheath dresses with matching overskirts, entered the sanctuary before the bride. Their bouquets of white Fuji mums and blue delphiniums contrasted their dresses.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Ted Crackel of Olney, Ill., a Delta Zeta sorority sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were two of the bride's cousins, Susan Albers of Des Plaines and Janice Dudek of Chicago, and Darlene Burkett of Effingham, another Delta Zeta sorority girl.

The groom, son of the Lawrence E. Kussows, 815 S. Burton, Arlington Heights, had as best man his Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity brother Lester Sintay of Springfield. Ushering the guests to their pews were Kenneth Evenson of Arlington Heights, another fraternity brother, and David Schreiber and James Kussow, also of Arlington Heights.

TWO ALTAR bouquets of white gladioli and Fuji mums decorated the altar as Rev. David Quill united the couple in double ring rites. Jack Mills was soloist, accompanied at the organ by Robert Breihan.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hedstrom was attired in a royal blue peau de soie dress with chantilly lace bodice and had a corsage of white phalaenopsis orchids. The bride's only grandmother Mrs. David Hedstrom of Williams Bay, Wis. wore a light blue crepe and lace dress and had a corsage of amazon lilies. The groom's mother chose a blue-gray organza and lace sheath dress with matching coat and her corsage was of beige cymbidium orchids.

Buffet supper was served to 170 guests in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony. (Jenart(S

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

An Innocent Victim

Dear Peg:

Boy! Am I glad I didn't spend the $25 it would have cost to take the dent out of the right rear fender, since, as of last night, there hardly is a right rear fender! You guessed it. The wagon got herself into an accident, but I can forgive her—she was the innocent victim of a too affectionate little Lark.

Occasionally, when I write a letter, I take it to the post office at night to insure its being picked up in the 5:30 a. m. collection. Last night was one of those rare nights. Rare and unfortunate. We live on a busy street and must be extremely careful when backing out of the driveway or turning into it. For some reason, most drivers will not stay far enough behind to allow us to turn into the driveway safely. They insist on riding so close to the back bumper, regardless of turning flickers, flashing brake lights and a madly waving arm, that sometimes I have to pass the driveway just to avoid what happened last night!

I was about a block away from home when I saw his headlights in the rear view mirror. He seemed to be traveling at a safe distance, however, I still went through the routine of flicker lights and brake lights to warn him that I was going to turn right very shortly. I slowed down, while he seemed to maintain his speed. I slowed a little more and he came a little closer. I came down to a crawl to make the turn in and he piled right into the rear fender. Now can you imagine what the young fellow said when he climbed out of his poor little Lark? He was looking at the left brake light and thought I was going to make a left turn and he was going to proceed past my right side! Whether his mind was muddled by the pretty little thing sitting next to him or just by being out of his own town, I'll never know. But it was sure muddled!

I was shook, but unhurt and very thankful that I didn't have my usual carload. I'm afraid the children would have been sent flying across the car. I called the police and in a matter of minutes, the sidewalk was alive with truly helpful neighbors, children (not so helpful), police cars, a wrecker (to separate the cars) and flashing red lights.

Let this be a lesson to you. If you live on a busy street, never turn into your driveway if there is a car anywhere behind you. Go around the block and try again. Then, if there is absolutely no one in sight, maybe you'll make it.

My love,
Patty.

Tasty Lemon Cream Pie Wins At Bake-Off

by LOIS SEILER

Among the stiff competition of dozens of delectable home-baked delicacies, a delicious lemon meringue pie captured second place in St. Colette Women's Club's Bake-Off held last spring. The pie was submitted by Mrs. Alonzo C. Thompson of 3406 Fremont, Rolling Meadows.

"I've been making this pie for most of my 43 years of married life," Mrs. Thompson explained, "so it is a long time favorite."

THE PIE has a flakey crust made with shortening, a smooth tart custard filling and a high and light meringue topping.

"I consider this one of the easiest desserts I make," said this good cook. She has made it for picnics and parties, luncheons and dinners and it is always a pleasing and refreshing dessert treat.

Pie making is just a small part of Mrs. Thompson's culinary achievements, for she enjoys all kinds of cooking. And she gets lots of practice, too, keeping house for her daughter, Mrs. Robert Neil, who is employed as a nurse, and her two grandchildren, Robert, 16, and Patti, 11, with whom she and her husband live.

THE THOMPSONS also have a son, John, who lives with his wife and four children in Rolling Meadows.

Mrs. Thompson is active in St. Colette Catholic Women's Club and is a member of the Catholic Daughters of America.

LEMON MERINGUE PIE

Crust:

1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
Pinch of baking powder
5 heaping tablespoons Spry
Cold water

Sift dry ingredients together. Add Spry, cutting in with pastry blender. Add enough water to hold together, handling as little as possible.

Roll out dough and fit into a 9-inch pie plate. Bake at 400 degrees about 20 to 30 minutes or until done.

Filling:

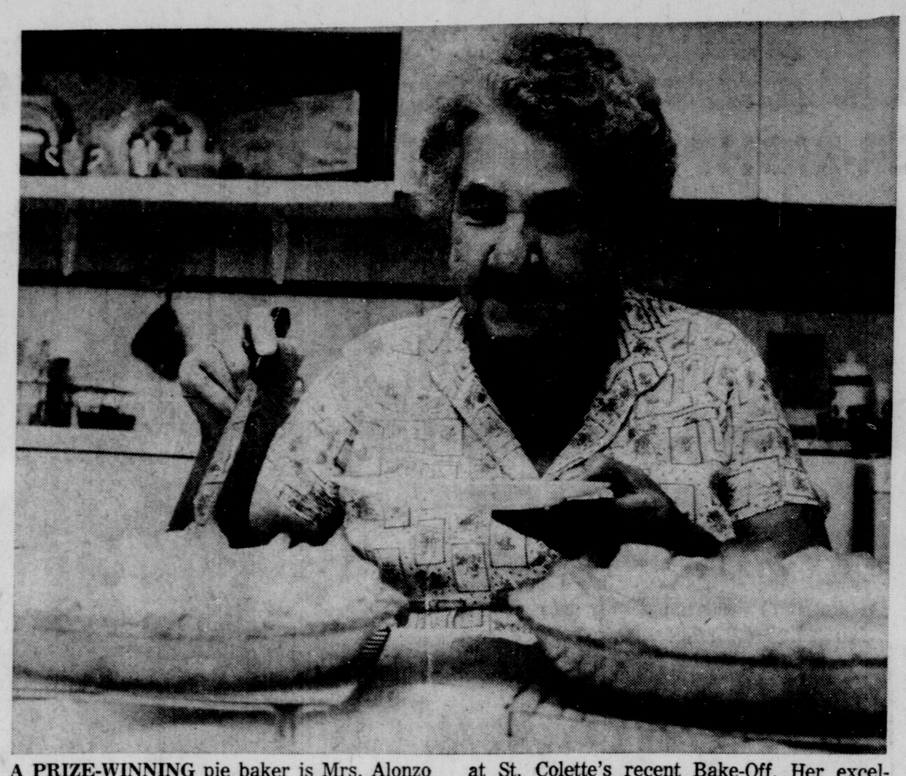
1 cup plus 1 tablespoon sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
Juice of 2 lemons
Grated rind of 1 lemon
4 egg yolks
1½ cups water
1 tablespoon butter

Place sugar, cornstarch, grated rind and lemon juice in the top of double boiler. Stir together. Add egg yolks and mix well. Stir in water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thick. Just before removing from heat, stir in butter. Pour into baked crust and top with meringue.

Meringue:

4 egg whites
¼ cup granulated sugar

Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in sugar. Place on top of pie and bake in a 400 degree oven until slightly brown. Let cool and serve. (SH



A PRIZE-WINNING pie baker is Mrs. Alonzo C. Thompson of Rolling Meadows. It's easy to see why her high, light and luscious Lemon Cream Pie captured a second place award at St. Colette's recent Bake-Off. Her excellent recipe is being featured in the adjoining column. (SH

Tempting Platter

A BLADE END PORK loin roast makes a tempting platter any time of year, but you'll want to give it special attention during this season of plentiful, economical pork. The colorful garnish is apricot halves and parsley. (SH

Do you try to keep in tune with the season when planning menus? If so, it's to your advantage to serve pork frequently.

Pork is plentiful, and you're likely to find good buys at your market.

Next Sunday choose a deliciously tender pork loin roast as the main attraction of your meal. For the finishing touch, garnish the platter with apricot halves dotted with parsley sprigs.

COOKING THE ROAST

Here are the few simple steps recommended by Reba Staggs, meat cookery expert, for cooking a pork loin roast to perfection.

If you have your meat retailer loosen the backbone, you can easily remove it after roasting for easier carving.

PLACE THE roast fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Do not cover and do not add water. A meat thermometer will make it easy for you to know when the roast is done.

Insert it so the bulb of the thermometer rests in the center of the thickest part, but not in fat or on bone.

ROAST IN a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until the thermometer registers 185 degrees F., the internal temperature of the roast. A center cut loin roast will require 35 to 40 minutes per pound, the end roasts 45 to 50.

To carve a blade end roast, remove the blade bone before bringing the roast to the table. For servings carve between the ribs. (SH

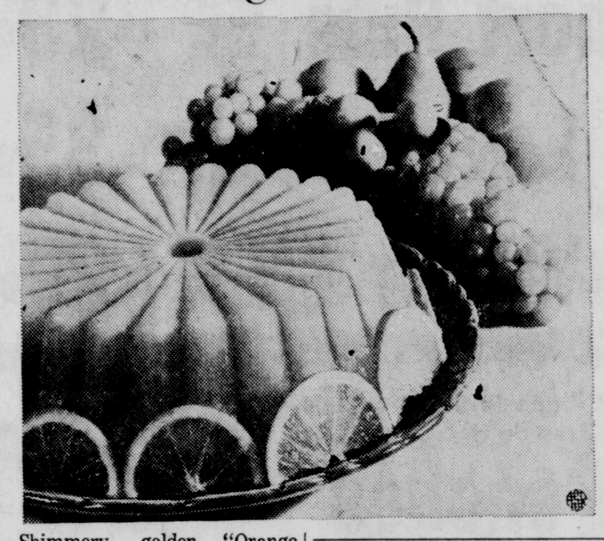
Sweet, Slimming Party Treat Orange Flavored



Shimmery, golden "Orange Blossom Dessert Jelly" was made for a party. It's big, handsome and eye-catching, it tastes marvelous, as it's wonderfully easy to make, and it's low, low in calories!

This party-sized dessert combines orange juice with apricot nectar in a gelatin base. Just a hint of almond extract gives it an elusive "what-is-it" favor.

THE DESSERT'S delightful sweetness and its low-calorie success are due to the use of the calorie-free sweetener, Sucaryl, used here in place of sugar. Happy result is that nearly half the total calories normally assigned to the dessert are eliminated.

Guests will appreciate your helping them "count calories," so do let them in on your calorie-subtracting cookery secret.

ORANGE BLOSSOM DESSERT

4½ cups orange juice
3 envelopes (or tablespoons) unflavored gelatin
1 1-pint can Sucaryl-sweetened apricot nectar
4½ teaspoons Sucaryl solution
½ teaspoon almond extract
2 egg whites

Heat one cup of the orange juice to boiling. Soften gelatin in apricot nectar; add hot orange juice, stirring to dissolve gelatin. Add remaining orange juice, Sucaryl and almond extract. Whip egg whites until soft peaks form when beater is raiser; fold into gelatin mixture.

Pour into a slightly oiled 8-cup mold; chill until set. Garnish with fruits as desired.

Makes 12 servings. Each serving contains 60 calories; four grams protein; 0.5 gram fat; 12.5 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 109 calories. (SH

Whole Wheat 'Casserolls' Simple Recipe for Brides

Many a bride who tries yeast baking for the first time chooses a roll recipe because of its ease of preparation. This one for "Casserolls" is a particularly good one for beginners.

THE ROLLS are easy to shape and look particularly attractive served in the decorative casserole in which they're baked. And show us the girl who isn't lucky enough to receive at least one ovenware dish on her bridal day!

BAKE PART of the recipe in the casserole for a special Sunday dinner; bake the rest in the usual baking pan, cool and store for another meal.

If you plan to freeze them, cool the rolls first by removing them from the casserole or pan to a wire rack, then wrap them in aluminum foil or freezer paper.

CASSEROLLS

1 cup milk
2 tablespoons dark molassees
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
¼ cup Margarine
½ cup warm water
2 packages or cakes Fleischmann's Yeast, active dry or compressed
2¼ cups whole wheat flour
2½ cups sifted enriched flour

Place in greased bowl, turning once to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch down and turn onto lightly floured board.

DIVIDE DOUGH in half. Form each half into 12-inch roll; cut each roll into 12 equal pieces. Form into balls. Place balls about ½ inch apart in greased shallow casserole; for pan rolls place balls ¼ inch apart in greased round or square pan.

Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk about 50 minutes. Bake at 375 degrees F. about 25 minutes for rolls in casserole; about 30 minutes for pan rolls.

SCALD MILK; stir in molasses, sugar, salt and margarine; cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture.

Combine flours; stir half of mixture into liquid mixture; beat until smooth. Stir in remaining flour mixture. Turn dough out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes. (SH

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

Little Boys Will Love This Fireman's Frolic Birthday

By DOLORES HAUGH

It's that time again. What time? Birthday time. Again little kindergartners are having those birthdays and here is one they will enjoy of they are boys, a Fireman's Frolic Birthday.

INVITATIONS

There are invitations available with fire trucks on them but your small fry will have the fun of helping if you make up an invitation he can color, cut or paste. Outline a fire engine and have him cut it out of red construction paper. Remember the bell and the number, which will be his birthday number 5 or 6.

On the back write the Fire Station Address, Truck Number and Fire Chief, Time of Fire, Date of Fire, too. Tell them to come in boots and blue jeans and wear suspenders. State if it is for lunch.

DECORATIONS

The garage would be a fine place for such a party, or a basement but someplace with a lot of space for some ladder climbing, stunts and hose running races. Decorate the table with paper items bearing the motif, cups, plates and napkins. A big red plastic fire truck filled with packages can be your centerpiece, or make your fire engine cake.

The fire engine cake is a cake baked in a loaf pan. Cut off a 2-inch slice and this becomes the engine. Frost in the brightest red you can make. Chocolate doughnuts are the wheels. Place a set of cardboard ladders on each side, plus hoses with scotch tape nozzles, a small dalmation mascot on top, and a bell on the front and there you have the cake and centerpiece. You can add the number of the birthday on each door of the truck too.

AS THE GUESTS arrive, give each of them a plastic fireman's hat; these are available at novelty stores and party shops.

Place the gifts for the birthday boy in a wagon or if he is lucky enough to have a fire engine car, in a basket on the front seat would be fun. Take pictures as you will have fun reliving this party especially with all those visiting firemen.

MENU

After the games and before the presents are opened serve the luncheon or just cake and ice cream, punch, red, of course, and if a luncheon, hot dogs with olive wheels and radish bell plus paper ladders make conversation even with small fry. Chips, jello and dessert round out the fireman's lunch.

ENTERTAINMENT

Have garden hoses, unattached to water ,and tangle them up, but not too tightly. Then divide the boys into two firehouse sections and have them untangle the hoses. First finished wins tiny metal fire engines. A ladder climbing game using a 3-rung ladder lets the boys scale the heights and jump into the net. Tiny hatchets of rubber make fine favors, too.

So start shouting about this red hot idea for a small fireman's birthday and go like blazes.

Shoe Coloring Is New Do-It-Yourself Idea

Now everyone can have the "costume look" the Shu-Mak-Up way! With this new liquid product women are coloring their own shoes, handbags and belts to match. With Shu-Mak-Up it's possible for every woman to accessorize with imagination.

Shu-Mak-Up comes in 24 fashion colors, and it takes less than 30 minutes to change the color of shoes. Just apply first the Shu-Mak-Up Conditioner, then two coats of the color, and if a leather shoe is being colored give it a glossy finish with a coat of Shu-Mak-Up Wax.

Shu-Mak-Up is ideal for coloring all leathers — calf, kid, suede, patent and snake; for fabric shoes like shantung, linen, peau de soie; and for straw and nylon mesh. You can wear the colored shoes for a week or a year, or at anytime the color can be removed with Shu-Mak-Up Conditioner and the shoe or new shoes can be changed to multi-stripes or floral patterns to look like custom shoes, covered with swatches of fabric. Summer's tired looking white and bone shoes can be turned to the high fashion autumn colors of Breen, Charcoal, Camel, Tartan Green and Saffron Yellow.

The Shu-Mak-Up beginner usually first does a solid color, then ventures to polka dots and stripes, and before long she is doing floral patterns and paisley prints on her shoes. Shu-Mak-Up becomes a "fashion way of life." The creative woman has fun, saves money, dresses better, and she enjoys the compliments she daily receives from her friends.

WOMEN NOW can change the color of their shoes as easily and as often as they change the color of their nail polish. Shu-Mak-Up does not peel, crack, wear off nor rub off, nor does it spot.

Besides the 24 fashion colors Shu-Mak-Up makes 12 colors of Glitter for glamorizing heels or entire shoes for "after five"; plus gold, silver and copper Lustre powders which when mixed with Su-Mak-Up colors give lustre finishes to leather shoes.

Locally Shu-Mak-Up is available at Weiboldt's, Randhurst.

TURN SUMMER SHOES to fall colors with Shu-Mak-Up, a new color coating for all leather and fabric shoes. The product, which is as easy to apply as nail polish, can also be used on purses and other leather accessories. (S

At the same time, the history of the trading stamp industry will be outlined.

As usual, a social hour will precede the business meeting and program. (S

Children's Theatre Coming to Arlington

"Robbers Three," a play for children to be presented by the Pinocchio Players Guild, Oct. 13 under the sponsorship of Arlington Juniors is a modern fantasy especially written with the needs of the school-age audience in mind.

Fast - paced and punctuated with a great deal of action, the play takes the Fagin legend of Dickens and gives it a humorous twist. Instead of being a monster, Fagin is tiny and funny as he attempts to teach his pupils, Philippe, the rudiments of robbery. The task is not made easier by Philippe, who really wants to be a gardner.

"PINOCCHIO Players Guild, Chicago's only troupe of professional actors specializing in children's theatre, bases this play solidly upon the precepts developed by the Guild from its wide experiences of playing for child audiences throughout the Midwest," commented Mrs. George Behrens, chairman.

"It is anticipated that this event will earn much of the money needed for the club's many local philanthropies, plus state projects supported jointly with the Illinois Federation of Women's Club," she continued.

Tickets may be secured from any club member or by calling Mrs. Behrens, CL 9-3992. (S

BEARING DOWN ON TICKET promotion these days is Mrs. George Behrens, chairman of Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club's forthcoming presentation of "Robbers Three" by the Pinocchio Players Guild Oct. 3 in Miner Junior High School. Anxious ticket purchasers are Celester Ann Ehmann and Kent Behrens. The live 90-minute show will be seen at 10:30 a. m. and 1 and 3 p. m.

Kay's Shelter Owner: Animals Are Her Life

KAY MAXWELL holds one of the few animals at Kay's Animal Shelter that isn't available for adoption. The squirrel, brought into the shelter after its mother abandoned it, is too young to crack its own nuts. When it cracks its first nut, it will be released, according to Kay. (B-8

900 Animals Pass Through in Month

by BOB SETLIK

"I was raised with a puppy in my crib," she remarked, in a tone that invited belief.

Mrs. Kay Maxwell is past the crib stage, but dogs and other animals have remained a part of her life since she crawled on all fours.

Today, owner of Kay's Animal Shelter, at Arlington Heights and Hintz Roads, she sees 900 animals pass through her hands in an average month.

She relocated her shelter on Arlington Heights Road Sept. 13, moving from her previous location in Morton Grove because of a lack of space.

The shelter is a refuge for stray, lost, or unwanted dogs, cats, and sundry other animals. Last week, she had on hand between 40-50 dogs, almost as many cats, five parakeets, four pigeons, and one squirrel.

INCLUDED among the dogs were a German Shepherd, doberman, collie, beagle, boxer, and cocker spaniels.

Strays are brought to the shelter by area police departments, but the majority of animals are pets that owners have been forced to give.

Kay places the animals in homes throughout the area. She makes no charge for taking the animals in or adopting them out.

"WE HOLD A good dog," she said, "until we find a home for it. No dog of mind will go to a laboratory."

Procurring an animal from Kay's isn't like picking off the week's groceries from the neighborhood supermarket.

She screens prospective owners, requires a signed agreement, and afterwards checks on the animal's welfare.

WHEN A PERSON comes to the shelter looking for a dog, Kay and her managers, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Smith, try to see if he is likely to be a "good" pet owner.

If the prospective adopter tells Kay he plans to use the dog as a watchdog, or let it sleep in a doghouse, he is not likely to have success procurring one from the shelter.

A husband cannot adopt an animal unless his wife is along, she noted, and no animal is placed in a home where both work.

To assure a compatible match of animal and owner, Kay has a record on each animal.

SHE REQUIRES the previous owner to leave information about the animal with her, including its sleeping and eating habits, behavior, and reasons for giving it up.

Before adopting an animal, the prospective owner signs an 11-point agreement.

Salient points include:

—"I accept this animal as a household pet and agree not to keep him chained up."

—TO PROVIDE the animal with proper food, shelter, water, and human protection at all times.

—not to abandon or give the animal to another party, but to return the animal to the association if it is necessary to relinquish it.

—to telephone the association if the animal is lost, stolen, or dead.

AFTER THE animal is placed, the contract permits the shelter to send investigators periodically to check the animal's welfare.

She allows each owner to have a week trial before he makes a decision on keeping the pet.

The strict regulations, Kay said, are the only way the shelter can assure itself of finding good homes for its animals.

The shelter is supported by donations from people leaving or taking animals, a spring benefit, a Christmas appeal, and a June membership drive.

"KAY'S THRIFT Shop," located on Waukegan Road in Deerfield, is the other fund producer for the shelter. In the shop, open from June to November, she sells furniture, clothes and other second hand items donated by friends of the shelter.

Operating expenses last year were $38,000.

Kay calls it "a struggle each year" to realize expenses.

Kay said she became interested in animal work when she was a girl living in Boston and discovered that "I did not know how to do anything to support myself."

"BUT I knew about dogs," she recalled, "and started to groom them for $5 apiece in my home."

Later, moving to this area, she became president of the Orphans of the Storm in Deerfield, did humane work for the city of Evanston, and finally established her shelter in Morton Grove.

"After my husband died three years ago," she remarked, "if it hadn't been for this I wouldn't have known what to do. I'm not the type of woman who can just sit around."

"RUNNING THE shelter is a 24-hour-a-day job, and even that isn't enough," she said.

"It's not all joy; it has its heartaches," she said. "The joy comes when we find a good home; the sadness when the animal is brought in."

"All we ask is that the people be honest with us, tell us the truth about the animal, and most of our problems will be solved."

KAY LIVES in Highland Park with a poodle and afghan that she adopted from the shelter. She hopes to build a house someday nearer the shelter.

The shelter is open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. for bringing animals in. People interested in adopting an animal can visit from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. (A14

Asks Prior Legal Rulings on Bills

(UPI) — Illinois Atty. Gen. William G. Clark Tuesday suggested his office rule on the constitutionality of any bill before it is enacted into law by the 1963 session of the General Assembly.

Clark made the proposal at the annual installation dinner of the Justinian Society of Lawyers in Chicago. He said it would "save waste of taxpayers' money and save a very serious waste of legislators' time."

Clark said in the 1960 session of the assembly he examined 1,225 bills after passage and found 14 to be unconstitutional, which resulted in vetoes by Gov. Otto Kerner.

HE SAID during the next session he would have a legal staff available to the legislators so they may receive his opinion before bills are passed.

Clark said in most instances, once a bill is vetoed it is too late to amend the legislation.

He said besides the waste in effort and expenses, certain construction legislation is prevented from becoming law. (A14

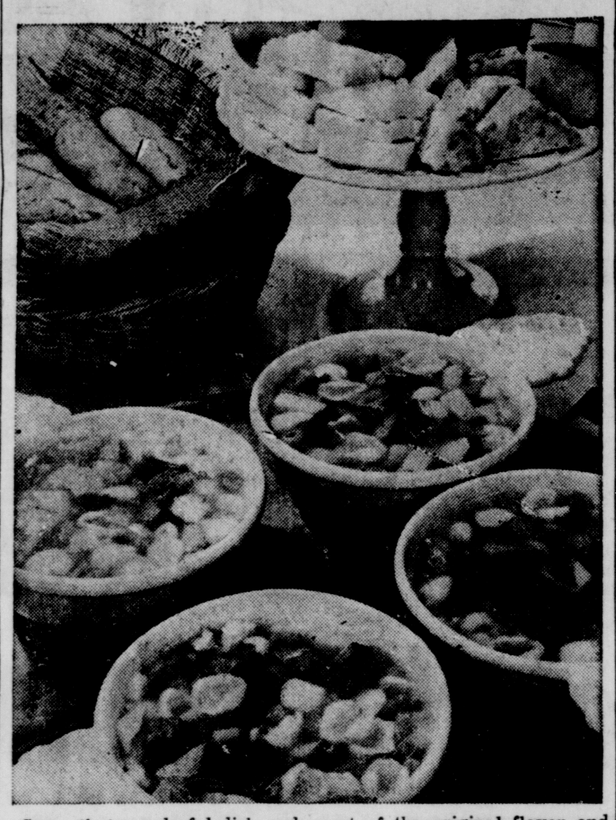
9 New Soups 'Bow' In Autumn Debut



Soup, that wonderful dish and equally marvelous ingredient, has become the indispensable right arm of homemakers across the country. What could be greater than having a new soup to grace the pantry shelves?

Nine new soups — and homemakers will be nine times as glad!

THE FIRST of these is canned condensed turkey vegetable soup, a rich colorful blend of turkey, vegetables, and shell macaroni. Full of vitamins and protein, canned condensed turkey vegetable soup is just in time for the "back-to-schoolers."

The other eight are canned dry soup mixes. All hearty and rich with all-American flavor and goodness, the soup mixes are beef noodle, chicken noodle, cream of mushroom, noodle, onion, cream of potato, old-fashioned beef, and vegetable.

THESE DRY SOUP mixes are especially good because several of the major ingredients are freeze-dried. This, the latest in processing techniques, insures most of the original flavor and texture of the ingredients such as beef, chicken, and mushrooms.

And to be doubly certain this flavor is kept locked in, the dry soup mixes are packaged (two to a carton) in hermetically sealed aluminum-bodied cans.

ALL THESE new soups will put new life into meal-planning, for family or guests. Canned condensed turkey vegetable soup has company airs with diced cooked ham and a whisper of marjoram added.

Served with cornbread sticks and a dessert of fruits and cheeses, this soup will please the appetites of youngsters and oldsters alike.

TURKEY VEGETABLE SOUP WITH HAM

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
Dash ground marjoram, if desired
1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed turkey vegetable soup
1 soup can water

In saucepan, brown ham in butter with marjoram. Add soup and water. Heat. Makes 2 to 3 servings. (SH

Breaded Seafood Boon To Modern Housewife

SIZZLING HOT seafood from oven, broiler or deepfryer take well to deviled egg and sour cream sauces featured in this column. They join the "Fish 'n Seafood Parade" of pre-cooked foods, the fishing industry's gift to the busy homemaker. (SH

The Fish 'n Seafood Parade has come to town! All over the country seafoods are plentiful and prices are low, so there's reason to celebrate. Their high-quality proteins, vitamins and minerals are priceless assets to good health and well-being.

Featured in this year's Fish 'n Seafood Parade are the popular convenience seafoods—frozen breaded fish sticks and fish portions (sold as "fillets," "cutlets," "burgers" or "steaks"), breaded shrimp and breaded scallops.

THESE HANDY fish products are truly the fishing industry's gift to the busy homemaker — they're all ready for the oven, broiler or fryer, and some are even pre-cooked. And there's no waste except the tails on the shrimp! Served simply, or dressed up with a sauce or dip, these frozen breaded seafoods are real time-savers.

For six servings, use two packages of frozen breaded fish sticks, or squares, breaded scallops or breaded shrimp. Prepare seafoods according to directions on package. Serve with one of the following sauces:

DEVILED EGG SAUCE

3 hard-cooked eggs
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 large stalk celery, chopped
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion (optional)
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
Dash Worcestershire
¾ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1½ cups milk
Chopped parsley

Slice eggs; remove yolks and put through strainer or mash well. Melt butter in saucepan; add celery and onion and saute until celery is tender but not browned, about 5 minutes.

Stir in flour and seasonings; slowly stir in milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils. Blend in egg yolks. Just before serving, carefully add egg-white rings. Serve over seafood; garnish with parsley.

SOUR CREAM SAUCE

1 cup thick sour cream
2 tablespoons grated dill pickles
1 teaspoon liquid from dill pickles
½ teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons minced parsley
Salt to taste
Cracked black pepper

Combine sour cream with dill pickle and liquid, paprika, minced celery and salt. Spoon over fish or shellfish, or pass separately. Just before serving, sprinkle with cracked pepper for a garnish. (SH

Week's Best Food Buys

Turkey retail prices showed first signs of cracking for the fall peak production season, the recent cost climb "Topping Out" in the wake of first government purchases for school lunch programs.

Late Friday the government bought only 2,699,000 pounds of a total offering of 19,745,000 pounds by 43 forms, for mid-October delivery. The purchase price ranged from a shade under 31 cents to 33½ cents per pound.

With the major part of the new-crop turkey year well under way, and in the face of some 5 million more pounds in storage than last year, the immediate effect was some easing of the prevailing 39-49 cents competitive and 35-37 cents promotional retail levels.

OTHER POULTRY and red meat lines showed retail price weakening too. Fryers, against unsettled markets that dropped ¾ cents and indicated further drops, recorded a lower 39-43 cents range in more stores.

Market resistance developed with eggs as more stores held smaller inventories, and retails were shaded to 59-63 cents for Grade A large and from 35 cents for grade A small, although the small size is less of a market volume factor this year.

Beef, pork and lamb are rated once again at normal supply levels. While basic retail prices are little changed, the cooler weather shift in consumer demand swung preferences to roasts, so that most retailers shaved 10 cents off the top side of retail ranges for steaks. New ranges showed sirloin 89 cents-$1.19, porterhouse 98 cents-$1.39 and round steaks seldom higher than 98 cents. Other hindquarter cuts were softening on falling wholesale costs.

BACON AND other smoked lines became the more dramatic items in pork first-line bacon showing a competitive 75 cents top as the bellwether.

Live and wholesale meat market costs were mixed and fluctuated from early to late week. On balance they failed to recover fully their previous losses although the comeback effort nearly matched high points of early September.

OTHER newsmakers on the University of Illinois weekly consumer service survey, for the period ending Sept. 29, centered on fruit and vegetable abundance. Produce markets have reflected little of the weather change in demand although top quality tomatoes, lettuce, green onions and peppers quote higher.

For the week at hand, the consensus values are rated as: poultry — turkeys, fryers; meats — beef pot roasts, steaks, rib roasts, pork shoulder steaks, bacon, Boston butt roasts, lamb leg roasts; produce — apples, grapes, prune-plums, pears, beans, cauliflower, celery, yellow onions, squash, cucumbers.

THE OCTOBER calendar of produce values (* indicates peak supply month) includes; berries, figs, grapes-, western fruits — apples*, coconuts, cranoranges, pears, persimmons, pomegranates*, prickly pears*; melons — casaba, crenshaw, honeydew, persian; vegetables — anise, artichokes, beets, broccoli, brussels sprouts*, cabbage, carrots*, cauliflower*, endive*, escarole*, leeks*, mushroom, parsnips, peppers, pumpkins*, squash*, tomatoes, turnips. 'Space Age' Tarts Brim with Apples

The tangy out-of-this-world flavor of Washington Jonathan apples is caught in fanciful Man-In-The-Moon Tarts, designed to launch into happy orbit your party for young space enthusiasts.

The classic teammates of fresh apple flavor and cheese take contemporary shape in the accompanying Cheese Rockets, whimsically-designed to capture young, healthy appetites.

MAN-IN-THE-MOON TARTS WITH CHEESE ROCKETS

6 Washington apples
¼ cup water
½ cup sugar
Dash of salt
½ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. cloves
2 sticks pastry mix
2 tbsps. butter

Wash, pare, core and quarter apples into a 2 quart sauce-pan; simmer slowly until apples are tender. Drain liquid, add sugar, salt, spices and set aside.

Prepare pastry according to package directions; divide in four equal balls, then roll out one at a time, making a circle of each pastry.

PLACE ¾-CUP applesauce at the outer edge of each circle, dotting with ½ tbsp. butter. Moisten edges of pastry and fold over, pressing edges together with the tines of a fork dipped in flour. Hand-shape tarts into moon-like crescents, forming a nose within each crescent.

Cut eye and mouth openings on upper side of tart. Place tarts on cookies sheet and bake in 400 degree F. oven for 25 minutes. Serve with Cheese Rockets. Cheese Rockets: Cut a ½-lb. block of American cheese into quarters, and each quarter into two sections, one piece being 2/3 of the quarter.

Press larger section of cheese on skewers, molding with hands to cylinder shapes. Mold remaining pieces of cheese into cone shapes and thread onto skewer, leaving space between 'body' of rocket and nose cone. (Recipe for four rockets and tarts.)

Food and Family Fitness

Teenagers' Food Fancies

Food fads, favored by teenagers today, are showing the effects of malnutrition in all economic levels. This development period—the "growing" time—makes well-balanced meals (including meat, milk, vegetables, fruits, breads and cereals) most important to their future well-being. Help them to know that it is smart to be physically fit . . . that good health, appearance and popularity are always compatible.

What does food mean to a teenager? Camaraderie . . . and filling a void. What they eat is pretty much dictated by the clan spirit . . . their world of social doings. Unfortunately at this age food, as related to health and physical fitness, just doesn't belong!

To mention it is apt to bring rebellion. That's kid stuff! This age is the beginning of independence, and attempted control from adults is tantamount to kid treatment . . . like "Drink your milk and you can have dessert." The result of this rebellion is pronounced . . . in the growing number of our teenagers who are poorly nourished . . . not physically fit. There are many statistics which trigger a warning. They show that poor food habits among our teenagers are creating a national health problem — and one that is increasing.

There is no age at which well-balanced meals made up of the four food groups that have been established by nutrition research authorities—milk, meat, vegetables and fruits, breads and cereals—aren't essential to good health. They are paramount to growing youth.

It isn't a matter of how much they eat . . . but what they eat. Strangely, boys are apt to over-eat, for this is male. A healthy appetite is a BIG man's way. Teenage girls present a different attitude. Too much food is unladylike, it's fattening, and a svelte figure and pretty complexion are essential to popularity. And so many of them nibble . . . and not of the good, health-building foods. Today, many of our young mothers are still in their teens—and their malnutrition, caused by poor eating habits, ill equips them for child-bearing . . . and, unfortunately, their children may inherit the maternal weakness.

What's to be done about our teenagers? Rigid discipline at this age may lead to trouble and frustration. Understanding and guidance is far more beneficial. Positives, rather than negatives, have a better chance of making a goal. Make them realize they are smart—in understanding the importance of well-balanced meals—as an accomplishment, not as a rule dictated by adults. And let them practice it among their friends—with parties THEY plan at home — and meals they have selected and even prepared—in very adult fashion. And do appeal to their vanity—a good looking boy—an attractive girl—is a healthy one.

But, like most ills, prevention is always better than cure. If good eating habits—well-balanced meals—are established in the home, your children will carry the basic habit into their teens as a joyful pleasure, not a command. And this will serve them all through the rest of their lives.

Rooms for Balance and Convenience

One Glance Should Tell What and Why

The purchase of new furnishings or just boredom with the "face" of a room means it's time for rearranging. There are no rules that indicate a good or bad placement since every room has its own personality.

However, a few principles, adapted to your particular room, can eliminate a lot of trial and error. The Home Furnishings Industry Committee recommends that you first plan on paper after considering these suggestions.

What fixed features must you work around — doors and windows (the way they open, height and width), mantels, built-in furniture, alcoves, niches, paneling, etc? Don't forget to consider the broad expanses of wall space, or of broken-up walls, plus the dimensions of the room.

FOR WHAT purposes is the room used? How many people usually occupy it? One glance at a well planned room should tell you what and why about it. Since you always want convenience and easy moving traffic within the room, the number of people will dictate some of the arrangement.

Keep in mind that you want people to be able to move logically and comfortably from one place to another — no moving chairs around, or sidestepping tables and obstructions. Door openings and passageways should be kept free, as must your heating and lighting outlets and open fireplaces.

Appraise your movable furniture in relation to the physical features of the room. Decide which pieces will complement these fixed features. For example, high windows and doors should have an agreeable balance of high and low pieces. You will want to work for proper proportion of one thing to another; a table to a chair or a chair to a wall space.

THE FURNITURE in a room should be related to the size of the room — your more refined pieces for smaller rooms; bulky, darker pieces for the larger area darker pieces for the larger areas. Try to avoid emptiness as well as overcrowding.

Distribution should be relatively even. Don't create a heavy, unbalanced look at one end of the room.

Keep convenience uppermost in your mind when re-arranging: groupings for conversation, tables for magazines, books and ashtrays, and a good lamp beside a reading chair. If possible, a chair or two should be placed to take advantage of natural light and view. All of these considerations are part of composing a truly livable room.

Opposite walls should have similar groupings or should appear evenly balanced in quantity or interest.

FURNITURE placed with lines parallel to the walls creates greater unity than when placed in diagonal positions.

Also remember you want to create a balance between figured and plain materials, colors and textures. The smart woman will learn the many illusions she can create through rugs, drapery, wall and fabric colors. Rooms can appear larger, ceiling lower, defects hidden and assets exploited.

HFIC recommends using the many excellent decorating books and articles to help you learn the art of creating balance and unity. With thoughtful planning, a rearranged room can come alive with new interest. (SS

True Beauty

Furniture and Art Can Blend

"The idea that a work of art has to conform to a predetermined decorative scheme is conventional nonsense," commented Cleve Gray in a recent issue of House & Garden magazine. Mr. Gray, who is both an artist and art critic, encourages the blending of periods of art and furniture.

Preconceived notions of what should and shouldn't go together is itself outdated in today's fashion trend of mixing furniture periods. Contrast creates interest; sameness nurtures boredom.

True beauty, in individuals or rooms, is achieved in the expression of personality, not in the carrying out of rules. The collection of art objects is highly personal and reflects the individual's values and interest. Consequently, they can only add life and warmth to a room.

Combining water colors and oils in a grouping is not taboo; neither is the use of an abstract painting in a traditionally furnished room. No decorating dogma says a piece of sculpture can't be placed anywhere — the middle of a room, if you so choose.

The only real test for the use of an art object is that it must look attractive in its setting.

When decorating a new home or redoing the old, the homemaker may find that the difference between a picture-book "correct" room and the vital, unique room she wants lies in the imaginative use of art. (SS

MRS. LAVERNE LOOK is pictured above in the colonial home she converted into the Chandelier Shop, an Arlington Heights gift shop.

Shopper Lured By Penny Bowl

An antique "free-penny" bowl containing coins for parking meters greets customers going to the Chandelier Gift Shop, 35 S. Vail, Arlington Heights.

It more or less sets the tenor of the antique home which has been converted into a gift shop by Laverne Look. Mrs. Look is celebrating her first anniversary of business at the home.

THE COLONIAL house, whose history dates back a hundred years, was due to be razed. Realizing its potential, Mrs. Look had it restored by a professional decorator.

Shutters, step rails, a colonial doorway, and white fence were added. Walls of a center hall were removed to make a two-part living room to provide a setting for tableware and accessory items.

Other small rooms present home decor items in special displays. Bath gifts, for instance, are sold in a surrounding of modern plumbing and an old-fashioned marble top counter to highlight beauty and function. The actual kitchen of the house is used to offer items on display.

THE VICTORIAN sitting room, Early American kitchen, French provincial bathroom and two bedrooms are all enlisted in the task of selling.

Although correlation is the theme stressed, diversity in color scheme, layout and group arrangement are also emphasized. This is something any proprietor can achieve just by rearranging and separating stock, Mrs. Look points out. (SS

Stress Comfort

Furniture styles for fall '62 stress seating comfort. Deep and resilient cushions, handsomely covered, are the fashion for upholstered pieces. The trend to the high-backed chair gains strength, and is seen even in chairs for dining areas. (SS

Romance, Richness Trend For New Fall Furnishing

Trend is to richness and romance in furniture and furnishings collections for fall. Newest influence is Spanish, along with inspirations from other modern and ancient Mediterranean countries. French and Italian provincial continue their strong position.

Traditional, early American, modern and contemporary show a tendency to move closer together in style. Mixing of design ideas from many countries and eras is prevailing theme in home decorating, offering opportunity for expression of personal tastes and interests.

Furniture is decorative, with display of fine woods, unusual woods, painted finishes, wrought iron and other metals all contributing to an heirloom look. (SS

Multi-Purpose

Multi-purpose units are multiplying. For instance, occasional tables convert to dining tables, and even to serving carts. Along with this trend goes another, toward more imaginative styling and quality construction for convertibles. (SS

What Dictates Purchase of Furniture

Family, Funds Among Factors

Furnishing a home is one of the most exciting and personal purchases a family can make. But all too often excitement gives way to uneasiness as many people find themselves overwhelmed by claims and counterclaims, advertisements and the jargon of the fascinating but intricate world of furniture.

The Home Furnishings Industry Committee suggests that attention to a few simple but potent aspects of buying can turn the headache into an adventure.

IT'S TRITE but true that haste makes waste. Much that you see will be beautiful. The furniture industry today can satisfy any taste, but there is a wide chasm between what you may admire for a moment and what you can live with.

Your first guide to buying is at home: your husband, children, hobbies—entire way of life. Your new furniture will quickly become an intimate part of this life. Make notes about the pace your family keeps, individual characteristics of day-to-day living. Think of the future — a new home maybe? More children?

An appraisal of each room is then in order. What are its weaknesses? Charms? What do you want changed, improved or disguised? Many excellent articles are written in leading magazines and newspapers. You will find it helpful to clip these for reference just as you do recipes.

YOUR OBJECTIVE eye should next turn to the budget. Start with the grand total of what can be spent. Don't forget to include window treatments, carpets, lamps, accessories. Even if you are only doing one room at the time, think and plan in terms of the entire home. You may have to buy piecemeal, but piecemeal planning will result in a conglomerated appearance.

Decide where you want to spend the bulk of the money, but don't buy in extremes. An expensive chair beside a marred, "will-do" table with defeat your purpose. Keep in mind that you are wiser to limit the number of articles you buy rather than the quality.

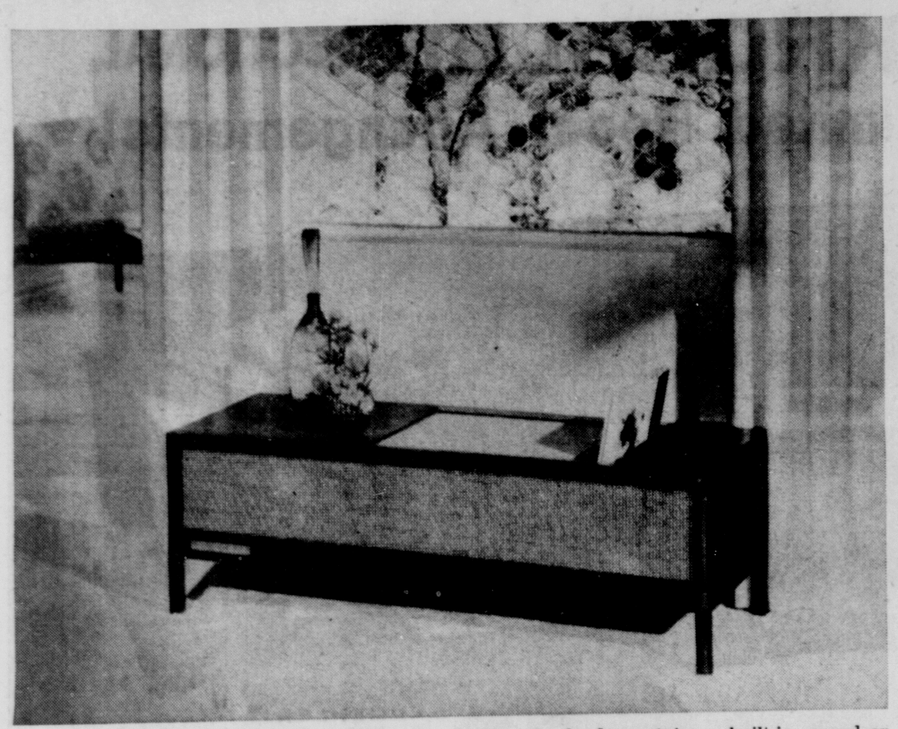
Decorators encourage furnishing on paper first. This will give you a definite direction that will result in a well planned home. Decide as nearly as possible exactly what you want to buy.

WHEN ACTUALLY buying, shop with reputable dealers. Know their policies and guarantees; read their statements and advertisements. You can then buy with confidence because a reputable retailer stands behind his goods.

Be prepared to get what you pay for. Quality and price are in line in almost every price range. There are few miracle bargains. A home furnished purely with bargains will inevitably have an odds-and-ends look.

The Committee recommends that you learn to recognize quality-points in construction and craftsmanship. Always read labels and ask questions. Your furniture salesman should be able to satisfy you that you are getting a lasting, as well as beautiful, piece of furniture.

Called a haven, castle, refuge or whatever, a home is a family's most intimate possession. It should be furnished with great care to create the atmosphere a family needs and wants.



IT ISN'T OFTEN that one console packs as many features of styling, flexibility and technical achievement as Motorola's window chest pictured above. Designed to fit under a window, to be used as a coffee table or a room divider, this practical furniture unit is finished on the back, contains a built-in record or magazine rack, and features a marbleized sliding top for access for the record changer. It's available in mahogany, blond and walnut finishes at Landwehr TV, Arlington Heights. (SS

NO SCRATCH. Revolutionary Micro-Touch tone arm with its "free-floating" 2G cartridge is a joint development of Zenith Radio Corporation and CBS Laboratories, Inc. Even though tone arm is jarred, dropped or scraped across a record, light two-gram needle pressure and "floating" cartridge makes it impossible to scratch record grooves. Tone arm also provides highest compliance, finest fidelity ever obtained from a self-contained home console record changer. Pop-up brush cleans needle twice in each cycle. It's featured at Landwehr TV, Arlington Heights. (SS

Roy Baumann MUSIC STUDIOS
24 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights 392-4010

William Pahlmann, one of today's most distinguished interior designers, has prepared a portfolio of "Pahlmann Plans . . . for Living with Music" expressly for the Baldwin piano.

His room arrangements in the portfolio illustrate the beauty of the contemporary-styled Baldwin grand which is full size with the beautiful design makes it idea lfor modest sized rooms—actually seems to expand their dimensions.

THIS PORTFOLIO and complete room plans are available from Roy Baumann Music, 24 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights.

In these plans, Mr. Pahlmann builds his rooms around music, starting with the modern, many-windowed "open living" type of home. Mr. Pahlmann emphasizes these primary points in placing the piano.

1. Place the piano at its acoustic best . . . way from, but reasonably close to a wall and with the back projecting into the room. This assures full, free resonance of every tone.

2. Player should face his listeners, not be isolated by having his back to them.

3. Keyboard should be well lighted both by day and artificial light whenever possible.

4. Placing should minimize, rather than magnify the size of the piano to keep it in harmonious relation with other furniture units.

5. In modern, well-built homes, the piano can be adjacent to outside wall or windows without danger from temperature changes or moisture.

6. IN A small room, one trick of creating a sense of space is to use it as though you had plenty of it. Give major pieces as your piano generous area. Conversation or "communication" groups, well planned, can balance the room both architecturally and emotionally. (SS

Rug Can Hold Its Own Dusty Weight

Why is cleanliness in the home so important to you?

First and most important is the health of you and your family. We can appreciate and understand that dust and dirt is a menace to healthful living. In one way or another, it harms everything it touches. It exists in the air at all times and in all places.

The Mellon Institute carried on extensive tests to learn the annual dustfall in several cities. These tests showed that an average of 1,950 tons of dust fell each month in Pittsburgh, 1,520 in Baltimore and 1,450 in Chicago. In Boston it was found that ten pounds of soot entered the average home each month.

The damage from soot and dust in Chicago is estimated to amount to $30,000,000 every year. Compared to the population, it is estimated to cost each person in that city from $10 to $30 in damage to physical property and possessions alone.

IN ADDITION to this, of course, is the great danger to our health, caused by germs that are carried about on dust particles. Again, it is estimated that one fifth of the population of the United States is susceptible to one allergy or another, many of which are caused by dust in the home. All of this simply shows how very important it is to have the most efficient method of cleaning care for your home and furnishings.

Did you know that a 9x12 rug or carpeted room will hold or store almost its own weight in dust and dirt? Most of it will be found at the bottom or base of the nap of your rug or carpet and will remain there if your vacuum cleaner is not doing a thorough job of removing it.

The Hoover company is mindful of the housewife's duties in the home and offers the results of 55 years of experience in research, testing and the manufacturing of a complete line of the very latest and finest equipment to make your furnishings, rug and floor cleaning job easy as possible and thorough.

FOR EXAMPLE, the Hoover's exclusive patented triple action agitator beats as it sweeps and suction cleans on a cushion of air. This cleaning action makes your rugs last longer. So will you, because you can clean smoother with a Hoover.

Family Entertaining Calls for Fun Center

At-home entertainment, whether it's looking, listening or reading, has a growing importance in the life of the modern family. The big problem often is, how to find the time to enjoy all the many forms of entertainment that come into the home—television, radio, hi fi and stereo, books, magazines and newspapers and, increasingly, paintings.

Help is at hand with the suggestion that it's easier to find the time, once you've found the place. When all the forms of home entertainment are gathered together in one well-organized area, the added convenience usually results in time saved—and also helps make sure that each form of entertainment will get its share of the family's attention.

THUS, WHAT used to be called the "recreation room" is now becoming the "entertainment center." Whether it's an entire room or part of one, this center can have charm as well as convenience, thanks to a growing variety of modular units and sight-and-sound cabinets.

Shelves, cabinets, chests and desks for platform stacking or wall hanging can be arranged to suit individual needs and tastes, making room for family hobbies, too.

If the plan calls for concealing sight-and-sound equipment when not in use, attractive cabinets are available to house TV and/or stereo, in designs that fit home decor—Danish modern, early American, French provincial or the new Spanish influence, for example.

PERSONAL ingenuity can be used, too, to create attractive camouflage. One idea is the placement of sliding panels to cover sight-sound equipment not in use. These serve a double purpose, as the outer sides can become a "gallery" for display of paintings and prints.

An addition to the center might be an extension telephone or portable intercom. (SS

New Stress Is Colors For Carpet

Stress is on color for carpets, area, and room-size rugs in fall '62. Blue and green take the lead — the blues, strong and clear, with the addition of peacock and turquoise tones; the greens, ranging from soft mint and apple to dark moss.

Prominent, too, are "hot" colors such as orange, russet and copper. When these more vivid tones are used, they're usually accompanied by heavy textures with a handcrafted look.

Pastel tints, such as pale blues, pinks and yellows, show signs of popularity in floor coverage. Warm beige and brown rank as favored neutrals. (SS

Art Metal Firm Grows At Spectacular Pace

FIREPLACE SHOP in the Northwest Metalcraft Studio meets all the needs for winter. Fireplace screens are custom-made at the studio. Above, Irene and Ed Mayer survey some of their items.

IRENE AND ED MAYER, owners of the Northwest Metalcraft Studio, Arlington Heights, pose in the store's casual living department. The business has grown in spectacular fashion around an old iron works shop started by Mayer's father.

THURS., SEPT. 27, 1962

The coals in the old forge still glow with the hard brilliancy of heat; metal rings on metal in a discordant symphony of sound from the shop which has been in service along S. State Road for some 37 years. Giant elms form an awning of green over the scene which can no longer be viewed from the road.
from the road.

This chapter from the past tells the spectacular growth of the Northwest Metalcraft Studio, 413 S. State Road, Arlington Heights.

The studio, with a fireplace shop, casual living department, and outdoor patio shop, have all sprung up around what was once known as John Mayer & Son general iron works.

JOHN MAYER, who died in March of this year, was a noted sculptor of iron, brass and copper. His son, Ed, with a background in art, metal, engineering and sales, has expanded the business to meet the growing demands of a suburban clientele.

The metalcraft studio now specializes in fireplace screens and furnishings, outside posts and lanterns, and lawn and garden furniture.

Lawn and patio furniture was first displayed in 1952 on the lawn in front of the Mayers' home which sits behind the stores. A gift shop was next erected, then a fireplace shop added. A casual living department was constructed at the rear of the original building, and a few years ago, 4,000 square feet of blacktopped space further to the rear became the patio shop.

Irene Mayer, Ed's wife who has assisted him in developing the business, attributes the firm's growth to "fulfilling the public demand for this creative art of decorative iron work."

The firm has grown in seven years into one of the largest gift, fireplace, and patio shops in the northwest suburban area. Up until 1946, it was known by the name of Northwest Ornamental Iron Works.

ED MAYER divides his time fashioning custom - made fireplace screens with Floyd Jolliffe, working in the iron shop with Willie Hanks, on the sales floor with his wife and Salesman Frank Foley, and with Ed Stevens, head of the decorating department.

Often, Mayer will be asked to visit a home to meet a specific request of a customer. He'll rough up a sketch of the item sought, then retire to the shop to hammer it into reality.

Rounding out Metalcraft's staff of employes is Grace Dresmall, who is in charge of the records and bookkeeping.

The Mayers reside in their home behind the store with their three children: Joanne, 14; Dawn, 11, and Danny Del, 4.

Mrs. Mayer says oriental and Early American items are popular this year, as are baskets, house numbers, pole lamps and chain 'o lamps.

FOR THE HOME owner who wishes to begin providing for winter, the fireplace shop has tools by Centerbrass, fireplace screens by Portland - Willamette, glass fireplace enclosures, andirons, grates, pres-to-logs, color crystals, Weber and Hastibake barbecues.

The Metalcraft Studio will fashion screens to fit a customer's fireplace, and Ed Stevens, the firm's decorator, will provide ideas on wall decors and floral arrangements to suit particular needs. (SS

Schneller Tours in New Southland Area

Expect some lighter finishes in furniture this year. It won't be as light as the blond oak which debuted some 10 years ago, but it will be paler than the darker finishes that have been in vogue the last few years, and will lean to an oriental motif.

This is the intelligence report Joe Schneller, president of Schneller Furniture Co., Arlington Heights, has brought back with him from the new furniture capitals of the country in North Carolina.

The different factories keep a close guard on their design secrets, Schneller pointed out, but have recently been introducing their new lines to dealers from throughout the country in conjunction with an October showing which will stretch from Oct. 19 through the 26th.

"Early American is still going strong," Schneller reported. "Drexel (furniture manufacturers) is expanding its American treasury line. Sherrill, another furniture factory, is changing a complete colonial line, scaling down to smaller proportions from massive pieces."

SCHNELLER drives down to the central part of North Carolina each spring and fall. He says it's becoming the new center of furniture making in the United States due to the inducements offered industry by the state to relocate there. "Hickory, North Carolina, which supports a population of about 26,000, now has 20 major furniture factories," Schneller noted.

"I've been going down for the last 10 years," he confided. "I feel it puts me ahead in my business." Schneller says he used to make such trips to Grand Rapids, Mich., until the bulk of furniture makers began to seek a Southern climate. "Chicago, too, was once an international market for furniture dealers. But it's become a regional market," he added.

SCHNELLER said his opinion and those of other dealers on new furniture design was sought by firms visited in North Carolina. In Hickory, N. C., he visited the Hickory Manufacturing Co. and the Sherrill Upholstering Co., among others.

The furniture factories, Schneller said, are so self-sufficient they even have their own restaurants which "serve some of the finest foods in the South for buyers." Restaurants of this sort are also available for employes, he noted.

Before entering the retail furniture business, Schneller served as general manager and production manager for Consolidated Chrome Corp., manufacturers of dinette sets, and supervised operations in plants located in four states.

"EVERYTHING we sell in the store, I've seen in the factory first, so I can personally guarantee it," he commented.

Schneller feels his trips to North Carolina have proved so beneficial that he is considering sending some of his key personnel to a furniture forum sponsored by Drexel Furniture Co. in Drexel, N. C. The dealer provides the costs of transportation and from there on the manufacturer picks up the tab. (SS

Janks Named To Serve as Sales Head

Harold Janks, 49, of 15W565 Red Oak St., Bensenville, has been named sales manager of the Schneller Furniture Co. of Arlington Heights.

In announcing the appointment, Joe Schneller, company president, said: "I've been looking for someone of this caliber for some time. Mr. Janks will be available at either store, and in my absence will be in full charge."

The Schneller Furniture Co. has been located at 22 S. Dryden St. at the Arlington Market shopping center in Arlington Heights for four years.

ON APRIL 26 (George Washington's birthday) of this year, Schneller opened the Colonial Shoppe at 15 N. Hickory, Arlington Heights.

Janks has been in the furniture business for the past 10 years. He has been in retail sales work for 24 years.

Janks and his wife, Ruth, have two children, Mrs. Judith Lehman, 21, and Harold W., Jr., 17.

French Accent Is Variety in Drexel Moods

From the romantic periods of the 17th and 18th centuries in France . . . from the best of the country pieces of the provinces to the elegant court styles in the palaces of Versailles and Fontainebleau, come the time-honored and cherished motifs and design elements fashioned into Drexel's new French Accent.

Designed by Henry and David Warren, French Accent is a variety of moods, from the informal to the formal, that has retained the charm and graciousness of the past, yet been updated and adapted to offer the homemaker versatile furniture that fits her home and way of living.

THE PREDOMINANT motifs of French Accent had their origin in the Louis XV era in France in the 1700's . . . the flowing, graceful and curved lines of legs, panels, post treatments and cabinet fronts. Court styles were ornate, carved, gilded and ornamented . . . the country styles more simplified, but retained the comfort and graceful lines of the court styles.

French Accent has maintained these characteristics, and offers the homemaker a collection that is interesting, functional and attractive . . . each individual in its own design, but styled to combine together in a harmonious blending for a variety of uses. The woods are beautifully grained walnut veneers combined with pecan. The finish is in a rich brandy tone, antiqued and distressed to give a look of age and mellowness. A selected group of the bedroom and dining room pieces are in a painted finish in white, heavily brush-marked, antiqued, with burnished gold trim. The special designed hardware is unusual and unique, is in wrought brass with a patina finish. It varies from handsome bails to plain pulls with quatrefoil backplates, key pull knobs, escutcheons and handsome ring pulls.

The homemaker who has an eye for the unusual and distinctive, who is searching for pieces that will give a "decorator" touch to her home will find a spindle-back canopy bed, inspired by an entrance gate to a monastary in Versailles . . . a decorative hanging shelf . . . an open-back bed featuring a modified quatrefoil (Gothic form of conventionalized four-leaf clover) design used in French architecture, especially handsome in the gold-leaf finish. China cabinets and buffets repeat door panel treatments from Louis XV wall panels in the Palais de Versailles . . . functioning cases with handsome decks are scaled to fit small areas, or group together for a whole wall treatment.

A handsome table desk wears the look of a "collector's item" . . . several small occasional tables offer the unusual with antiqued metal legs.

French Accent offers interesting uses of fine mesh brass grilles in china cabinet doors, bookcases, night stands and other pieces . . . cane in chairs . . . handsome marquetry on table tops . . . imported decorated tiles on tables and cabinet tops . . . laminated serpentine drawer fronts with deep routings . . . mirrors with graceful curved top and hand decorated, to be combined not only with bedroom dressers, but with small chests or console pieces in living rooms, hallways or other rooms.

Upholstery is handsome, elegant and different, yet features all of the characteristics of the Louis XV period. A handsome daybed has spindle back and arms, with graecfully curved framing, loose pillows. A high-back occasional chair has a shaped back, sloping to no arms, ending in a beautiful curved scroll motif. A spindle back tub chair, cane pull-up chairs, plus handsome sofas and lounge chairs will give the homemaker her choice of the most attractive, decorative, unusual and comfortable upholstery in French styling ever offered. Fabrics feature designs significant of the Louis XV era—pastoral scenes which were the influence of Madame Pompadour, toiles, damasks, hand-screened prints and many others.

French Accent offers variety, for a homemaker can furnish a home in the formal, elegant pieces . . . or if she desires a more casual and country look, styles are available, such as a trestle dining table with companion arched ladder-back chairs, sturdy buffets and a handsome wing chair.

This collection is scaled to fit the elegant home or the small apartment . . . to mix with what you have, or to furnish a home throughout . . . to suit the pocketbook and wants of the newlyweds, or their parents redecorating their own homes. Drexel's French Accent is available at Schneller Furniture, Arlington Market.

HERE IS A MIRROR that will lend character to almost any simple dresser or chest, since it has a design entity of its own—making for enhanced wall interest. Smoothly tapered sides of this frame in glowing fruitwood add to the interesting treatment of the top pediment with an early American flavor in the shaping and in the round brass ring for either decoration or hanging. Schneller Furniture Company, Arlington Market, Arlington Heights, handles this mirror designed by John Van Koert for the Carolina Mirror Corporation.

TV-Stereo Furniture Design More Stylish

Consumers are becoming more and more sophisticated in the things they buy for their homes. Television and stereo manufacturers have met this new interest with increased emphasis on furniture style, finish and authenticity.

Two types of contemporary styling are usually found in TV and stereo furniture design: American Contemporary and Danish Modern. Danish Modern emphasizes wood's natural beauties, uses contoured forms that look like sculpture. Keynote of Danish Modern is simplicity.

AMERICAN Contemporary has severe lines, very simple straight legs. Lines are uncomplicated and features such as tambour doors and metal legs are typical. American Contemporary will go nicely with most other modern styles.

Traditional furniture really means furniture of "high tradition"—formal pieces to grace elegant courts. The word today really describes reproduction furniture where design has been influenced by Traditional designs. Mahogany is often used as are other highly figured, rich, hardwood veneers and solids. Today's TV and stereo sets in Traditional designs mix well with most formal furniture, a style found in many American homes.

PROVINCIAL furniture developed from Traditional furniture, and originated with homemade imitations of the elegant Traditional court furniture. It was made for country homes by country craftsmen, who were not as skillful as city artisans. So, when they tried to copy such things as a Traditional chair leg, they produced one with heavier, more simple lines with less ornamentation. American furniture and TV-stereo manufacturers use French Provincial, Italian Provincial and the United States' two provincial styles, Colonial and Early American.

FRENCH Provincial furniture has a soft, curved look and fruitwoods are traditional. French Provincial goes well with other Provincial styles. Italian Provincial has a "squared" look. Edges, legs and details are straight and legs are short and straight.

Despite these differences French and Italian Provincial blend well together. And both styles are informal country styles, combining well with Early American. (SS

Multiplying Uses

Multi-purpose units are multiplying. For instance, occasional tables convert to dining tables, and even to serving carts. Along with this trend goes another, toward more imaginative styling and quality construction for convertibles.

TV-Stereo Cabinets Vital Part in Proper Selection

The first consideration in selecting a fine musical instrument for your homes should be The size, style and quality should complement your home and should be furniture that you and your family will prize. The finest of electronics housed in shoddy furniture is not likely to make a very happy purchase.

There are three types and qualities of cabinets built by the TV/stereo industry. Low price cabinets are normally printed finishes on framed hardboard construction.

THE MEDIUM grade cabinet is a solid core stock of either ½" or ¾" material with fancy face veneers and exposed wood of good quality native hardwood.

The maximum or custom type cabinet is the finest type furniture that the industry knows. It is composed of core material, either ½" or ¾" thick with fancy face veneers on both sides, and all exposed wood parts are genuine wood to match the fancy face veneers used. All custom cabinets are dowel constructed. The custom construction is used by all the manufacturers of the finest type of high fidelity equipment, television and combination equipment.

CURTIS MATHES uses this last type of construction in all of their units with the exception of two models in medium grade cabinets. Curtis Mathes is featured at Shelkop TV, 700 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights. (SS

Raise Standard Mattress Sizes

To keep in step with taller Americans' increasing demands for longer, wider sleeping equipment, the United States department of commerce has revised standard mattress sizes for the first time in 40 years.

The revisions, made after a year's study, keep the conventional sizes but add "people-sized" needs in basic bedding dimensions.

The new standards add two lengths — 80 and 84 inches — and four widths — 60, 72, 75, and 78 inches.

The bigger bedding sizes were available heretofore only by custom order. Now, all are available in Paddock-area stores.

Wallcoverings Are Enjoying New Spurt

There's a boom in the use of wallcoverings in homes all over the United States, thanks to our country's First Lady, who has had century old wallcoverings installed in the White House.

One of the leaders, riding the trend, especially for the kitchen-dining areas, is washable Wall-Tex, a product of Columbus Coated Fabrics and distributed by Isgo Corp. of Chicago.

With the current emphasis on pattern, this line tells a story or fits a situation. These washable wallcoverings come in a wide variety of design from raw silk to weathered wood. Many of the patterns are coordinated creations which can be used with "mating" paper.

NOT ONLY is washable Wall-Tex decorative, but the textured surface has a deadening effect on noise and the tough fabrics strengthen old plaster walls and hide cracks.

Revolutionary in concept, pre-pasted Wall-Tex is applied simply by moistening one side, pressing it into place, and smoothing it out with a clean brush, sponge or cloth. "The thousands of do-it-yourselfers who have experienced the drudgery of using and cleaning messy paste buckets and brushes will be pleasantly surprised with pre-pasted Wall-Tex." It is available at leading paint, wallpaper, department and hardware stores. (SS

More Versatility Makes for Freedom

Multi-Purpose Furniture Is Boon to Home

"A rose is a rose is a rose . . .," but not so in much of today's furniture. A basic wood piece can find itself playing many roles in a lifetime and getting a new name with each conversion.

The furniture market offers a wide variety of dual-purpose furniture that meets the space and storage requirements in this streamlined country of ours. Entire suites are available for almost every room in the house that will convert in many ways, grow up with families, add, subtract, divide and all but multiply.

DUAL-PURPOSE furnishings are not confined to the modern trimlined designs. Period furniture is available with the same magic ability to change its "colors" as you desire. Many groups allow a selection from several style and size alternates that would go nicely in either traditional, period or modern homes.

Many of these pieces can do everything except convert into the kitchen sink. But you can find an early American dry sink that is adaptable to many things, an ideal cocktail service, for example.

An ordinary chest, called many things, can with an addition become a china, bookcase or hutch. Commodes can be bought with decks that turn them into pier chests. A credenza may have slide-out shelves and drawers for storage, or it could be a fully equipped music center.

CABINETS THAT fit into any decor may have drawers, slide apart tops and special silver trays. They may be stacked with other units in the same or differing sizes to form a group lining a wall. They may be composed to divide a room.

Servers on wheels may take their place in the living room or dining room, and with their shelves and compartments they serve as storage pieces.

Highboys and lowboys, commodes and buffets, long loved for their practical storage functions, are increasingly decorative and versatile. They will make themselves at home in any area and hold almost anything. Some are scaled to fit under a window or at the foot of a bed while others are found taller and more slender.

IF YOU LIKE, you can change your bedposts when you change the sheets. Alternating bedposts can give you a four-poster, upholding a canopy or short ball posts. Day beds, with all their charm and versatility, are enjoying a revival. One manufacturer is offering a combination single bed, desk and chest all in one unit — a real space saver.

Alternate legs allow many pieces to go up or down. A stylishly low cocktail table may become a game table with the substitution of long legs. Dining room and bedroom wood pieces may have their bases on the floor; add the legs and your "new" furniture is four inches higher.

One interesting item in the versatility of our furnishings today is the use of reversible panels. A panel used in the front, side or top of a wood piece as part of the decorative motif may have a burl on one side, a color on the other. A variety of design changes can be had in one piece of furniture.

COLOR PANELS are also used, with as much as three or four color changes possible. Whenever you want to change color schemes, just switch the panels and a new look comes to the furniture.

Now you can give your room a fresh look with the flip of a panel or a little rearranging or addition of furniture. Young marrieds can buy good furniture that will fit into a compact apartment and serve many purposes. As their home matures, these flexible pieces will adapt to new uses and decors.

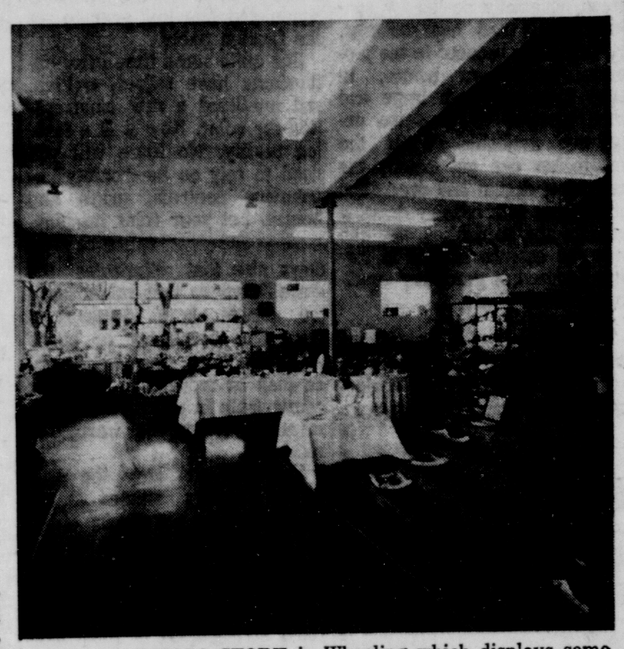
Dealer in Tableware Finds Suburb Outlet

Five years ago, Algot Runeman, veteran Chicago tableware dealer, exchanged the gray pavements of Chicago for the trees and green lawns of Wheeling.

In relocating Runeman and his wife, Lois, purchased a big, old home at 170 N. Milwaukee ave. and has a spacious showroom built on the front. On display amid these pleasant surroundings is a magnificent selection of dinnerware, glassware and accessories.



VIEW OF DIRIGO STORE in Wheeling which displays some of its magnificent selection of dinnerware, glassware and accessories.

IN FINE CHINA alone, more than 250 patterns are represented including Arzberg, aynsley, bing and Grondahl, Coalport, Eschenbach, Foley, Fanconia, Furstenberg, Gustavsberg, Haviland, Hutschenreuther, Lenox, Minton, Paragon, Rosenthal, Royal Copenhagen, Royal Crown Derby, Royal Doulton, Royal Worchester, Schumann, Spode, Tuscan and Vista Alegre.

Some 65 earthenware patterns are offered as well as a large glassware selection and International and Reed & Barton sterling silver, Dirilyte and Gense stainless steel.

It was as a retailer of Dirigold, the gold-colored metal flatware and holloware now known as Dirilyte, that Runeman got his start. Indeed, his Wheeling store still bears the name Dirigo, Inc. under which he operated for 28 years at 70 E. Jackson Blvd. in Chicago.

BORN IN SWEDEN, Runeman migrated to Canada as a young man and attended McMaster university. After graduation, he enrolled at the University of Chicago for graduate work in social science and international relations. Home in Sweden for a visit in 1923, he was attracted by a showing of Dirigold at an international exhibition in Gothenberg.

After returning to Chicago, he had some Dirigold pieces tested in the university's laboratories and was so impressed by the way it stood up that he was soon taking orders for it. Before long he established a shop near school and in 1930 was asked to take over the store in the Chicago Loop area. Recognizing the effectiveness of coordinated selling, he soon added dinnerware, glassware and linens to the stock.

Fall Fabric Fashions Match Moods

Fashions in home fabrics complement the richly romantic mood of fall furniture.

Colors range from the vivid and vibrant — such as hot pink, deep purple and orange — to soft pastels — frosty blues and cool lime greens, for example. Textures, too, are varied but always elegant, often presenting either important surface interest or a silk-like smoothness.

DRESSMAKER detailing enhances many upholstery fabrics — tufting, pleating, embroidery effects, quilting, all in the interest of new grace and beauty. Leather moves to the fore either alone or in combination with fabric.

Curtains and draperies acquire an elegant formality in solid colors and patterns that vary from small and distinctive to bold and beautiful. Border effects and panel prints flourish with true grandeur. Many modern prints and florals boast gold or silver metallic threads.

Stain and dirt repellent finishes add sturdiness and ease of care to even the most delicate looking fabrics. (SS

Designers Bring World to Suburban Homes

From Foreign Port And the Rich Past

Since the first ships emptied settlers on our shores, America has been a potpourri of peoples, ideas, customs and arts from the world over. The peasants, the aristocrats, the rustic and the refined have found a home in America, and their values have become a part of our way of life. No where is this reflected more than in our homes and their furnishings.

An appraisal of the furniture market today reveals the influence of styles and designs from all over the world. Sometimes the native design is literally translated; again, it only suggests its origins with subtle touches.

THE DRAMA and romance of the Spanish have found a new emphasis this spring. Architectural motifs from modern South America, hardware from ancient Spanish art designs, and pagan symbols from antiquated civilizations are but a few of the many sources used to achieve the aura of old or modern Spanish flavors.

Architectural influences of many periods have inspired a variety of designs, particularly the timeless classis lines of ancient Greece, Rome and Egypt.

If it's French or Italian Provincial you prefer, you'll find it as simple or as ornate as you could want. Increasingly popular, both styles have been exploited to more nearly satisfy customer demands. In some groups a more formal look has been given to the designs; in others a more detailed authentic reproduction is offered.

CONTEMPORARY lines, which still reflect a great deal of the Danish designs, are as varied as the homes they will occupy. The over-all "feel" is warmer, less stark and more graceful. Exotic flavors from the Orient, Africa, the South Pacific and Middle East are often incorporated in the so-called modern groups. The result is a tremendous variety of styles that will lend themselves to imaginative decorating.

New woods, combinations of woods and wood trims in burl bandings, borders and panels are being used from all over the the world. The natural beauty of the woods and the many grain variations have received novel treatments, creating many interesting effects.

No matter where the design or flavor comes from, its purpose is to be compatible with American families. Thus they are Americanized — fitted to the values of Mr. and Mrs. America.

SMALLER ROOMS and lower ceilings have dictated lower, longer pieces. Consequently, the length, depth and height of many wood pieces have been changed to meet this need.

More and more the large pieces, originally scaled for spacious rooms and high ceilings, are gracefully reduced to the proportions of modern homes. In many instances, both large and small versions of the same design are available. While the homemaker can get exactly the same size, design and decoration found in an 18th century drawing room is she so desires, she can have the essence of this in furniture geared to grace her smaller American home.

THE CHARM of a French Provincial dining room suite can be hers, for example, in a scaled-down size that eliminates the embellishments that might seem too ornate in a development home. A breakfront or lady's secretary from Colonial America may be reduced to live quite comfortably in a compact apartment, but its original warmth is retained.

Yes, you can have the style you've always wanted — the elegant beauty and dignity of the old masters, the drama of the Spanish, the grace of the Provincial, or whatever you prefer. You will make no sacrifice in room arrangement or room livability. This is part of the big furniture news in America that allows more freedom in home furnishings. (SS

Create Exciting Climates With Color—New Challenge

No longer are vibrant, exciting colors reserved for respectable little accents or for use by bold nonconformists. They've arrived in every conceivable shade and hue this year to set the fashion pace.

For quite some time color enthusiasts have talked, written, and predicted a new emancipation for color. Now it is a fashion reality. No more will you need to rely on the "safety" of nebulous neutrals, grays and beiges. Let your color imagination free and give your home new vitality and personality. Carefully used, the boldest and brightest colors are well within the bounds of "good" taste.

PSYCHOLOGISTS have long emphasized the effects of color on human behavior. Gaiety, depression, serenity—the entire gamut of human emotions can be strongly influenced by the colors in our environment. With more color freedom than ever before, you can choose the mood or climate you want a room to have.

Blue, green and purple in varying shades and intensities have reached a new height in popularity, either used singularly or in dramatic new combinations. Reds, golds and yellows in a range from raspberry to citron are among the favorites in the color parade.

Interesting to note is the amount of color coordination existing now in upholstery fabrics, draperies, carpets and miscellaneous materials. This is helpful indeed to the shopper who might otherwise hesitate to deviate from easy-to-match colors.

FABRIC DESIGNS are sharing honors with colors as new interesting treatments are shown in upholstered furniture. Highly stylized florals, as well as the traditional florals, are found in many beautiful patterns, as are printed crewel designs. Abstract patterns and the near abstract are seen in fascinating uses. A smooth linen-like tweed is used quite a bit in contemporary chairs and sofas. Print cottons, brocades, velvets, both cut and smooth, are being offered in a wide variety of selections.

Woods and finishes are also being used more and more for their color value. New woods, combinations of woods and trims are employed to achieve interesting decorative effects. Painted finishes, particularly in the gold trimmed antiqued white are very popular and lend themselves to imaginative color schemes. Distressing, brushing and antiquing is being used in many techniques to add interest.

PAINTED accent pieces in just about any size or shape you desire can give a lift to a dull spot in a room or relieve the sameness of a suite. White, red, green, gold, and even black pieces are sometimes hand painted in charming scenes that add distinction to a room.

Fashion today says the bars are down, and all can enter this magic colorland of imagination and challenge. (SS

Strange Moneys of the World!

Presented by FIRST FEDERAL SAVINGS of Des Plaines

MONEY USED TO GROW ON TREES... in China

The oldest money known, in the form of coins—can be traced back into the dim beginning of Oriental history. It was called "CASH"!

These coins, minted on a stem—resembled a tree when removed from the mold—and each coin was "picked off" the tree as needed.

The "shape" of the coins is in keeping with the mysticism of the far East . . . "Round as the heavens on the outer side"! and "Square as the earth on the inner-side"! The coins, some still in use today—carry no dates, inscriptions—nor profiles of rulers. A unique method of minting and distribution safe-guarded counterfeiting—in fact eliminated it—so far as is known.

ONE OF THE MOST DIFFICULT household chores, that of turning a mattress, has become a simple matter. Thanks to the new light weight urethane foam mattress introduced within the past few years. According to the Englander Coompany, Inc., these new Airlon foam mattresses weigh less than half the weight of other types of mattresses yet give firm healthful support along with many years of sleeping comfort. In this area, the Englander Airlon mattresses are featured at Schneller Furniture in Arlington Heights.

Mattress A Child Can Lift

Mattresses have come a long way since the days when our ancestors first slept on piles of leaves.

From the tilting wooden slabs of the ancient Egyptians to the modern-day mattresses and boxsprings, our sleeping comfort has kept pace with our knowledge of science and technology.

Newest type of mattress to be introduced in recent years is the urethane foam mattress. This versatile foam material is being used in every day products ranging from petticoats to conventional building materials.

In fact, the same material was used to cushion our first astronaut's sail into space.

For mattresses such as Englander's Tension-Ease Airlon, it is ideal because it combines extreme light weight with comfort and durability. It is so light weight, in fact, that even a petite housewife can lift it with ease and a child has no trouble turning it over.

Particularly for those people who are suffering from allergies, it is the ideal answer since it is completely non-allergenic.

Comfort Plus

Furniture styles for fall '62 stress seating comfort. Deep and resilient cushions, handsomely covered, are the fashion for upholstered pieces. The trend to the high-backed chair gains strength, and is seen even in chairs for dining areas.

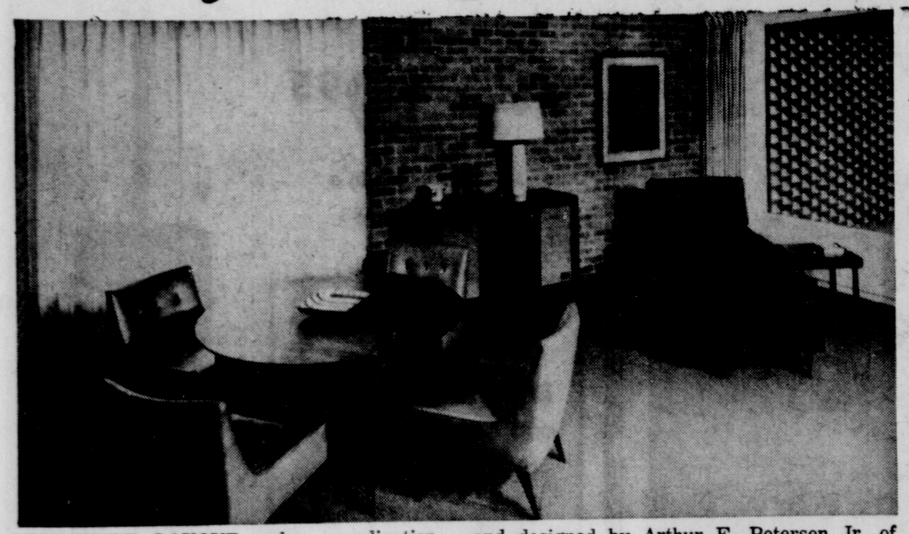
Requirement for Suburban Living: Casual Furniture

Decorator Forum Is Set by Designer Shop



FURNITURE LAYOUT, color, coordination were all part of the decorating recipe that created this attractive living room in the Long Grove home of Mr. and Mrs. William Fornier and designed by Arthur E. Petersen Jr. of The Designer's Shop. The store is sponsoring a "Home Decorating Forum" during October to which the public is invited.

Anyone interested in becoming more informed on the subject of interior design is invited to attend the "Home Decorating Forum" being sponsored by The Designer's Shop, Division of Petersen Interiors, Inc., in Arlington Heights.

A series of three demonstrations will be held Tuesday evenings, Oct. 2, 9 and 16 from 7 to 9 p. m. Each session will be conducted by different staff members, all trained professionally in interior design and will conclude with a coffee and question period.

Special furnishing exhibits and other graphic materials are planned as part of the program for each session.

Three timely topics will be discussed. On Oct. 2, the subject will be "Where do you start?", or, the basic A, B, C's of home decorating such as layout, color, budget, coordination. This forum will be led by Miss Bea Nelson, interior designer and a staff member of Petersen Interiors for seven years.

"Good Design," of how to choose furnishings in good taste is the subject of the second session scheduled for Oct. 9. How to judge furnishings visually as well as from the point of view of construction will be discussed and demonstrated by Arthur E. Petersen Jr., interior designer and vice president of the firm.

The third and final session on Oct. 16 will take up a question faced by most of today's homemakers. Can modern furniture be used in an old style house? Further, can contemporary be combined with antiques or old family possessions? "Mixing Old with New" will be discussed and illustrated by Robert Alby, manager of the Designer's Shop.

"Since each session will be complete in itself, it is not necessary to attend the entire session," explains Arthur E. Petersen Jr. "Because we can only accommodate a limited number of persons, however, we recommend calling the store to make a reservation (CL 5-3100)," he adds.

"We are planning the forum as an informal get-together in which you will receive some worthwhile information on this important subject of home decor. Please bring friends and husbands.

"Suburban living requires a type of casual furniture which emphasizes function and ease of maintenance," says Arthur E. Petersen, Jr. of The Designer's Shop in Arlington Heights.

He points out there is a continuing trend on the part of furniture manufacturers and their designers to produce two types of furniture: contemporary and colonial.

"Both of these styles fit the average suburban homemaker's requirements. Because she often has several children, very little household help and is active in various community activities, she looks for furniture that will take hard wear and need little care," Petersen continues. Period styles, he explains, are too formal and require too much maintenance and do not fit in easily with the emphasis on casual living in our suburban life.

MANY FAMILILES are mixing colonial and modern in their homes, a blend that can be very successful, adds Petersen, a trained interior designer.

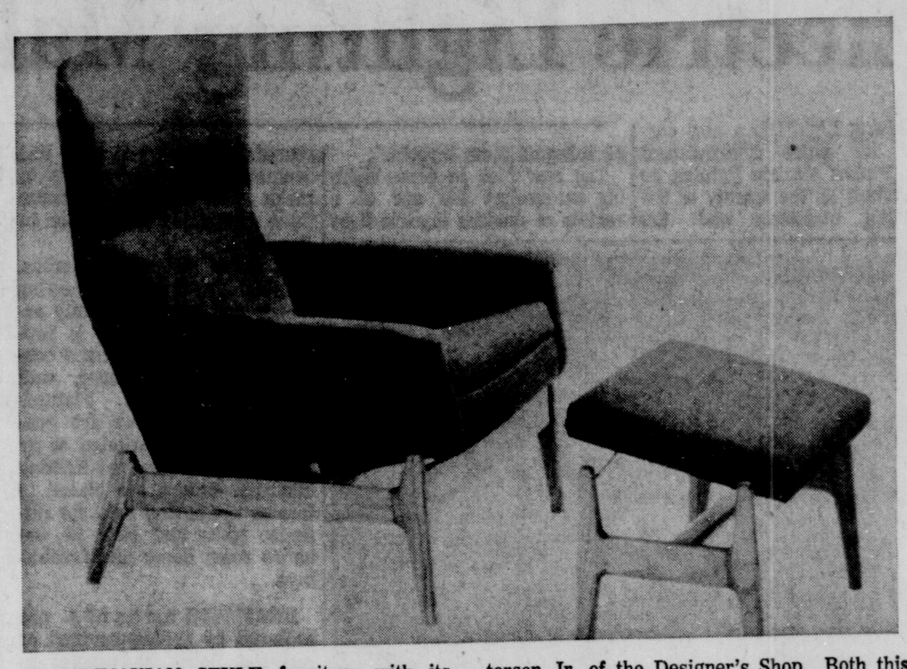
"One particular decorating combination gaining popularity is Scandinavian furniture mixed with early American antiques." This kind of combining is fine, he says, but he is opposed to furniture style "mixtures."

Too often a piece of furniture, or an entire group will be a combination of different periods. "These so-called blends and transitional styles come and go with the seasons and seldom last," he adds.

A firm advocate of contemporary design, Petersen believes, "The real reigning design of our age is modern. Only modern has much room to grow and to change, and can embody new ideas and materials."

Optimistic about both what manufacturers will have to offer and public acceptance of the offerings, Petersen says people are buying better quality furnishings. "Those who have bought cheap goods in the past have learned their lesson and are turning to better made, better designed furnishings, of which there is aplenty!"

THE PUBLIC is also becoming more sensible about the use of color in their homes, he points out. "Housewives are choosing colors they like to live with rather than colors dubbed 'fashionable' by magazine writers or other 'experts.' "



SCANDINAVIAN STYLE furniture with its easy-to-care-for tightly woven upholstery fabrics and natural oil finishes meet the requirements of suburban living, says Arthur E. Petersen Jr. of the Designer's Shop. Both this lounge chair and ottoman by Dux, Incorporated, adjust to different positions. Angled back is designed for the utmost in comfort.

Landscaping Will Add To Beauty of A Home

A properly landscaped outdoors can add beauty and unity to the interior of your home, a northwest suburban landscape designer points out.

Isabel Rankin Crooker, one of five landscape designers at Charles Klehm & Son Nursery, Algonquin and Arlington Heights State Road, says such undertakings will bear results, whether they are of a modest or more detailed nature.

For instance, Mrs. Crooker notes, the grouping of Evergreens can be accomplished in such a way to reduce the amount of maintenance work required for a yard.

For home owners with more elaborate flower gardens, the flowers can be cut and arranged in such a manner as to emphasize the colors of an interior decor.

"In a living room with a coral accent," Mrs. Crooker observes, "you might use Azalea Mollis hybrid, a flowering quince, followed by Spartan or Montezuma roses."

ANOTHER EXAMPLE might be a home where the decorator wishes to accent orange tones. To accomplish this, Pyrancantha, a low flowering shrub, is espaliered on a blank, gray wall. To highlight this color scheme, a Mountain Ash tree not only provides shade but orange berries which it bears in August and September.

"If pink tones are to be accentuated, the home owner might lean to Rose tree of China, a spring blooming shrub used for screening. Pink blossoms are obtained from Queen Elizabeth Grandiflora roses, a lovely cut flower. Even low cushion mums come in pink shades for fall bloom," she continued.

Besides Mrs. Crooker, other Klehm nursery landscape designers include Dave Stibbe and Al Goebbert, graduates of the American Landscape Design School.

Kurt Ladebuhr is a graduate architect. Carl Klehm, the nursery owner, has a long and varied career in landscaping, gardening and design. Mrs. Crooker came to Klehm's from the Pennsylvania Horticultural College for Women.

BOTH CARL KLEHM and Mrs. Crooker also teach night school classes in these subjects. Klehm conducts a landscaping and gardening class at Arlington High School while Mrs. Crooker's landscape design class is held at Maine East High School.

"We'll help people with a single idea for a shrub or two as well as those with more elaborate plans," Mrs. Crooker commented.

She said pictures showing a particular problem the home owner has encountered prove invaluable "in helping us make the right suggestions to help them."

IN ADDITION, accurate dimensions taken of the outside are as important to the landscape designer "as measuring curtains for the inside of the home," she explained.

"With today's picture windows looking out over the garden, it is important to have the outdoors properly landscaped to add to the beauty of the home," Mrs. Crooker emphasized.

Dramatic Accent

Electric Lighting Makes Living Easy

"Living Light" is a new concept for home improvement that makes electric lighting as important as the quality of the building materials and the planning of room layouts.

The new idea in home lighting encourages the use of a variety of modern electric light sources for both practical and dramatic effect. Its aim is to make every room of the home more interesting and easier to live in.

In living and dining areas, lighting is keyed to varying moods and changing family activities. Some lighting is supplied by fluorescent lamps concealed behind valances, wall brackets or coves. Fixtures used in other areas are controlled by 3-way switches or by dimmers that vary the lighting intensity. Lamps are placed to furnish eye-saving light for different tasks and also to enhance room decor and furnishings.

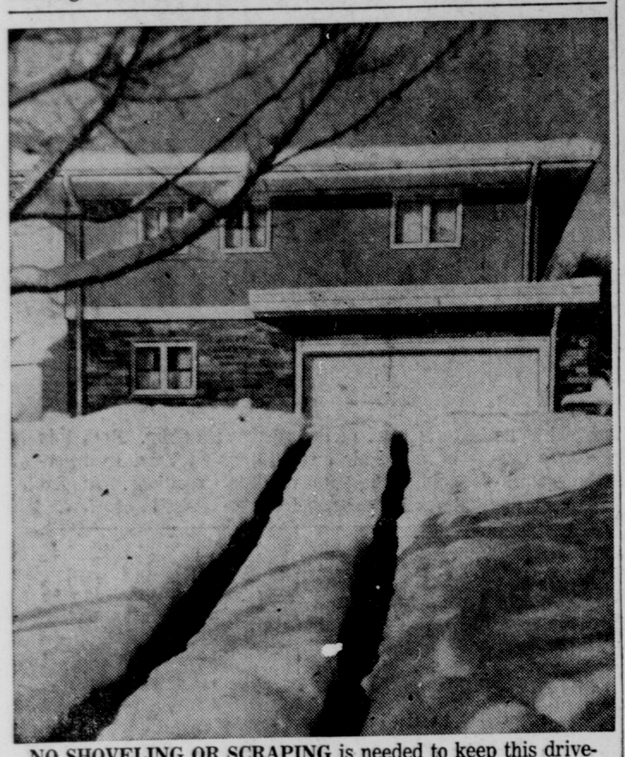
DRAMATIC accents are achieved by ceiling-mounted or recessed floods and spots, as for example, to highlight plants, paintings or sculpture.

Kitchens are lighted to eliminate shadows. Central fixtures or a luminous ceiling provide general lighting and work surfaces are plus-lighted by under-cabinet fluorescent strips, recessed fixtures or directed downlights.

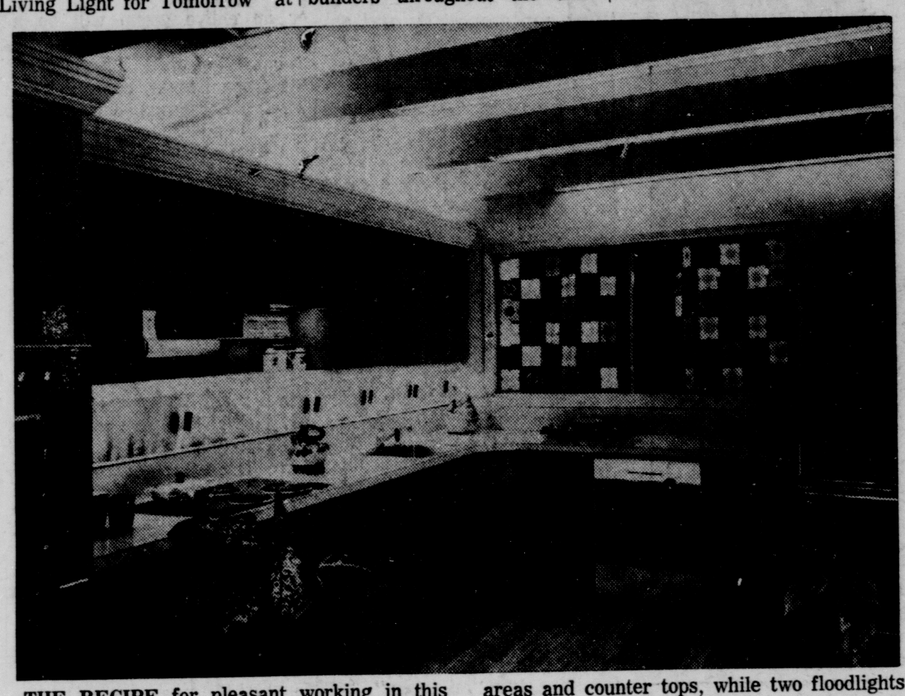
In bedrooms, concealed fluorescents may be used in combination with central fixtures and table lamps. The bathroom can be skylighted by hanging a wall-to-wall panel of plastic below fluorescent lamps. Wall-mounted lights can be used in all rooms for a variety of needs.

EVEN THE outdoors isn't neglected in the "living light" plan. Entrances and walks are lighted for warmth and safety by post lights, doorway lanterns and other devices. Fixtures may be recessed in the eaves. Shrubs, trees and flowers are spotlighted or floodlighted. And patios and terraces are lighted to extend their usefulness and enjoyment into the after-dark hours.

Featured in the "Home of Living Light for Tomorrow" at the Seattle World's Fair, the new master plan for brighter homes has been adopted by builders throughout the country. Among them are 25 Chicago area builders who this fall will display all-electric model homes of "Living Light." (SS



NO SHOVELING OR SCRAPING is needed to keep this driveway in usable condition throughout the winter months. A flick of a switch is the only energy exerted by the homeowner as "tracks" from garage to street are electrically de-iced by heating mats embedded in the concrete. The Electromode mats are made of insulated heating wire anchored to 18-inch widths of galvanized steel mesh. Available in varying lengths, they are suitable for installation in sidewalks and steps as well as driveways. (Electromode photo.)



THE RECIPE for pleasant working in this kitchen features long slender panels of fluorescent lighting recessed between the ceiling's hollowed beams. Fluorescent lights also are used beneath cabinets to illuminate working areas and counter tops, while two floodlights in brass fixtures serve to bring out the decorative window treatment. New Designs Blend Past With Present

The classic comment, "I may not know anything about art, but I know what I like," is only half true when it comes to the art of home decorating, as practiced by today's homemaker. She does indeed know what she likes — but she also knows the whys and hows of choosing furniture and furnishings to create attractive, comfortable home surroundings for her family.

This more knowledgeable, more sophisticated approach to home decoration meets a ready response in the fall offerings of furniture designers and manufacturers.

The charm and romance of antiquity unites with modern practicality and convenience, in an abundant variety of versatile, functional home fashions.

French and Italian provincial design elements are notable, while inspirations from Greece, Spain, Portugal and ancient Persia lead to a new force in home decorating — the Mediterranean influence. Elegant hand-carved effects, graceful wrought iron grillwork, colorful tiles and filigree detailing bring an heirloom look to much of this fall's new furniture.

The most important factor, however, is that no one period or type of design dominates. While many furniture styles reflect the heritage of other eras and countries, they are, most often, not line-for-line copies but creative adaptations suited to today's living.

Distinctions between styles are less rigid, as designs from yesterday and today blend the best of each. Traditional acquires a more casual, comfortable air; early American gains in graciousness; modern and contemporary take on more dramatic proportions and are softened by architectural detail.

Fall's furniture blends, however, are not bland. Diversity of design within coordinated groups assures ample opportunity for distinctive and imaginative decorating. The idea of the important accent piece, richly but tastefully ornamented, is given full play. Numerous furniture pieces effectively display fine woods in new, softer and lighter finishes.

Intended to be used in conjunction with these, for a still more opulent effect, is a variety of furniture in painted finishes — notably white, antiqued, rubbed or glazed with gold.

Parquetry, marble inlays or tops, handsome metals and vibrant, colorful fabrics with rich sheen or texture add to the look of romance and elegance.

Fabrics in upholstery, curtains and draperies combine an elegant and colorful appearance with ease of care.

The trend to harmonious blending of furniture styles and periods is most of all a tribute to the good taste of the modern homemaker. The rigidly matched "set," the concern with confinement to a single design, the matching of finishes all give way to the concept of personal expression, and new furniture and furnishings give the homemaker full scope for reflecting the individuality, the character and preferences of herself and her family in her home decor. (SS

Studio Photos For Wall Decor

An attractive way to decorate a blank wall is to hang it with studio photographs of a child or grandchild, says the Picture and Frame Institute.

Professional photographs are the most personal form of art and deserve an important place in the home, the institute maintains.

ONE ATTRACTIVE arrangement is to hang portrait photographs commemorating the "Seven Ages of Childhood" on three ribbons taped to the wall and each topped with a perky bow.

The Seven Ages at which portrait photographers recommend children be professionally photographed for a complete record are six months, one year, two, four, seven, 12 and 16.

The photographs need not be the same size, but should be framed identically for best results. (SS

Test Bikes for Safety

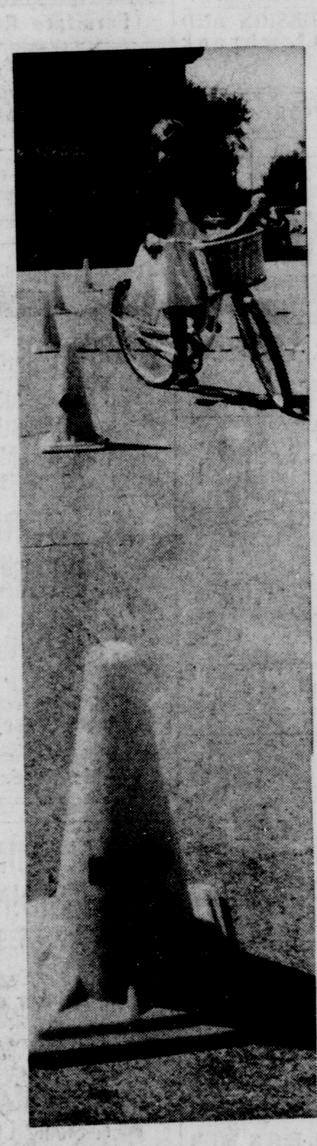
Staff Photographs by Larry Cameron

PATTY LIDGE, 700 S. Beverly, Arlington Heights, was typical of the many Dryden School pupils who took part in the bicycle safety check held last week. A team from the Cook County Traffic Safety Bureau visited the school.

Patty is shown joining the line for the preliminary inspection, a checklist gripped in one hand.

A GOOD CYCLIST must be able to ride straight and come to a halt at the stop signs. Here Patty demonstrates her skill at these two things, while Officer Cliff Dreyer checks her out.

VILLAGE BIKE LICENSES have been sold at the school safety checks. In Arlington Heights they cost 50 cents and are good for two years. Here is Jeff Deunk purchasing one.



MEANWHILE, PATTY continues her progress through the "obstacle course." Weaving among these pylons is something like following a slalom course on skis.

A NEW BATCH OF KIDS is on the run to get their bicycles and take their test. At most schools, more than one shift is required before all the bicycles and their riders are checked.

WHEN TESTS ARE PASSED, a card is filled out and the safety sticker is awarded. Here, Keith Temko, 833 S. Cleveland, completes his card with the help of Mrs. Fred Diesel of the PTA.

REFLECTORS FOR AFTER-DARK SAFETY were on sale at the safety inspection. The reflectors were supplied at cost by Winkleman's bicycle shop in Arlington Heights. Above, Joe Temko buys one.

PATTY HAS PASSED her tests with flying colors. Her bicycle goes back in the rack, and she goes back to the classroom. Now she, and her parents, her teachers and her friends have the reassurance that she has a safe bike that she knows how to ride.
